United States Officials Seek Counter Moves

Crisis Outrunning U. S. Plans For Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Diplomatic officials reported tonight that Italian Communists believed to be working under a Moscow time-table have launched their long-awaited "battle for Italy" and that the crisis is outrunning American plans for helping the Italian people.

These authorities say that the spreading strike of a million agricultural and industrial workers, the Socialist demand for a vote of no confidence in the De Gasperi government and other recent developments appear to be part of a Communist campaign to overthrow the government and capture Italy for the Soviet half of Europe. Much fear is reported to exist in Italy and even in Italian quarters in this country over the possibility of armed conflict.

High State Department and other American officials are now exploring every possible means of throwing American assistance to the present non-Communist forces governing Italy in the hope of saving that nation for the west.

Italy is considered of great political and strategic importance both because of its position in the Central Mediterranean and the fact that it flanks Germany, over which the western powers and Russia are strongly contending.

Emergency Aid Sought

Conditions in Italy are among the foremost reasons why Secretary Marshall and Undersecretary of State Lovett are pressing for emergency aid to Europe this year as an advance against the Marshall long range recovery program. But the speed with which the Italian situation is developing, according to reports flowing into Washington, makes it clear that for the time being the United States will be hard pressed to find any effective counter moves to the campaign which Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti has launched.

While the Italian situation was coming to the fore as the most urgent confronting the United States in Western Europe, it was by no means the only one.

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet called on Secretary Marshall today and revived what he conceived to be his nation's urgent need for some kind of American aid this year. To reporters Bonnet said that France may have to cut further it imports from the United States, even in such essential supplies as wheat, fats, and coal. He reported Marshall as sympathetic.

Poland Economically Sound

Another State Department called with a more cheerful approach to his country's economic needs was Josef Winiewicz, Polish ambassador who saw Assistant Secretary of State Norman Armour. He declared that Poland is economically sound and wants a World Bank loan of $600,000,000 to help with its further development.

As one immediate evidence of the tension existing in the Italian-Yugoslav area, the State Depart-

Woman Is Strangled By Clothes Wringer

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Nellie Ziegler, 74, was strangled today when her dress caught in a washing machine wringer.

Patrolmen William Rhoades and Louis Smith reported she was doing the wash alone in her backyard when her dress became entangled in the wringer shaft and was drawn tight around her neck. Neighbors attracted by her screams found the overturned machine on top of her, still running. She was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Costs Of Many Food Items Fall As Prices Reach Postwar Peak

Seven-Day Advance Finally Arrested

CHICAGO, Sept. 12—(AP)—Prices of several basic foods took a tumble in primary markets today, arresting an advance which had carried quotations to new record highs for seven consecutive days.

Butter, hogs, wheat, corn, oats and lard were among the food items which declined.

Measuring the price drop in wholesale commodities, the Associated Press average of 35 fell to 194.35 from 194.99 yesterday. It was the first decline in eight days. The base year 1926 equals 100.

In New York, Mayor William O'Dwyer announced that "in view of the terrific emergency" he had appointed a committee to investigate rising prices as they pertained to the school lunch program, care of city hospital patients and relief recipients.

Butter Prices Tumble

Butter dropped one-fourth to 2¾ cents a pound in the Chicago wholesale market, best grades bringing 83 to 85 cents. In New York butter was quoted a cent lower, but no dealings were reported because of "consumer resistance."

Butter for future delivery dropped three cents a pound, the daily limit, on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Despite the sharp downturn, brokers said fundamental factors were unaltered, with advices from the country reporting a further shrinkage in new production of both butter and eggs.

Grains, both cash and for future delivery, continued the decline begun late yesterday. At Minneapolis cash wheat dropped 8¼ cents a bushel and flour prices were reduced 20 to 30 cents a hundred pounds. Wheat was 7½ cents higher at Kansas City.

Wheat Down Limit

Cash corn dropped four to six cents a bushel at Chicago while at Omaha, where a record price was set yesterday, prices slumped four to five cents.

A series of heavy selling waves broke over the futures pits on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat was down 10 cents, the limit, and corn eight cents, the limit, at one time. But a slight rally developed before the close.

Live hog prices broke 50 to 75 cents a hundred pounds at Chicago and similar declines were reported at other major terminals.

Sen. Taft Defends Labor Act, Urges People "Eat Less"

Opens West Coast "Test" For Support

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 13 (INS) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, launched his West Coast "test" for presidential support tonight with a defense of the Taft-Hartley Act and a recommendation that American "eat less" to halt the cost of living spiral.

The undeclared GOP presidential candidate said in a prepared speech before the California State Bar that President Truman "yielded" to a million dollar labor union propa-campaign in vetoing the labor law.

He asserted that this week's Republican congressional victory in Pennsylvania "shows that this propaganda campaign in vetoing the labor failed." Two other speakers and a panel discussion before the California lawyers challenged Taft's claim that the labor law which bears his name is "a just, reasonable and mild act."

Murray, Madden Assail Law

Sen. James E. Murray (D) Montana, charged that the act has "stopped dead" the clock of collective bargaining and will speed an economic recession. Rep. Ray J. Madden (D) Indiana, said the law is "designed to weaken and eventually destroy labor unions."

Taft told a news conference that the high cost of living will be an issue, "more important to the people" in the 1948 presidential year than the labor question debated in the first speaking day of his three week western trip.

He proposed that the "first step" in a voluntary reduction of food consumption under high prices should be to work out a "more definite plan."

The Senate GOP policy leader declared that people should "eat less meat and eat less extravagantly." He turned thumbs down on a return to government price controls. Taft said price control "isn't very effective and leads to black markets."

Point by point, Taft defended the labor law, including its provision for registration of Communists in labor unions.

Praises GOP Congress

He disclosed that under requirements that all federal employes file "anti-Communist" affidavits "I had to file such an affidavit myself."

Taft said that the GOP Congress "showed its courage and determination by defying the tremendous pressure of the labor union organizations" and enacting the Taft-Hartley bill. He said:

"Labor union leaders have spent a million dollars in calling names. They have applied every derogatory adjective to the act which their publicity men could devise. They have threatened to purge from public life every man who voted for the act.

"But the significant thing is that they fail to specify objections to any important features of the law," Taft added.

"President Truman yielded to the high pressure campaign. If Congress had yielded also the labor union leaders would have been bigger than the people of the United States."

Wind Storm Kills Two At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12 (AP)—High winds and driving rain struck downtown Louisville at 4:30 p. m. today, killing two men, injuring others, at least one critically, and blowing down walls of several buildings, trees and shattering plate glass windowes.

Joseph Steinmetz, 21-year-old truck driver, was killed instantly when a large tree was blown upon his vehicle as he was driving.

Comack Russell, about 45, Nashville, Tenn., an employe of Consolidated Fruit Company, was crushed when a concrete block building under construction collapsed in the wind and rain. Critically injured in the collapse of the same building was John Lee Gentry, 27, Jefferson, Ky.

Winds caused $15,000 damage at the Southern Veneer Manufacturing Company, according to officials of the firm, when two 90-foot metal smokestacks blew down and a 10-foot section of brick wall callapsed.

Pedestrians who took refuge from the storm in the Kentucky Hotel lobby were driven out again when a huge, greasy black cloud filled the lobby. Hotel employes said the storm had caused the ventilating system to blow in reverse.

Violent Tropical Storm Will Miss Lesser Antilles And Puerto Rico

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP) — A violent tropical hurricane with winds above 140 miles an hour near the center began to recurve toward the northwest late today and assumed a course which the Weather Bureau said removed all danger to the islands of the Lesser Antilles and Puerto Rico.

An advisory said the hurricane was located at 5 p. m. (EST) near latitude 19.3 north, longitude 60.7 west or about 180 miles north of Antigua, British West Indies.

Winds near the center were reported to exceed 140 miles per hour with hurricane winds (75 miles an hour or stronger) extending over an area 75 miles in diameter and gales extending from 100 to 150 miles from the center.

It is traveling in a northwestward course about 20 miles per hour, the advisory said.

It was predicted that the storm would continue on its present northwest or west northwest path at the rate of between 18 and 20 miles per hour for the next 12 hours, reaching a position about 250 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, early Saturday morning.

Some further increase in intensity was foreseen and the area of dangerous winds was expected to increase somewhat.

The advisory stated that there was no further danger to the Antilles nor to Puerto Rico and storm warnings had been ordered down in those areas. Vessels in the path of the storm, however, were advised to exercise extreme caution.

Its 20-mile forward speed will take the storm past San Juan, Puerto Rico, long before the battleship Missouri with President Truman aboard is scheduled to sail past that city. The Missouri is many miles away and the only effect it coud feel would be the long rolling swells kicked up by the hurricane.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP)—The stork, arriving a month early, today presented Actress Teresa Wright with a five-pound daughter. She and her husband, Writer Niven Busch, have a two-year-old son, Terence.

27 Per Cent Boost In Last Year Noted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (INS)—The federal government reported today that wholesale prices have rocketed 27 per cent in the last year and now stand at a post World War Two peak.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that as of September 6 commodities cost 154.9 per cent of the 1926 average, and were within seven per cent of the all time high inflation mark of May, 1920.

Commerce Secretary Harriman tonight placed primary blame for the upsurging living costs on the vast amount of money Americans have to spend.

The Secretary, chairman of President Truman's Foreign Aid Committee, said it is "hardly fair" to blame export food shipments for the price rise. Harriman declared, in a radio address:

People Bid Against Each Other

"The present high prices are due primarily to the fact that this nation is now enjoying an all-time record of prosperity.

"People have more to spend for food, and they are bidding against each other for the food that is brought to market."

The Labor Statistics Bureau reported steady price advances amounting to 4.9 per cent during the last 10 weeks.

The BLS report came amid suggestions that some form of wartime controls be reimposed to halt the sizzling spiral that is hitting the American householder in the pocketbook.

There were consumer strikes in the process of organization across the nation as the cost of meat and most other staples rose to new highs.

James F. O'Neil, new commander of the American Legion, warned that spurting prices may force his organization to demand that all veterans' benefits be keyed to the cost of living.

Farm Prices Soaring

Most farm products and foods were leading the upward procession of prices, which marched across the nation and was felt in little towns and villages as well as great cities.

The bureau said that the average market prices of farm products rose .4 per cent and foods 1.2 per cent during the week. BLS said that this was largely because of higher prices for grains and cereal products and livestock and meats.

BLS asserted that renewed buying by the government caused price increases of about four per cent for most grains and wheat flour.

Taha, Arab Labor Leader, Is Slain

JERUSALEM, Sept. 12. (AP)—Sami Effendi Taha, secretary general of the Arab Labor Federation, who has opposed the leadership of Haj Amin El Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, was assassinated tonight with a sub-machine gun at his home in Haifa, an official announcement stated.

Taha, 33, a tarboushed (fezzed) Arab, was shot down while walking near his home on Haifa's Kings Way.

The assassins wer reported to have driven past in a car, slowed down and sprayed him with sub-machine gun bullets.

Taha has consistently supported Musa El Alami, director general of the Arab propaganda offices, now in London, in opposition to the Mufti and Jamal El Husseini, deputy chairman of the Palestine Arab Committee.

Taha had just made a speech at a Haifa labor meeting in which he assailed Husseini's newspaper, Al Wahda, for its attacks on Alami's supporters and expressed disagreement with the Mufti's followers' position that all Jews arriving in Palestine after 1918 are here illegally. Taha agreed in his speech to permit all Jews now here to remain if Palestine is given independence instead of partition.

NEW JET BOMBER—As large as a B-29 Superfortress, this new Boeing XB-47, powered by six jet engines including two at the wing tips, was rolled out of its construction hanger at Seattle yesterday. The Army Air Forces and Boeing call it a "radical new experimental design" with the inverted wings and tail surfaces. What are described as 18 jet-assisted takeoff units stud the rear fuselage for added power. Ground and taxiing tests will start soon.

World Monetary Fund, Bank Stress Europe Self-Help

U.S. Raps Report On Marshall Plan

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Both the World Bank and the World Monetary Fund, in their second annual reports today, emphasized "self help" in Europe's efforts to rebuild, and in Paris the final report of the 16-nation Marshall Plan committee was postponed a week because of American criticisms.

Sir Oliver Franks, British chairman of the Marshall committee, said in Paris that William Clayton, United States Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs, had leveled six criticisms of the report, including one that it did not include enough evidences of European self-reliance. The committee, preparing a "help-us-recover" report, has whittled its prospective bill to the United States down to about $18,000,000,000 up to 1951.

"Europe itself must make the major contributions to the solution of all these problems" said the report of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development presented by John J. McCloy, the American president.

Terming shortages of food, fuel and manpower as the three bottlenecks impeding recovery, the report said "the lack of all three prevents full use of Europe's resources and makes necessary abnormal imports abroad."

The International Monetary Fund, headed by Camille Gutt, of Belgium, emphasized that production was the "final solution" and put the need for self-help in this way:

"Increased production by the countries of Europe and the Far East must provide most of the goods needed to complete their reconstruction. Increased production can minimize and ultimately eliminate their need for extraordinary help in continuing essential imports."

Europe Customs Union Talks

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Britain, France and 11 other European nations participating in Marshall plan proposals announced tonight they would investigate the possibility of joining together in an European customs union.

Other governments—identified by the British Foreign Office as Russia and 14 other, 10 of them in the Soviet sphere of Eastern Europe—also will be invited to join in the "study group," the announcement said.

Nations joining in a customs union would abandon full economic independence in favor of the common good of all members of the union.

Immediate World Troop Census Asked By Britain

Russia Is Expected To Oppose Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 12 (AP) — An immediate world-wide troop census was proposed by Britain today in a surprise pre-Assembly maneuver on the year-old Molotov arms reduction scheme.

The British proposal outlined before a committee of the United Nations Commission for Conventional Armaments by Sir Alexander Cadogan as delegates were gathering for the opening of the 55-nation General Assembly at Flushing Meadow Park in New York Tuesday.

This was the first time the controversial troop census question had come up since the 1946 Assembly in which debate became so bitter that the issue had to be side-stepped in order to get agreement on even a nebulous start for an arms reduction program.

The program was originally put before the Assembly last fall in a surprise move by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Pushed Aside Temporarily

Britain's new surprise package on the arms question was pushed aside temporarily today but it appeared headed toward vigorous Soviet opposition.

Cadogan proposed specifically that the Arms Commission send out a circular letter asking all the United Nations to submit information on their present total manpower under arms.

He also suggested asking each country what facilities it would offer the United Nations for verification of submitted figures.

Cadogan described his plan as an interim measure to build up confidence, which he said was one of the essential conditions necessary for success in any arms reduction program.

Would Be Voluntary

He made it clear that the submission of information under the British plan would be entirely voluntary. It was thus regarded primarily as a feeler to see which nations would give troop information to the United Nations and to see how far they were ready to go toward a system of international verification or inspection.

The main Soviet objection to the proposal was expected to arise from the fact that the census would be limited to manpower of the armed forces and would omit any figures on weapons. At the last Assembly Molotov was insistent that any census must include both arms and men to give a true picture of any country's military strength.

STRIKE ON U. S. STEEL "CAPTIVE" RAILROAD REPORTED SETTLED

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—An agreement to end the week-old strike of United States Steel's "captive" Union Railroad, calling for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, was reached shortly before midnight tonight by negotiators for the road and the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Railway Trainmen.

The employes were to return to work "immediately" which a spokesman said meant on the 7 a. m. shift tomorrow.

In addition to the pay raise, the railroad and brotherhood representatives agreement called for a withdrawal of rules changes and "liberalized" vacation provisions.

Lifetime VA Head Urged By O'Neil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—James F. O'Neil, new national commander of the American Legion, today called for appointment of a lifetime head of the Veterans Administration. He said veterans resent "too much Army brass" in the agency.

Assuming that Gen. Omar N. Bradley, present VA administrator, will return to the Army soon—he has been mentioned as the new chief of staff to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—O'Neil said in a statement:

"When the President returns to the United States I will respectfully recommend to him the importance of expediting the appointment of an administrator of veterans affairs who will make it his life's work x x x. Such a move x x x boost the morale of both the veterans to be served by and the employes within the VA."

The Legion commander, elected last week, told a news conference his suggestion meant no criticism of Bradley but:

"The Veterans Administration hasn't been completely satisfactory. I think veterans largely resent too much Army brass in the VA."

The Legion head said the new VA chief should be a veteran. He said he has no candidate nor has the Legion.

Frozen Artery Bank Proposed To Surgeons

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — A new kind of medical "bank," for frozen and preserved arteries for operations was proposed to the American College of Surgeons today by Charles A. Hufnagel, Richmond, Ind., and Harvard Medical School.

Accidents and disease sometimes make it necessary for a surgeon to remove a section of an artery Grafts or other measures to replace the missing link have been difficult Short pieces of tubes made of the metal vitallium have been tried.

Hufnagel reported however the animal experiments show the best grafts are sections of living arteries. These are not available for human beings.

Various methods of preserving arteries failed, but quick freeze preserved arteries for as long as three months.

Miners' Chief Vetoes Filing Of Affidavits

Council Compliance Stymied By Action

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP) — John L. Lewis today blocked AFL compliance with the Taft-Hartley Act, at least for the time being, thereby closing the doors of the National Labor Relations Board to all 10? unions with 7,500,000 members.

Lewis opposed the signing of affidavits disavowing membership in the Communist Party, required under the Labor-Management Relations Act.

Since the AFL Executive Council, comprising 15 officers of the AFL, had to act unanimously in order to comply with a ruling of General Counsel Robert N. Denham, of the NLRB, Lewis' opposition was enough to stymie compliance.

The other members were prepared at one time to sign the affidavits, members of the council said.

AFL President William Green told a news conference that the council "could not conform to the Denham ruling."

"The council decided that the Taft-Hartley Act is reprehensible, vicious and destructive of the workers' civil and legal rights," Green said.

Issue Tossed To Convention

While the AFL president would not predict that a fight over compliance would develop on the floor of the AFL convention in San Francisco beginning October 6, it was conceded by other labor leaders here that the whole issue now would shift to the convention.

In the interval, however, there remained the possibility that the Denham ruling might be reversed by Denham, by the NLRB, or by the courts. In which case the AFL Executive Council members would not have to sign affidavits in order to make the member unions eligible to use machinery of the NLRB.

During the week's deliberations, Lewis has made his opposition known to other members of the executive council.

He was credited with blocking the necessary unanimous agreement by the council to sign the affidavits. Other members of the policy-making group were reported to be ready to sign the affidavits in order to make the 105 international unions and their thousands of locals eligible to use the NLRB machinery.

Green would not disclose the details behind the board's announcement that it "could not conform" to the Denham interpretation.

Denham ruled that no AFL union would be eligible to use the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board if any AFL officer refused to sign an affidavit. This included all members of the Executive Council, because all are top officials in the federation.

Council Member Resigns

The council will adjourn tomorrow after a scheduled hearing of the jurisdictional dispute among Hollywood AFL unions.

Green announced the resignation from the council of Felix H. Knight, Kansas City, retired president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen. He will be succeeded by President Herman Winter, of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union. Winter resides in Chicago and heads a union of 110,000 members.

Green said he would announce the AFL's recommendation to fill the vacancy as Assistant Secretary of Labor in the next couple of days.

Philip Hannah announced his resignation in Cincinnati yesterday, effective when a successor is chosen. There are two assistant secretary posts, shared by the AFL and CIO. Hannah is secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was reported to be awaiting Green's recommendation before offering a nominee to President Truman.

Police Called To Quell Disturbance During Negro Church Group Election

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—Police were called today to quell a disturbance during election of a vice president at the Negro National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc

The day-long turmoil quickly subsided, however, after the convention president told the gathering he had "a revelation from the Lord" asking one of the two candidates to withdraw.

More than 13,000 delegates here for the annual gathering of one of the largest of negro church groups packed the Municipal Auditorium during the stalmate, which was marked with shouting, confusion and finally a call to police.

The contested post of vice-president went to Dr. Ezel Willie Perry, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church at Oklahoma City. His opponent, Dr. Joseph Harrison Jackson, Chicago, withdrew.

Climax of the contest came this afternoon when Dr. D. V. Jemison, Selma, Ala., the president, mounted the platform after police had cleared the way of gesticulating and shouting delegates.

After confusing the names of the two andidates in a short talk to the convention, Dr. Jemison corrected himself to say:

"After a revelation from the Lord I am requesting you, Brother Jackson, for the sake of the group to withdraw as a candidate and am asking Brother Perry to take the office."

Dr. Jackson then mounted the platform and made a withdrawal statement.

After hos election, Dr. Perry told newsmen that he was "thankful to the whole convention and to the Lord," and that he "will do my best in office."

At one time when delegates threatened to pull a microphone off the stage, police were called to clear the platform. Two policemen, accompanied by two negro auxiliary policemen, climbed onto the stage but were persuaded to leave by Rev. Thomas S. Harten, New York.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 12 (AP)—High winds and driving rain struck downtown Louisville at 4:30 p. m. today, killing two men, injuring others, at least one critically, and blowing down walls of several buildings, trees and shattering plate glass windowes.

Joseph Steinmetz, 21-year-old truck driver, was killed instantly when a large tree was blown upon his vehicle as he was driving.

Comack Russell, about 45, Nashville, Tenn., an employe of Consolidated Fruit Company, was crushed when a concrete block building under construction collapsed in the wind and rain. Critically injured in the collapse of the same building was John Lee Gentry, 27, Jefferson, Ky.

Winds caused $15,000 damage at the Southern Veneer Manufacturing Company, according to officials of the firm, when two 90-foot metal smokestacks blew down and a 10-foot section of brick wall callapsed.

Pedestrians who took refuge from the storm in the Kentucky Hotel lobby were driven out again when a huge, greasy black cloud filled the lobby. Hotel employes said the storm had caused the ventilating system to blow in reverse.

Violent Tropical Storm Will Miss Lesser Antilles And Puerto Rico

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP) — A violent tropical hurricane with winds above 140 miles an hour near the center began to recurve toward the northwest late today and assumed a course which the Weather Bureau said removed all danger to the islands of the Lesser Antilles and Puerto Rico.

An advisory said the hurricane was located at 5 p. m. (EST) near latitude 19.3 north, longitude 60.7 west or about 180 miles north of Antigua, British West Indies.

Winds near the center were reported to exceed 140 miles per hour with hurricane winds (75 miles an hour or stronger) extending over an area 75 miles in diameter and gales extending from 100 to 150 miles from the center.

It is traveling in a northwestward course about 20 miles per hour, the advisory said.

It was predicted that the storm would continue on its present northwest or west northwest path at the rate of between 18 and 20 miles per hour for the next 12 hours, reaching a position about 250 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, early Saturday morning.

Some further increase in intensity was foreseen and the area of dangerous winds was expected to increase somewhat.

The advisory stated that there was no further danger to the Antilles nor to Puerto Rico and storm warnings had been ordered down in those areas. Vessels in the path of the storm, however, were advised to exercise extreme caution.

Its 20-mile forward speed will take the storm past San Juan, Puerto Rico, long before the battleship Missouri with President Truman aboard is scheduled to sail past that city. The Missouri is many miles away and the only effect it coud feel would be the long rolling swells kicked up by the hurricane.

Sen. Taft Defends Labor Act, Urges People "Eat Less"

Opens West Coast "Test" For Support

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 13 (INS) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, launched his West Coast "test" for presidential support tonight with a defense of the Taft-Hartley Act and a recommendation that American "eat less" to halt the cost of living spiral.

The undeclared GOP presidential candidate said in a prepared speech before the California State Bar that President Truman "yielded" to a million dollar labor union propacampaign in vetoing the labor law.

He asserted that this week's Republican congressional victory in Pennsylvania "shows that this propaganda campaign in vetoing the labor failed." Two other speakers and a panel discussion before the California lawyers challenged Taft's claim that the labor law which bears his name is "a just, reasonable and mild act."

Murray, Madden Assail Law

Sen. James E. Murray (D) Montana, charged that the act has "stopped dead" the clock of collective bargaining and will speed an economic recession. Rep. Ray J. Madden (D) Indiana, said the law is "designed to weaken and eventually destroy labor unions."

Taft told a news conference that the high cost of living will be an issue, "more important to the people" in the 1948 presidential year than the labor question debated in the first speaking day of his three week western trip.

He proposed that the "first step" in a voluntary reduction of food consumption under high prices should be to work out a "more definite plan."

The Senate GOP policy leader declared that people should "eat less meat and eat less extravagantly." He turned thumbs down on a return to government price controls. Taft said price control "isn't very effective and leads to black markets."

Point by point, Taft defended the labor law, including its provision for registration of Communists in labor unions.

Praises GOP Congress

He disclosed that under requirements that all federal employes file "anti-Communist" affidavits "I had to file such an affidavit myself."

Taft said that the GOP Congress "showed its courage and determination by defying the tremendous pressure of the labor union organizations" and enacting the Taft-Hartley bill. He said:

"Labor union leaders have spent a million dollars in calling names. They have applied every derogatory adjective to the act which their publicity men could devise. They have threatened to purge from public life every man who voted for the act.

"But the significant thing is that they fail to specify objections to any important features of the law," Taft added.

"President Truman yielded to the high pressure campaign. If Congress had yielded also the labor union leaders would have been bigger than the people of the United States."

27 Per Cent Boost In Last Year Noted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (INS)—The federal government reported today that wholesale prices have rocketed 27 per cent in the last year and now stand at a post World War Two peak.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that as of September 6 commodities cost 154.9 per cent of the 1926 average, and were within seven per cent of the all time high inflation mark of May, 1920.

Commerce Secretary Harriman tonight placed primary blame for the upsurging living costs on the vast amount of money Americans have to spend.

The Secretary, chairman of President Truman's Foreign Aid Committee, said it is "hardly fair" to blame export food shipments for the price rise. Harriman declared, in a radio address:

People Bid Against Each Other

"The present high prices are due primarily to the fact that this nation is now enjoying an all-time record of prosperity.

"People have more to spend for food, and they are bidding against each other for the food that is brought to market."

The Labor Statistics Bureau reported steady price advances amounting to 4.9 per cent during the last 10 weeks.

The BLS report came amid suggestions that some form of wartime controls be reimposed to halt the sizzling spiral that is hitting the American householder in the pocketbook.

There were consumer strikes in the process of organization across the nation as the cost of meat and most other staples rose to new highs.

James F. O'Neil, new commander of the American Legion, warned that spurting prices may force his organization to demand that all veterans' benefits be keyed to the cost of living.

Farm Prices Soaring

Most farm products and foods were leading the upward procession of prices, which marched across the nation and was felt in little towns and villages as well as great cities.

The bureau said that the average market prices of farm products rose 4 per cent and foods 1.2 per cent during the week. BLS said that this was largely because of higher prices for grains and cereal products and livestock and meats.

BLS asserted that renewed buying by the government caused price increases of about four per cent for most grains and wheat flour.

Taha, Arab Labor Leader, Is Slain

JERUSALEM, Sept. 12. (AP)—Sami Effendi Taha, secretary general of the Arab Labor Federation, who has opposed the leadership of Haj Amin El Husseini, exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, was assassinated tonight with a sub-machine gun at his home in Haifa, an official announcement stated.

Taha, 33, a tarboushed (fezzed) Arab, was shot down while walking near his home on Haifa's Kings Way.

The assassins wer reported to have driven past in a car, slowed down and sprayed him with submachine gun bullets.

Taha has consistently supported Musa El Alami, director general of the Arab propaganda offices, now in London, in opposition to the Mufti and Jamal El Husseini, deputy chairman of the Palestine Arab Committee.

Taha had just made a speech at a Haifa labor meeting in which he assailed Husseini's newspaper, Al Wahda, for its attacks on Alami's supporters and expressed disagreement with the Mufti's followers' position that all Jews arriving in Palestine after 1918 are here illegally. Taha agreed in his speech to permit all Jews now here to remain if Palestine is given independence instead of partition.

NEW JET BOMBER—As large as a B-29 Superfortress, this new Boeing XB-47, powered by six jet engines including two at the wing tips, was rolled out of its construction hanger at Seattle yesterday. The Army Air Forces and Boeing call it a "radical new experimental design" with the inverted wings and tail surfaces. What are described as 18 jet-assisted takeoff units stud the rear fuselage for added power. Ground and taxiing tests will start soon.

World Monetary Fund, Bank Stress Europe Self-Help

U.S. Raps Report On Marshall Plan

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Both the World Bank and the World Monetary Fund, in their second annual reports today, emphasized "self help" in Europe's efforts to rebuild, and in Paris the final report of the 16-nation Marshall Plan committee was postponed a week because of American criticisms.

Sir Oliver Franks, British chairman of the Marshall committee, said in Paris that William Clayton, United States Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs, had leveled six criticisms of the report, including one that it did not include enough evidences of European self-reliance. The committee, preparing a "help-us-recover" report, has whittled its prospective bill to the United States down to about $18,000,000,000 up to 1951.

"Europe itself must make the major contributions to the solution of all these problems" said the report of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development presented by John J. McCloy, the American president.

Terming shortages of food, fuel and manpower as the three bottlenecks impeding recovery, the report said "the lack of all three prevents full use of Europe's resources and makes necessary abnormal imports abroad."

The International Monetary Fund, headed by Camille Gutt, of Belgium, emphasized that production was the "final solution" and put the need for self-help in this way:

"Increased production by the countries of Europe and the Far East must provide most of the goods needed to complete their reconstruction. Increased production can minimize and ultimately eliminate their need for extraordinary help in continuing essential imports."

Europe Customs Union Talks

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP) — Britain, France and 11 other European nations participating in Marshall plan proposals announced tonight they would investigate the possibility of joining together in an European customs union.

Other governments—identified by the British Foreign Office as Russia and 14 other, 10 of them in the Soviet sphere of Eastern Europe—also will be invited to join in the "study group," the announcement said.

Nations joining in a customs union would abandon full economic independence in favor of the common good of all members of the union.

Immediate World Troop Census Asked By Britain

Russia Is Expected To Oppose Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 12 (AP) — An immediate world-wide troop census was proposed by Britain today in a surprise pre-Assembly maneuver on the year-old Molotov arms reduction scheme.

The British proposal outlined before a committee of the United Nations Commission for Conventional Armaments by Sir Alexander Cadogan as delegates were gathering for the opening of the 55-nation General Assembly at Flushing Meadow Park in New York Tuesday.

This was the first time the controversial troop census question had come up since the 1946 Assembly in which debate became so bitter that the issue had to be side-stepped in order to get agreement on even a nebulous start for an arms reduction program.

The program was originally put before the Assembly last fall in a surprise move by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Pushed Aside Temporarily

Britain's new surprise package on the arms question was pushed aside temporarily today but it appeared headed toward vigorous Soviet opposition.

Cadogan proposed specifically that the Arms Commission send out a circular letter asking all the United Nations to submit information on their present total manpower under arms.

He also suggested asking each country what facilities it would offer the United Nations for verification of submitted figures.

Cadogan described his plan as an interim measure to build up confidence, which he said was one of the essential conditions necessary for success in any arms reduction program.

Would Be Voluntary

He made it clear that the submission of information under the British plan would be entirely voluntary. It was thus regarded primarily as a feeler to see which nations would give troop information to the United Nations and to see how far they were ready to go toward a system of international verification or inspection.

The main Soviet objection to the proposal was expected to arise from the fact that the census would be limited to manpower of the armed forces and would omit any figures on weapons. At the last Assembly Molotov was insistent that any census must include both arms and men to give a true picture of any country's military strength.

STRIKE ON U. S. STEEL "CAPTIVE" RAILROAD REPORTED SETTLED

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—An agreement to end the week-old strike of United States Steel's "captive" Union Railroad, calling for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, was reached shortly before midnight tonight by negotiators for the road and the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers and Railway Trainmen.

The employes were to return to work "immediately" which a spokesman said meant on the 7 a. m. shift tomorrow.

Lifetime VA Head Urged By O'Neil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—James F. O'Neil, new national commander of the American Legion, today called for appointment of a lifetime head of the Veterans Administration. He said veterans resent "too much Army brass" in the agency.

Assuming that Gen. Omar N. Bradley, present VA administrator, will return to the Army soon—he has been mentioned as the new chief of staff to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—O'Neil said in a statement:

"When the President returns to the United States I will respectfully recommend to him the importance of expediting the appointment of an administrator of veterans affairs who will make it his life's work x x x. Such a move x x x boost the morale of both the veterans to be served by and the employes within the VA."

The Legion commander, elected last week, told a news conference his suggestion meant no criticism of Bradley but:

"The Veterans Administration hasn't been completely satisfactory. I think veterans largely resent too much Army brass in the VA."

The Legion head said the new VA chief should be a veteran. He said he has no candidate nor has the Legion.

Frozen Artery Bank Proposed To Surgeons

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP) — A new kind of medical "bank," for frozen and preserved arteries for operations was proposed to the American College of Surgeons today by Charles A. Hufnagel, Richmond, Ind., and Harvard Medical School.

Accidents and disease sometimes make it necessary for a surgeon to remove a section of an artery Grafts or other measures to replace the missing link have been difficult Short pieces of tubes made of the metal vitallium have been tried.

Hufnagel reported however the animal experiments show the best grafts are sections of living arteries. These are not available for human beings.

Various methods of preserving arteries failed, but quick freeze preserved arteries for as long as three months.

Miners' Chief Vetoes Filing Of Affidavits

Council Compliance Stymied By Action

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP) — John L. Lewis today blocked AFL compliance with the Taft-Hartley Act, at least for the time being, thereby closing the doors of the National Labor Relations Board to all 105 unions with 7,500,000 members.

Lewis opposed the signing of affidavits disavowing membership in the Communist Party, required under the Labor-Management Relations Act.

Since the AFL Executive Council, comprising 15 officers of the AFL, had to act unanimously in order to comply with a ruling of General Counsel Robert N. Denham, of the NLRB, Lewis' opposition was enough to stymie compliance.

The other members were prepared at one time to sign the affidavits, members of the council said.

AFL President William Green told a news conference that the council "could not conform to the Denham ruling."

"The council decided that the Taft-Hartley Act is reprehensible, vicious and destructive of the workers' civil and legal rights," Green said.

Issue Tossed To Convention

While the AFL president would not predict that a fight over compliance would develop on the floor of the AFL convention in San Francisco beginning October 6, it was conceded by other labor leaders here that the whole issue now would shift to the convention.

In the interval, however, there remained the possibility that the Denham ruling might be reversed by Denham, by the NLRB, or by the courts. In which case the AFL Executive Council members would not have to sign affidavits in order to make the member unions eligible to use machinery of the NLRB.

During the week's deliberations, Lewis has made his opposition known to other members of the executive council.

He was credited with blocking the necessary unanimous agreement by the council to sign the affidavits. Other members of the policy-making group were reported to be ready to sign the affidavits in order to make the 105 international unions and their thousands of locals eligible to use the NLRB machinery.

Green would not disclose the details behind the board's announcement that it "could not conform" to the Denham interpretation.

Denham ruled that no AFL union would be eligible to use the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board if any AFL officer refused to sign an affidavit. This included all members of the Executive Council, because all are top officials in the federation.

Council Member Resigns

The council will adjourn tomorrow after a scheduled hearing of the jurisdictional dispute among Hollywood AFL unions.

Green announced the resignation from the council of Felix H. Knight, Kansas City, retired president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen. He will be succeeded by President Herman Winter, of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union. Winter resides in Chicago and heads a union of 110,000 members.

Green said he would announce the AFL's recommendation to fill the vacancy as Assistant Secretary of Labor in the next couple of days.

Philip Hannah announced his resignation in Cincinnati yesterday, effective when a successor is chosen. There are two assistant secretary posts, shared by the AFL and CIO. Hannah is secretary of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was reported to be awaiting Green's recommendation before offering a nominee to President Truman.

Police Called To Quell Disturbance During Negro Church Group Election

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12 (AP)—Police were called today to quell a disturbance during election of a vice president at the Negro National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc

The day-long turmoil quickly subsided, however, after the convention president told the gathering he had "a revelation from the Lord" asking one of the two candidates to withdraw.

More than 13,000 delegates here for the annual gathering of one of the largest of negro church groups packed the Municipal Auditorium during the stalmate, which was marked with shouting, confusion and finally a call to police.

The contested post of vice-president went to Dr. Ezel Willie Perry, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church at Oklahoma City. His opponent, Dr. Joseph Harrison Jackson, Chicago, withdrew.

Climax of the contest came this afternoon when Dr. D. V. Jemison, Selma, Ala., the president, mounted the platform after police had cleared the way of gesticulating and shouting delegates.

After confusing the names of the two andidates in a short talk to the convention, Dr. Jemison corrected himself to say:

"After a revelation from the Lord I am requesting you, Brother Jackson, for the sake of the group to withdraw as a candidate and am asking Brother Perry to take the office."

Dr. Jackson then mounted the platform and made a withdrawal statement.

After hos election, Dr. Perry told newsmen that he was "thankful to the whole convention and to the Lord," and that he "will do my best in office."

At one time when delegates threatened to pull a microphone off the stage, police were called to clear the platform. Two policemen, accompanied by two negro auxiliary policemen, climbed onto the stage but were persuaded to leave by Rev. Thomas S. Harten, New York.

Annual Report Of Paper Company Is Best In Industry

In final consideration of the Independent Board of Judges in the Financial World Annual Report Survey, the annual report of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has been judged for the second consecutive year as having the best annual report in the pulp and paper industry.

In this industrial classificatoin for annual reports for 1946 Mead Corporation was runner-up with Oxford Paper Company rated third.

This year's competition in corporation financial reports was the keenest in the history of the surveys, according to the Financial World. More than 3,500 attractively illustrated brochures and plainly printed booklets and pamphlets, all designated as annual reports for 1946, were considered in this year's survey. West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's annual report for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1946, is still in the running for "Best of All Industry" awards, the silver and gold trophies will be announced on October 10, 1947.

The Independent Board of Judges is headed by Dr. Lewis Haney, professor of economics of New York University. He is assisted by Glenn Griswold, editor and publisher of Public Relations News: Sylvia F. Porter, financial editor of the New York Post; Elmer Walzer, financial editor of the United Press; and Lester Tichy, art critic and industrial designer.

In 1945, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company won a gold trophy in the survey for the best four-color cover on any annual report in this country for 1944. The cover for the annual report for 1944 was a four-color reproduction of a painting by John Atheton of the paperboard machine in the company's Charleston, S. C., plant, producing enough paperboard to reach the moon. The caption on the cover stated: "Paper and Paperboard for war uses roll off the company's machines at the rate of 1 mile every 2 minutes—a two-lane highway of paper in 1944 long enough to reach the moon."

Copies of the 1946 annual report may be obtained from the plant manager at the company's Luke plant.

Accident Victim Dies In Hagerstown

Wallace Reid, 26, Big Pool, one of three men injured in a head-on collision between a coal truck, operated by an Oldtown man, and a car, three miles east of Clearspring, died Thursday night in Washington County Hospital.

The driver of the car, identified by State Police at Hagerstown as Leon Hart, 21, also of Big Pool, faces possible charges of manslaughter, according to Cpl. Charles Mades, who explained final action rests with the Washington County State's Attorney.

Hart was driver of the car traveling west on Route 40, attempted to pass another vehicle and met the truck of Luther Shyrock, 26, Oldtown. Police said it is not likely that charges will be preferred against Shyrock.

Attaches said Reid suffered a severed artery in the arm. He had lost a great amount of blood and a transfusion was necessary. Hart suffered a fractured right arm and bruises. Paul Miller, third victim in Hart's car, was treated for a fractured arm, severe lacerations, and loss of blood.

Immunization Program Shows Results Here

Because a majority of the 17 diphtheria patients in the county in recent weeks have been adults, the effectiveness of Allegany County's long-time immunization program for children is clearly demonstrated, health officials said yesterday.

As far as is known, not one person who was previously immunized has contracted the disease, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

He added that the Health Department has been providing a diphtheria immunization program for first grade children for over 10 years, pointing out that as the program continues and the years pass, a still greater percentage of the population will have been immunized.

In addition to the 17 active cases reported in the county, an equal number of persons have been found to be potential carriers of the disease, Dr. Frantz said.

Annual Report Of Paper Company Is Best In Industry

In final consideration of the Independent Board of Judges in the Financial World Annual Report Survey, the annual report of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has been judged for the second consecutive year as having the best annual report in the pulp and paper industry.

In this industrial classificatoin for annual reports for 1946 Mead Corporation was runner-up with Oxford Paper Company rated third.

This year's competition in corporation financial reports was the keenest in the history of the surveys, according to the Financial World. More than 3,500 attractively illustrated brochures and plainly printed booklets, all designated as annual reports for 1946, were considered in this year's survey. West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's annual report for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1946, is still in the running for "Best of All Industry" awards, the silver and gold trophies will be announced on October 10, 1947.

The Independent Board of Judges is headed by Dr. Lewis Haney, professor of economics of New York University. He is assisted by Glenn Griswold, editor and publisher of Public Relations News: Sylvia F. Porter, financial editor of the New York Post; Elmer Walser, financial editor of the United Press; and Lester Tichy, art critic and industrial designer.

In 1945, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company won a gold trophy in the survey for the best four-color cover on any annual report in this country for 1944. The cover for the annual report for 1944 was a four-color reproduction of a painting by John Atheton of the paperboard machine in the company's Charleston, S. C., plant, producing enough paperboard to reach the moon. The caption on the cover stated: "Paper and Paperboard for war uses roll off the company's machines at the rate of 1 mile every 2 minutes—a two-lane highway of paper in 1944 long enough to reach the moon."

Copies of the 1946 annual report may be obtained from the plant manager at the company's Luke plant.

LONDON, Sept. 12 (INS)—Buckingham Palace officials announced tonight that Princess Elizabeth will last night that Princess Elizabeth will have eight bridesmaids in attendance for her marriage to Lt. Philip Mountbatten at Westminster Abbey November 20.

The announcement listed the bridesmaids as: Princess Margaret, Princess Alexandra of Kent, Ladies Caroline Montagu Douglas Scott, Mary Cambridge, Elizabeth Lambart, and Hon. Pamela Mountbatten, the Hon. Margaret Elphinstone and Miss Diana Bowes-Lyon.

There will also be two pages, Prince William, of Gloucester, and Prince Michael, of Kent.

Accident Victim Dies In Hagerstown

Wallace Reid, 26, Big Pool, one of three men injured in a head-on collision between a coal truck, operated by an Oldtown man, and a car, three miles east of Clearspring, died Thursday night in Washington County Hospital.

The driver of the car, identified by State Police at Hagerstown as Leon Hart, 21, also of Big Pool, faces possible charges of manslaughter, according to Cpl. Charles Mades, who explained final action rests with the Washington County State's Attorney.

Hart was driver of the car traveling west on Route 40, attempted to pass another vehicle and met the truck of Luther Shyrock, 26, Oldtown. Police said it is not likely that charges will be preferred against Shyrock.

Attaches said Reid suffered a severed artery in the arm. He had lost a great amount of blood and a transfusion was necessary. Hart suffered a fractured right arm and bruises. Paul Miller, third victim in Hart's car, was treated for a fractured arm, severe lacerations, and loss of blood.

Stranded By Low Ceiling

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—(AP)—The folk who bought a string of street cars at $125 each for conversion into homes found themselves stranded by a low ceiling today. The city and county building departments refused to issue permits for remodeling of the vehicles. The trolleys have a six foot six inch clearance between floor and ceiling. City law required seven feet, county law 7½.

Immunization Program Shows Results Here

Because a majority of the 17 diphtheria patients in the county in recent weeks have been adults, the effectiveness of Allegany County's long-time immunization program for children is clearly demonstrated, health officials said yesterday.

As far as is known, not one person who was previously immunized has contracted the disease, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

He added that the Health Department has been providing a diphtheria immunization program for first grade children for over 10 years, pointing out that as the program continues and the years pass, a still greater percentage of the population will have been immunized.

In addition to the 17 active cases reported in the county, an equal number of persons have been found to be potential carriers of the disease, Dr. Frantz said.

Ex-Marines Receive World War II Medals

Additional recipients of Victory and American Defense Medals have been announced by Lt. Edward H. Walker, inspector instructor of Company D, Fifth Infantry Battalion, Marine Corps Reserve.

Victory and American Defense medals were presented to Maj. Remsen J. Cole, Sgt. Maj. Roger R. Jernigan, M/Sgt. Raymond M. Carter and Robert L. Miller.

The Victory Medal was presented to Lt. C. J. Bageant, Jr., Cpl. Joseph Monteleone, Cpl. Richard K. Jackson, James Niland, Westernport; Herbert Marshall Dye, Midland; Raymond R. Miller, Corriganville; Charles W. Stultz, Westernport; Charles H. Kunes, George Deaver, Jr., Alonzo J. Chorpenning, and William Glen Gray.

Lt. Walker stated that all former Marines who have not received the medals may apply for them at Company D, Headquarters, County Building, Union Street.

Two Persons Jailed

Two persons booked as Woodrow Carr, Ridgeley, and Anna Ruth Yost, this city, were jailed in default of fines of $20 each when charged with disorderly conduct at a hearing before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley Thursday night.

Chief Jesse Elkins, who preferred the charge, said he took them into custody at the home of Carr's stepfather who asserted Carr brought the woman into the home over his objection.

Will Probated

The will of Russell Kiddy, Sr., who died July 28, 1947, was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court. The document names his daughter, Sarabell Kiddy Muir, Nikep, as sole beneficiary and executrix. The will was signed four days before his death and witnessed by Thomas Chamley and Alberta T. Ley.

Corrugated cardboard has been made from cotton stalks.

Potential Home Owners "Priced Out Of Market"

McCarthy Confident Savings Can Be Made

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today the congressional investigation into the nationwide housing shortage already has disclosed that "more than 700,000 home buyers and builders are priced out of the market."

"We are going to find some way to bring down prices for them," McCarthy vice chairman of the Senate-House committee probing housing, told a reporter.

The Senator said he is confident that some substantial savings can be made in present housing costs "because you can put your finger on a number of things."

"We are about 50 years behind present-day methods in building some homes," the Senator said. "We are using many methods of a handcraft era in a machine age."

The housing shortage led to increased talk of extending rent controls beyond next February 29. Along with McCarthy, Sens. Flanders (R-Vt), Sparkman (D-Ala) and Myers (D-Pa) agreed that Congress is likely to extend them.

McCarthy said public hearings of the 14 member Senate-House investigating group will dig into these housing problems:

1. A lack of conformity and up-to-dateness in building codes of various cities, towns, states and regions.

2. Lack of standardization in materials used in most moderately-priced housing, such as various size bricks, plaster board and other building materials.

3. A shortage of new and younger workers in the skilled building trades, such as carpenters, brick masons and plumbers.

Bodies Of Man, Woman Found Crammed In Auto

TORONTO, Sept. 12 (AP) — A married man and a young woman whose bodies were discovered early today crammed into the luggage compartment of the man's automobile were "murdered," Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said tonight in reporting the findings of an autopsy.

The couple was identified as George Vigus, 39, and Iris Scott, 21, both of Toronto.

Police said they had been dead 24 hours when their bodies were found. One police spokesman said it appeared that Vigus and Miss Scott were killed, then their bodies stuffed into the car and driven to High Park in the west end, where they were found.

Marshall In New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (INS)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall arrived in New York tonight for a weekend of conferences which will precede opening of the United Nations General Assembly next Tuesday.

The Secretary was accompanied by Charlie Bohlen, a State Department aide and an expert on Russian affairs.

Marshal went immediately to his suite in the Pennsylvania Hotel, and it was announced that he would entertain no visitors tonight.

In addition to the many conferences scheduled for the weekend, the Secretary also is scheduled to deliver two important addresses on Sunday and Monday.

ment disclosed today a "vigorous protest" to the Yugoslav Foreign Office against various seizures of British and American military personnel in the Trieste area. Five separate incidents were listed by the State Department including four in which a total of nine Allied soldiers or sailors—two American and seven British—were seized and are still held by the Yugoslavs.

In the other incidents five British riflemen were seized June 16 and held until July 19 "without justifiable reason," the announcement said. It declared they suffered "serious maltreatment," necessitating their hospitalization because of illness induced by bad food and water.

The American ambassador was ordered to demand the "immediate release" of all American and British personnel now being detained by Yugoslav authorities.

CORROSION CAUSES FIRE BOX TO FALL, RING FALSE ALARM

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12—(AP)—Fire box No. 2295, weather-beaten old sentinel of public safety, was bent over today—its face literally red with shame.

Corrosion of a pole on which it was mounted tumbled No. 2295. Its face struck against the pole, breaking the glass and setting off an alarm.

Plenty Of Steel By 1949 Forecast

WASHINGTON, ept. 12 — (AP) — Two leaders in the industry said today there should be plenty of steel within two years and a third testified that a big increase in productive capacity would increase inflation.

Earlier Chairman Edward Martin (R-Pa.), of a Senate Small Business Subcommittee, said it would be "downright stupid" for the industry to take a "public be dammed" attitude toward the present steel shortage when there is "growing pressure for nationalization of such big industries as steel, coal and the railroads."

And to officials of a dozen big steel companies attending a committee hearing on prospects of getting enough steel to satisfy everyone, Martin added in a statement:

"Bear this in mind—such nationaliation has been suggested even on the floor of the United States Senate."

Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, bristled back in a statement of his own:

"It is simply amazing to me that anyone should suggest by inference or otherwise that United States Steel has a 'public be damned' attitude. Our attitude is, and always will continue to be, just the reverse."

Eugene Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Company, handed the committee a statement saying his company's policy always has been "a continuous one of enlarging facilities to care for the national economy."

Fairless and Grace both figured the steel scarcity will be over within two years—if a scrap shortage eases up, other matreials continue to be available and there are no long strikes.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 12 (INS)—Mrs. Louise Gill Macy Hopkins, widow of the late Harry Hopkins, was married today to Geoffrey Gates, socialite architect, in the home of her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Ludington.

Woman Shot Four Times; Estranged Mate Held

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 — (AP) — A 21-year-old mother was shot four times while she was getting breakfast and police issued an assault and shootin gwarrant for her estanged husband, picked up by Washington officers.

Despite the loss of considerable blood from two wounds in each thigh, Mrs. Gloria Bowen was reported in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The husband was identified as James Bowen, waiter in a downtown restaurant. Police said they had been estranged three months and Mrs. Bowen had sworn out a non-support warrant.

U.N. Council To Consider U. S. Request On Monday

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 12 (INS) — Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko, current chairman of the United Nations Security Council, late today ordered the council to meet in special session Monday to consider an American request for General Assembly action on the Greek question.

Gromyko called the meeting for 3 p. m., EDT.

In addition to the Greek case, other items up for discussion on the eve of the General Assembly session itself were the Indonesian conflict, the governorship of Trieste and possibly the Egyptian dispute.

ment disclosed today a "vigorous protest" to the Yugoslav Foreign Office against various seizures of British and American military personnel in the Trieste area. Five separate incidents were listed by the State Department including four in which a total of nine Allied soldiers or sailors—two American and seven British—were seized and are still held by the Yugoslavs.

In the other incidents five British riflemen were seized June 16 and held until July 19 "without justfiable reason," the announcement said. It declared they suffered "serious maltreatment," necessitating their hospitalization because of illness induced by bad food and water.

The American ambassador was ordered to demand the "immediate release" of all American and British personnel now being detained by Yugoslav authorities.

CORROSION CAUSES FIRE BOX TO FALL, RING FALSE ALARM

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12—(AP)—Fire box No. 2295, weather-beaten old sentinel of public safety, was bent over today—its face literally red with shame.

Corrosion of a pole on which it was mounted tumbled No. 2295. Its face struck against the pole, breaking the glass and setting off an alarm.

Plenty Of Steel By 1949 Forecast

WASHINGTON, ept. 12 — (AP) — Two leaders in the industry said !ay there should be plenty of steel within two years and a third testified that a big increase in productive capacity would increase inflation.

Earlier Chairman Edward Martin (R-Pa.), of a Senate Small Business Subcommittee, said it would be "downright stupid" for the industry to take a "public be dammed" attitude toward the present steel shortage when there is "growing pressure for nationalization of such big industries as steel, coal and the railroads."

And to officials of a dozen big steel companies attending a committee hearing on prospects of getting enough steel to satisfy everyone, Martin added in a statement:

"Bear this in mind—such nationaliation has been suggested even on the floor of the United States Senate."

Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, bristled back in a statement of his own:

"It is simply amazing to me that anyone should suggest by inference or otherwise that United States Steel has a 'public be damned' attitude. Our attitude is, and always will continue to be, just the reverse."

Eugene Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Company, handed the committee a statement saying his company's policy always has been "a continuous one of enlarging facilities to care for the national economy."

Fairless and Grace both figured the steel scarcity will be over within two years—if a scrap shortage eases up, other matreials continue to be available and there are no long strikes.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 — (AP) — A 21-year-old mother was shot four times while she was getting breakfast and police issued an assault and shootin gwarrant for her estanged husband, picked up by Washington officers.

Despite the loss of considerable blood from two wounds in each thigh, Mrs. Gloria Bowen was reported in "fair" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The husband was identified as James Bowen, waiter in a downtown restaurant. Police said they had been estranged three months and Mrs. Bowen had sworn out a non-support warrant.

Proposed Traffic Changes Should Prove Beneficial

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has advanced his efforts to improve traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland to the stage of seeking authority from the Mayor and City Council to put into effect changes he believes will go a long way toward easing congestion on at least two principal thoroughfares.

Chief Flynn proposes to eliminate parking on North Mechanic Street from Baltimore to Bedford, and for a similar distance on Liberty Street. This will permit three lanes of traffic to move north and south on those streets, which will really be equivalent to the addition of two streets.

The plan, of course, will place a limit on the time and periods in which trucks might load and make deliveries to business houses within the three-lane area, while individuals, wishing to do business with any of the business houses in the affected sectors will be obliged to park their cars elsewhere and walk to their destinations.

Such a plan will, no doubt, cause some protests to be made by those who will feel they will be inconvenienced by such a move, but it should be borne in mind that hardly any progressive step is ever taken without restricting the privileges of some.

It is acknowledged by Chief Flynn and those cooperating with him in this program to speed the flow of traffic that it is not a cure-all, but few will deny the fact that it will be a step forward to better conditions until a more elaborate system, such as a crosstown viaduct would provide, can be realized.

In our opinion the inauguration of three-lane traffic on Mechanic Street should have been extended from Baltimore to Market Streets, at least, and that North Centre Street should have been included in the plan. Inasmuch, as Chief Flynn has said, that should the plan he has in mind not prove practical other methods will be tried, it is our belief that this greater distance against parking and for three lanes would provide a more definite insight into what might be required.

But the plan worked out by Mr. Flynn and his aides is a start, and it should receive the endorsement of the City Council with the necessary ordinance to put it into operation after the trial period starting Monday.

Workers Show Independence In Pennsylvania's Election

The Republican Party is feeling mighty happy over the results of the special election in the Eighth Pennsylvania District last Tuesday, when Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, GOP candidate, polled more than 47,000 votes, as against approximately 29,960 for Philip H. Storch, president of the Allentown CIO Newspaper Guild and bitter opponent of the Taft-Hartley law. Although Mr. Storch ran as a Democrat, it actually was a union campaign with the CIO taking over the battle.

It is very apparent the union politicians overplayed their hand in their desperate effort to prove through the ballot box that the Taft-Hartley law was as unpopular among workingmen as they have been claiming. In this they failed miserably. Judging from the size of the vote in this election as compared to that of the regular 1946 results, it seems certain that many union members voted the Republican ticket.

The Eighth Congressional District normally is Republican. Therefore the outcome was not a surprise. But the size of the victory was. And so was the voter turn-out. More than 75 percent of the registered voters of both parties went to the polls for this test of strength. Mr. Lichtenwalter polled 61.28 percent of the total, as against 59.28 per cent of the vote cast in the 1946 election when the late Charles L. Gerlach was elected.

The Eighth District, it should be pointed out, contains two counties—rural Bucks and industrial Lehigh. The real test came in the latter county, although the farmers in the former did go to the polls despite the busy harvesting season. Lehigh is strongly industrial, and Mr. Lichtenwalter not only carried it by more than 4700 votes, but he even took Mr. Storch's home voting precinct.

This was accomplished in spite of speakers representing the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who went into the District to denounce the Republican Congressional leadership and appeal to the electorate against what they called in shrill invective the "slave-labor act." The voters gave rapt attention to this campaign and then voted for the Republican candidate. The only conclusion to be drawn from the result is that workingmen are not of the opinion that the Taft-Hartley bill is a "slave-labor bill," but that it affords them greater freedom within union ranks.

The results of this election further demonstrate that the voters have not lost faith in the Republican Party, and that the Republican record in the 80th Congress meets with their approval.

"Spooks" Are Killers

It is surprising that there has been no serious movement to prohibit automobiles. Last year they killed 33,500 persons and injured another million. Few wars in history have caused so many casualties, and there has been talk of outlawing war.

The automobile death rate has gone down since Pearl Harbor. It was almost 40,000 in 1941. The main reason for the drop is that Americans drove fewer miles because of wartime shortages. When everyone gets that new car, the rate will resume its steady climb.

If this appalling casualty rate could have been foreseen 40 years ago, every state in the union might have forbidden the use of automobiles by its citizens. But such drastic measures are not necessary. The problem can be licked by regulation—or so it is hoped. The only question is how many more Americans will be killed or injured before the necessary steps are taken.

Most automobile deaths are caused by a small number of "accident-prone" drivers—sometimes called "spooks." The same persons have accident after accident. Yet the law permits them to drive. With casualties already at a rate of more than 1,000,000 a year, the chances that any individual will escape being hit by a "spook" are not very good.

The problem is to keep "spooks" from driving. And all efforts to that end seem to have been unavailing.

RINGWORM OF THE SKIN

THERE are somewhere between 50,000 and 75,000 species of fungi and many live as parasites on plants and animals. Some affect man and the most notorious is the ringworm group that involves principally the skin, scalp, and nails.

The organisms have favorite regions and the culprits that live between the toes differ from those that invade the trunk or scalp. As a result, there are five distinct diseases to which our outer coverings are susceptible. The word "tinea" means "ringworm" and many of the disorders are called by this name. Ringworm of the scalp is known as "tinea barbae;" of the smooth skin, "tinea glabrosa;" of the groin, "tinea cruris;" and of the nails or toes, "dermatophytosis."

The only type that produces a ringlike lesion is that which occurs on the skin. Children are the most frequent victims and since the infection is contagious, the disorder occasionally reaches epidemic proportions. Women may become infected from their youngsters but in general, adults are more prone to develop the other forms.

As a rule, ringworm of the skin starts as a tiny watery or scaly peasized lesion. If untreated, it extends outwardly in a circular fashion. Since most of the inflammation and flakiness appear at the edges where it seems to be growing, the central part clears somewhat. But the outer borders remain elevated and red and contain the greatest number of scales. One or more blemishes arise and circles may form upon one another, making various patterns. Itching is not unusual and may interfere with sleep.

Almost any part of the body can be affected. In youngsters, the face and neck are popular sites altho it is not unusual to have the condition begin in the armpits and extend over the chest. Now and then the extremities are involved. Usually spread of the eruption is slow and days or weeks may pass before perceptible differences are noted.

Most cases respond to ointments and salves but some are more stubborn. For this reason, many physicians suggest microscopic examination of the scales to determine which organism is responsible. In this way, they are able to tell in advance how much difficulty can be expected. In addition, diagnosis is more accurate as there are a few disorders, of an allied nature, which mimic the abnormality.

An ointment containing 3 per cent salicylic acid and 5 per cent ammoniated mercury will often eradicate the outbreak. The preparation is generally applied twice a day. As an alternate, a dilute solution (1 per cent) of tincture of iodine can be painted on the affected spot daily. X-ray exposures are helpful also, especially when conservative measures have failed. Propylene glycol dipropionate is one of the newer products.

Persistence is the keynote, regardless of the plan of treatment suggested. By dabbing on a little of this or that every now and then, the invaders are not killed and continue to flourish.

ALLERGY

M. M. writes: For three years I have been getting five attacks of poison ivy each year, even tho I have not been in the vicinity of the plant. My hands, eyelids, and ears swell so badly that my mother wants to send me to a hospital. Can I take shots to prevent it?

REPLY

Poison ivy is only one type of contact dermatitis. You apparently are allergic to some other irritant and should have skin tests to determine the culprit. It may be something you wear, touch, inhale, or swallow. I doubt if poison ivy is responsible in your case.

EQUANIMITY

Mrs. H. S. writes: Will you let me know how to build up a healthy servous system?

REPLY

Much depends upon the present state of the structure. Avoiding fatigue, keeping the body in good physical condition, and attempting to adjust to the environment are three of the best general rules that can be suggested.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Don't just stand there . . . break open your piggy bank. I just heard of a sensational little bargain you wouldn't want to miss. The Navy is auctioning off a slightly used battleship . . . so you folks with the big bath tubs get in line.

The Navy wanted to put the battleship in Central Park, but it was refused.

The sailors didn't object. It was their girls, who have to do the rowing, who refused.

No one has bought the ship as yet. It seems they're waiting for Mad Man Muntz to make an offer.

The auction has been very interesting, though, they had a little trouble keeping the people away. Especally Howard Hughes, who kept running up to it trying to attach a pair of wings to the bulkhead.

Of course, the Navy has made it plain that the ship can not be used for harmful purposes. This came about after they discovered that one of the bidders had plans to declare war on Catalina!

Well, if it can't be used for harmful purposes, that will at least keep the landlords from renting it out.

I heard that Tommy Dorsey wanted to buy it. But be changed his mind when he found out that Benny Goodman was looking for a second hand submarine.

Miss Vera Vague was the first to put in a bid . . . the poor girl was under the impression that the ship came with the sailors.

I would've bought it myself but it didn't fit on my radiator cap. Do I hear thirty? Going going.

OUR NEW PEST ERADICATOR

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was talking to an associate of Henry Kaiser, the big, breezy West Coast manufacturer.

"When Henry comes to town," remarked Forrestal, half-joking, half-serious, "we all know it, and we all so know he wants something. So we all gang up on him and determine he won't get it.

"But before he's finished, what he's after makes so much sense that usually he gets what he wants."

This week Kaiser was in town again, ringing office doorbells, badgering bureaucrats, trying to sell another idea—that we can't lick inflation until we have production, especially production of steel.

The idea is by no means new, but Henry has been pushing it harder than anyone else so far; also, he's come up with some potent figures. They are aimed to disprove the arguments of Big Steel that the nation has plenty of steel mills, can't afford to build more mills for fear of having idle plants on our hands later. This is the chief reason for the steel bottleneck today — Big Steel won't build new plants.

However, Kaiser has dug up figures to show that ever since 1901, the USA has built new steel plants at a rate which increased our production by an average of around 1,500,000 ingot tons per year. In other words, every year—except for two depression years—we have built new steel mills. We have been a growing, expanding, industrially progressive nation.

"Are we now to sit back complacently and tell ourselves that we won't continue to grow?"

This is the question brash, breezy Henry Kaiser has been asking bureaucrats this week. So far they haven't given him an answer.

Note—To get around arguments by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Inland, etc., that they can't afford to build new steel plants and have them idle after the current boom, Kaiser proposes: Let the steel companies take a tax depreciation on their new plants over only a five-year period—as with war plants, over only a five-year period—as with war plants. Then the capital expense of new mills would be partly borne by the Government through tax allowances.

Quick Romance

Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, charming widow of the late U. S. Minister to Canada, was seated at dinner beside Stanton Griffis, newly appointed U. S. Ambassador to Poland.

Ambassador Griffis was telling Mrs. Robbins about his problem of getting a house to live in in Warsaw and how to get servants to run it. Mrs. Robbins, a cousin by marriage of FDR, and who had lived all over the world with her late diplomat-husband, gave many helpful suggestions.

Finally, Ambassador Griffis, fascinated by Mrs. Robbins' charm, Jokingly remarked:

"Why, you're just the person I'm looking for. How about marrying me and going to Poland to run my Embassy?"

Facetiously, Mrs. Robbins accepted.

Sitting near them at the table was Camile Gutt of Belgium, Managing Director of the International Monetary Fund. As the dinner broke up, he remarked to Mrs. Robbins:

"I hope you have a lovely trip to Poland, and my congratulations on your impending marriage."

Gentleman From Kentucky

This column ordinarily does not comment on the private lives or habits of Congressmen. What they do in their own homes or in private does not necessarily concern the public.

However, what a Congressman does on an official trip, taken at the taxpayers' expense, and when he represents not only his constituents but the Government of the United States, is a matter for public scrutiny and comment. Should a U. S. Ambasador make a spectacle of himself publicly while on a foreign mission, the public has a right to know about it. Likewise with a Congressman.

Such an unfortunate incident occurred with Democratic Congressman Virgil Chapman during a recent Congressional inspection trip through Alaska. The gentleman from Kentucky fell so lamentably below Kentucky standards when it came to holding his liquor that once he failed to show up at an official Nome luncheon and was taken off to the hospital.

Finally, embarrassed colleagues decided to try to keep liquor away from Chapman. This required tact and intrigue.

Once, in a public lounge, when Chapman shouted for a drink, thoughtful Rep. Leonard Hall, New York Republican, hastily offered to buy it. Then, after whispering to the understanding barkeeper, Hall pounded on the bar and, with mock anger, snorted:

"Let's go back to our hotel room. The service here is terrible."

Chapman agreed to retire to his own room, much to the relief of colleagues.

Note—Asked by this column if he had any comment or explanation to make of his Alaskan trip, Congressman Chapman almost burned up the telephone wire. "It's a pack of lies," he shouted. "If the story is printed, I am holding you personally responsible."

State Department Military

One question raised regarding General Marshall when he was appointed Secretary of State was whether the State Department might become militarized. While Marshall has leaned over backward to accept the civilian viewpoint, it's also a fact that more and more colonels and generals have entered his department.

Many are able, conscientious public servants. However, it's proper that the public know how many military men have moved into the State Department. Here is the lineup:

Gen. Charles Saltzman—Assistant Secretary in Charge of Occupied Countries. He replaces Gen. John Hilldring.

Gen. J. K. Crane—In Office of Occupied Countries.

Gen. Conrad E. Snow—Office of Legal Adviser.

Gen. Marshal Carter—Part of Marshall's secretariat. Sits outside Secretary of State's office to handle appointments.

Col. Ernest Gross—Office of Legal Adviser.

Col. Carl Hummelsine—Marshall's secretariat.

Col. W. W. Chapman, Jr.—Office of Administration.

Col. Stanley R. O'Rear—Office of Department of Administration.

Maj. Floyd W. McCoy—Chief of Division of Dept. of Personnel.

Col. Dean Rusk—Director of Office of United Nations Affairs.

Col. William A. Eddy—Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence.

GOP Nomination Lies Among Dewey, Taft And Vandenberg

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—There's one event the public-opinion polls are not likely to forecast by asking the voters and that's the probable selection of a Republican candidate for the presidency.

This is because the rank and file of the voters do not do the choosing. The process of picking a nominee is primarily the task of delegates—usually those picked by existing political organizations.

Senator Taft and Governor Dewey know this all too well. That's wry they have been swinging around the country talking to local political leaders. For the pre-convention contest is on in earnest and there are only remote contingencies which could bring about the nomination of a newcomer to the ranks of politics, such as General Eisenhower or General MacArthur.

The Republican nomination lies today between Governor Dewey, Senator Taft and Senator Vandenberg. One of these three will be the G.O.P. nominee unless Republican prospects have sunk to such a low point by June 1948 that, in sheer desperation, the Republicans grasp for a well-known name and popular personality like General Eisenhower as a measure of last resort.

Public-Opinion Polls

Public-opinion polls can, however, play an important part in influencing a substantial minority of the prospective delegates to the convention. Thus Senator Taft's chances today are reflected by the Roper Poll to be less than those of either Governor Dewey or Senator Vandenberg when the poll-takers ask how the voter would cast his ballot for any one of these three as against President Truman.

The basic desire of the delegates is for a candidate who can win. If they make up their minds that a certain man cannot win they may go to the convention pledged to him but they are then ready to switch almost immediately to someone else who they think can win.

Thus the special election in Pennsylvania this week which showed such an unprecedented margin for the Republican party gives great hope to the Taft supporters. If a party is stronger than any prospective nominee, it means that almost anyone satisfactory to the local political leaders of the country can be chosen.

Senator Taft has more real strength among the party leaders and organizations than has Governor Dewey. This is because Mr. Taft is looked upon as closer to the conservative side while Governor Dewey is regarded as opportunistically liberal. The latter characteristic is perhaps more of a vote-getting factor after a convention than it is a delegate gatherer before the convention is held.

The Republican Party leaders by and large, have, moreover, a stronger attachment for Senator Vandenberg than for Governor Dewey. If the election looks like a walkaway, Senator Taft will be nominated. If he can't be, the Taft strength will go to Senator Vandenberg and if the need is for the standard-bearers of the so-called "liberal" variety then a Dewey-Stassen ticket would seem to be indicated.

Where Does It Leave Dark Horse

Where does this leave a dark horse like General Eisenhower or General MacArthur? Only if President Truman's popularity curve in the polls shows that he is way out in front as against Taft, Dewey or Vandenberg will a "draft Eisenhower" movement get real momentum. General MacArthur is the great hero of World War II, but he isn't known to the rank and file politicians. General Eisenhower has friends in every state and undoubtedly would be given as powerful support as Willkie got in 1940 if the feeling became widespread that neither Taft nor Vandenberg nor Dewey could possibly win.

The Pennsylvania special election doesn't give much encouragement to the idea that a draft of an outsider will be needed. Most Republican leaders will take that election to mean they can proceed as usual to name the man the local party chiefs really want—someone who has been in politics and knows the ropes.

Much can happen between now and June 1948 to alter the situation. If in the next nine months the Republicans do not succeed in disintegrating the political strength and potentiality of President Truman, they may be in the market for a well-known name after all, even though the name carries no political background.

Keystone State Election One In Series Toward National Trend

By MARK SULLIVAN

As an event standing alone, the Republican victory in the 8th Pennsylvania District, so extraordinary as to be almost sensational, justifies the immediate attention paid to it. Likewise, this election has a high and special importance of its own because of its internal effect on the national Democratic Party, due to the part played in it by the Party's left wing, as symbolized by the fact that the Democratic candidate was a member of CIO.

Nevertheless interpretation of this special election in Pennsylvania, as bearing on the Presidential election next year, must look upon it as one in a series. It is the sum of the series which composes a trend.

After the regular Congressional elections last November there had been several special elections to fill vacancies. Those in the South and one in a Maryland district could not be regarded as having a bearing on the nation-wide trend between the parties. But there had been three that could, in Michigan, Wisconsin and Washington. All had been won by the Republicans. But there were conditions that made the results negative. In the Michigan district the Republican vote was the highest percentage of the total they ever cast. But inference from this was marred by extreme smallness of the total vote. Persons experienced in examining election figures and percentages and precedent in order to find national trends, felt that the special elections so far held had "not been enough to show a clear trend." The quoted words are ones in which this column described the condition on the eve of the Pennsylvania election last Tuesday.

Shows Republican Trend

The Pennsylvania special election, as an addition to the ones already held, may be said to show Republican trend, rather convincingly. But all have been held during ten months following the Congressional elections last November — and there remain fourteen months until the Presidential election next year. There will be other special elections, one is already assured by a recent vacancy in an Indiana district. It is possible for future special elections to change the present indication of a Republican trend. Special Congressional elections, as indexes to a future Presidential election, are convincing in proportion to their nearness to the Presidential election they are supposed to be auguries of.

All this is search for a trend in a short-term period, the two years between the Congressional election last November and the Presidetial one next year. It will be more fruitful to make the search on a long-range basis, in terms of the cycle of alternations of Democratic and Republican ascendancy.

The Democrats were in power in Congress and in the Presidency for 13 years beginning in 1933. Then, in the election last year, they lost control of Congress. That was looked upon as a turning point in the political cycle. It was assumed that the Republican success in the Congressional elections of 1936 was an augury of similar success in the Presidential election next year, and that the Republicans would take their turn in the cycle.

Strong Basis In Precedent

For this assumption there is extremely strong basis in precedent. The history of American politics for more than half a century past has been a record of alternating tides, first a Democratic one, then a Republican one, and so on. The length of the tides has been from two Presidential terms to four. The fact that the Democrats, after the Presidential election next year, will have had four terms in the Presidency, is in itself a sign of the tide turning.

Within this indication of trend is another, which may be stated thus: When, in the middle of a Presidential term, the party out of power wins control of Congress, it follows that the same party wins the ensuing Presidential election. By this precedent, often repeated, the victory of the Republicans in the Congressional elections last November pointed toward victory in the Presidential election next year.

To contradict the portent of the Congressional elections last year would be to assume that that was only a riffle in the tide, not a turn of it and that the Democratic tide will resume next year. For that assumption there is literally no precedent in modern American political history. The contrary asumption, that the Republicans will next year complete their control of the government, is supported by every precedent.

There is a saying that all signs fail in stormy weather, and truly this is stormy weather, in America and the world. But what has been proved during the period of storm already past is the vitality of the American two-party system, its traditions and usages. It has survived 18 years of turmoil, both political and economic, since the economic collapse in 1929.

THESE DAYS

Memory Book

THE other day when I was up on Mount Greylock I could not help wondering how much the huge monuments we erect to the memory of our warriors mean to succeeding generations. There stands this tower, rain and frost doing their damage. It was undoubtedly erected with enthusiasm, but somehow it is as impersonal as an ancient Greek ruin. Yet, we do want to honor not only those who gave their lives but also those who expended their years in the service of their country.

From Zanesville, Ohio, comes to me a Memory Book, "a graphic record and tribute to service men and women in Muskingum County." The book was compiled by "The Times Recorder" and "The Zanesville Signal." I do not know how many other counties and cities of the United States have published similar volumes, but this is the only one that has come to my attention. It gives the list of all who took part in the war from Muskingum County, with photographs of the living and dead. But there are other pictures that several years from now will be most interesting, as for instance, the Local Selective Service Boards.

These boards were a distinctively American institution. They were local. They were voluntary. They were unpaid. They were American citizens serving their country with emphasis on the community as the center of authority. Their services will be forgotten; yet, in such a memory book as this, their work will live as long as a single volume remains on a library shelf. And it is worthy of record that citizens rather than officials selected the quota of soldiers from each community.

There is dispute as to who inspired "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." According to this book, Chaplain Howell Forgy, a Muskingum man, spoke the line and inspired the one vital song that came out of this last war. And it was a happy inspiration in a war that somehow produced few songs, no great poems, no overwhelming monuments.

And finally there is the long list of boys and girls, their names, their services, their ratings, the theaters in which they did their fighting. When 20 years later, the son asks, "Dad, what did you do in the war?" father will give him the book to read. It will mean a lot to father and son. It will mean infinitely more should we have the misfortune to go to war again

I cite this book, "Muskingum County Men and Women in World War II" because it is one sound way to make a permanent record of the services of the American people for their country. It is a grand way to do it. It is contemporary history. It keeps memory green. And it must mean more to the parents who lost their sons than anything in granite or marble could.

In this war, too little was done to stir the imagination of the American people. There were few parades; little band music; hardly any patriotic speeches; almost no indoctrination of the troops to realize that they were serving their own country—the best on Earth. Somehow the Army got itself snafued in cosmic doctrines, philosophies of world changes and world orders, and how much better our allies were than this country is—particularly how much better Soviet Russia is.

So the soldiers came back wondering what it was all about. They were frightfully disillusioned. The Army, more than the Navy, was particularly unpopular, Army public relations having been inadequate for its purpose. Our heroes were played down until war come a boresome chore rather than an act of service to their country. Of course, in time, most veterans forgot their grips and spoke more appreciatively of their generals. Perspective helped them realize the importance of what they did. They now know they served their country.

Such a book as the one from Zanesville will keep that knowledge fresh for these boys and girls. They will speak of their services and go back to the volume for verification of little details. They will remember that they are not veterans; they are Americans—at service for their country in peace as in war.

Today's Talk

Fifth Avenue Vs. Weskawenaak

Soon I shall leave the rockbound coast of by beautiful Nova Scotia island retreat, and already I have begun to contrast it with what I shall find upon my return to Fifth Avenue, and environs. I shall miss the clear, crystal-like air and its smell of pine and mossy earth. No little bouncing bodies with fury tails will be at 444 Madison Avenue to beg their peanuts!

There will be no carpet of Wintergreen, or mossy tread for Fifth Avenue, and not even Tiffany's will have more exquisite designs in their elaborate cases than what I have gathered all these summer weeks along the shores of Grand Lake—delicate Wood Aster, Ladies' Tresses, Pogonia (Snake-Mouth), Pearly Everlasting, and a total of nearly thirty varieties familiar to me as my flowered friends.

Thoreau called these creations of Nature the children of an ecstasy, finished with the artist's utmost skill."

Here at Weskawenaak, Nature has all its arms outstretched with some gift or surprise. Berries for bird, beast and [illegible] berries—lavish with the latter this year. If you could [illegible] Avenue—which you would not—they would have to be imported! You just have to separate them from the bushes here.

There is a fragrance to the burning logs in the open fire of my Lodge that no Fifth Avenue perfumery shop could equal. And memories leap from the flames and slumber consolingly with the last bright embers as they finally die away into the night. Nothing interrupts the sylvan silence here. What would Fifth Avenue give to own such silence just for five minutes!

Nature keeps coming back. You can't down her. Injure her tree and she will repair it herself. Cut it down in its youth, and many a new shoot will spring from its roots to start all over again. Let an accident happen in the city and you will have a hurry-up call immediately for the plumber or carpenter.

The stones and mantel to my open fireplace came from the shore of the island itself, which has a body of solid and broken rock thousands of years old, and I didn't have to send to the furniture shop for my writing table. I made it myself from a tree and some after-cer hardwood flooring. Nothing is wasted here—not even a minute of the day or night. Everything is used to some purpose.

Proposed Traffic Changes Should Prove Beneficial

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn has advanced his efforts to improve traffic conditions in downtown Cumberland to the stage of seeking authority from the Mayor and City Council to put into effect changes he believes will go a long way toward easing congestion on at least two principal thoroughfares.

Chief Flynn proposes to eliminate parking on North Mechanic Street from Baltimore to Bedford, and for a similar distance on Liberty Street. This will permit three lanes of traffic to move north and south on those streets, which will really be equivalent to the addition of two streets.

The plan, of course, will place a limit on the time and periods in which trucks might load and make deliveries to business houses within the three-lane area, while individuals, wishing to do business with any of the business houses in the affected sectors will be obliged to park their cars elsewhere and walk to their destinations.

Such a plan will, no doubt, cause some protests to be made by those who will feel they will be inconvenienced by such a move, but it should be borne in mind that hardly any progressive step is ever taken without restricting the privileges of some.

It is acknowledged by Chief Flynn and those cooperating with him in this program to speed the flow of traffic that it is not a cure-all, but few will deny the fact that it will be a step forward to better conditions until a more elaborate system, such as a crosstown viaduct would provide, can be realized.

In our opinion the inauguration of three-lane traffic on Mechanic Street should have been extended from Baltimore to Market Streets, at least, and that North Centre Street should have been included in the plan. Inasmuch, as Chief Flynn has said, that should the plan he has in mind not prove practical other methods will be tried, it is our belief that this greater distance against parking and for three lanes would provide a more definite insight into what might be required.

But the plan worked out by Mr. Flynn and his aides is a start, and it should receive the endorsement of the City Council with the necessary ordinance to put it into operation after the trial period starting Monday.

Workers Show Independence In Pennsylvania's Election

The Republican Party is feeling mighty happy over the results of the special election in the Eighth Pennsylvania District last Tuesday, when Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, GOP candidate, polled more than 47,000 votes, as against approximately 29,960 for Philip H. Storch, president of the Allentown CIO Newspaper Guild and bitter opponent of the Taft-Hartley law. Although Mr. Storch ran as a Democrat, it actually was a union campaign with the CIO taking over the battle.

It is very apparent the union politicians overplayed their hand in their desperate effort to prove through the ballot box that the Taft-Hartley law was as unpopular among workingmen as they have been claiming. In this they failed miserably. Judging from the size of the vote in this election as compared to that of the regular 1946 results, it seems certain that many union members voted the Republican ticket.

The Eighth Congressional District normally is Republican. Therefore the outcome was not a surprise. But the size of the victory was. And so was the voter turn-out. More than 75 percent of the registered voters of both parties went to the polls for this test of strength. Mr. Lichtenwalter polled 61.28 percent of the total, as against 59.28 per cent of the vote cast in the 1946 election when the late Charles L. Gerlach was elected.

The Eighth District, it should be pointed out, contains two counties—rural Bucks and industrial Lehigh. The real test came in the latter county, although the farmers in the former did go to the polls despite the busy harvesting season. Lehigh is strongly industrial, and Mr. Lichtenwalter not only carried it by more than 4700 votes, but he even took Mr. Storch's home voting precinct.

This was accomplished in spite of speakers representing the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who went into the District to denounce the Republican Congressional leadership and appeal to the electorate against what they called in shrill invective the "slave-labor act." The voters gave rapt attention to this campaign and then voted for the Republican candidate. The only conclusion to be drawn from the result is that workingmen are not of the opinion that the Taft-Hartley bill is a "slave-labor bill," but that it affords them greater freedom within union ranks.

The results of this election further demonstrate that the voters have not lost faith in the Republican Party, and that the Republican record in the 80th Congress meets with their approval.

"Spooks" Are Killers

It is surprising that there has been no serious movement to prohibit automobiles. Last year they killed 33,500 persons and injured another million. Few wars in history have caused so many casualties, and there has been talk of outlawing war.

The automobile death rate has gone down since Pearl Harbor. It was almost 40,000 in 1941. The main reason for the drop is that Americans drove fewer miles because of wartime shortages. When everyone gets that new car, the rate will resume its steady climb.

If this appalling casualty rate could have been foreseen 40 years ago, every state in the union might have forbidden the use of automobiles by its citizens. But such drastic measures are not necessary. The problem can be licked by regulation—or so it is hoped. The only question is how many more Americans will be killed or injured before the necessary steps are taken.

Most automobile deaths are caused by a small number of "accident-prone" drivers—sometimes called "spooks." The same persons have accident after accident. Yet the law permits them to drive. With casualties already at a rate of more than 1,000,000 a year, the chances that any individual will escape being hit by a "spook" are not very good.

The problem is to keep "spooks" from driving. And all efforts to that end seem to have been unavailing.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

RINGWORM OF THE SKIN

THERE are somewhere between 50,000 and 75,000 species of fungi and many live as parasites on plants and animals. Some affect man and the most notorious is the ringworm group that involves principally the skin, scalp, and nails.

The organisms have favorite regions and the culprits that live between the toes differ from those that invade the trunk or scalp. As a result, there are five distinct diseases to which our outer coverings are susceptible. The word "tinea" means "ringworm" and many of the disorders are called by this name. Ringworm of the scalp is known as "tinea barbae;" of the smooth skin, "tinea glabrosa;" of the groin, "tinea cruris;" and of the nails or toes, "dermatophytosis."

The only type that produces a ringlike lesion is that which occurs on the skin. Children are the most frequent victims and since the infection is contagious, the disorder occasionally reaches epidemic proportions. Women may become infected from their youngsters but in general, adults are more prone to develop the other forms.

As a rule, ringworm of the skin starts as a tiny watery or scaly peasized lesion. If untreated, it extends outwardly in a circular fashion. Since most of the inflammation and flakiness appear at the edges where it seems to be growing, the central part clears somewhat. But the outer borders remain elevated and red and contain the greatest number of scales. One or more blemishes arise and circles may form upon one another, making various patterns. Itching is not unusual and may interfere with sleep.

Almost any part of the body can be affected. In youngsters, the face and neck are popular sites altho it is not unusual to have the condition begin in the armpits and extend over the chest. Now and then the extremities are involved. Usually spread of the eruption is slow and days or weeks may pass before perceptible differences are noted.

Most cases respond to ointments and salves but some are more stubborn. For this reason, many physicians suggest microscopic examination of the scales to determine which organism is responsible. In this way, they are able to tell in advance how much difficulty can be expected. In addition, diagnosis is more accurate as there are a few disorders, of an allied nature, which mimic the abnormality.

An ointment containing 3 per cent salicylic acid and 5 per cent ammoniated mercury will often eradicate the outbreak. The preparation is generally applied twice a day. As an alternate, a dilute solution (1 per cent) of tincture of iodine can be painted on the affected spot daily. X-ray exposures are helpful also, especially when conservative measures have failed. Propylene glycol dipropionate is one of the newer products.

Persistence is the keynote, regardless of the plan of treatment suggested. By dabbing on a little of this or that every now and then, the invaders are not killed and continue to flourish.

ALLERGY

M. M. writes: For three years I have been getting five attacks of poison ivy each year, even tho I have not been in the vicinity of the plant. My hands, eyelids, and ears swell so badly that my mother wants to send me to a hospital. Can I take shots to prevent it?

REPLY

Poison ivy is only one type of contact dermatitis. You apparently are allergic to some other irritant and should have skin tests to determine the culprit. It may be something you wear, touch, inhale, or swallow. I doubt if poison ivy is responsible in your case.

EQUANIMITY

Mrs. H. S. writes: Will you let me know how to build up a healthy servous system?

REPLY

Much depends upon the present state of the structure. Avoiding fatigue, keeping the body in good physical condition, and attempting to adjust to the environment are three of the best general rules that can be suggested.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Don't just stand there . . . break open your piggy bank. I just heard of a sensational little bargain you wouldn't want to miss. The Navy is auctioning off a slightly used battleship . . . so you folks with the big bath tubs get in line.

The Navy wanted to put the battleship in Central Park, but it was refused.

The sailors didn't object. It was their girls, who have to do the rowing, who refused.

No one has bough* the ship as yet. It seems they're waiting for Mad Man Muntz to make an offer.

The auction has been very interesting, though, they had a little trouble keeping the people away. Especally Howard Hughes, who kept running up to it trying to attach a pair of wings to the bulkhead.

Of course, the Navy has made it plain that the ship can not be used for harmful purposes. This came about after they discovered that one of the bidders had plans to declare war on Catalina!

Well, if it can't be used for harmful purposes, that will at least keep the landlords from renting it out.

I heard that Tommy Dorsey wanted to buy it. But be changed his mind when he found out that Benny Goodman was looking for a second hand submarine.

Miss Vera Vague was the first to put in a bid . . . the poor girl was under the impression that the ship came with the sailors.

I would've bought it myself but it didn't fit on my radiator cap. Do I hear thirty? Going going.

OUR NEW PEST ERADICATOR

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was talking to an associate of Henry Kaiser, the big, breezy West Coast manufacturer.

"When Henry comes to town," remarked Forrestal, half-joking, half-serious, "we all know it, and we all so know he wants something. So we all gang up on him and determine he won't get it.

"But before he's finished, what he's after makes so much sense that usually he gets what he wants."

This week Kaiser was in town again, ringing office doorbells, badgering bureaucrats, trying to sell another idea—that we can't lick inflation until we have production, especially production of steel.

The idea is by no means new, but Henry has been pushing it harder than anyone else so far; also, he's come up with some potent figures. They are aimed to disprove the arguments of Big Steel that the nation has plenty of steel mills, can't afford to build more mills for fear of having idle plants on our hands later. This is the chief reason for the steel bottleneck today — Big Steel won't build new plants.

However, Kaiser has dug up figures to show that ever since 1901, the USA has built new steel plants at a rate which increased our production by an average of around 1,500,000 ingot tons per year. In other words, every year—except for two depression years—we have built new steel mills. We have been a growing, expanding, industrially progressive nation.

"Are we now to sit back complacently and tell ourselves that we won't continue to grow?"

This is the question brash, breezy Henry Kaiser has been asking bureaucrats this week. So far they haven't given him an answer.

Note—To get around arguments by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Inland, etc., that they can't afford to build new steel plants and have them idle after the current boom, Kaiser proposes: Let the steel companies take a tax depreciation on their new plants over only a five-year period—as with war plants, over only a five-year period—as with war plants. Then the capital expense of new mills would be partly borne by the Government through tax allowances.

Quick Romance

Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, charming widow of the late U. S. Minister to Canada, was seated at dinner beside Stanton Griffis, newly appointed U. S. Ambassador to Poland.

Ambassador Griffis was telling Mrs. Robbins about his problem of getting a house to live in in Warsaw and how to get servants to run it. Mrs. Robbins, a cousin by marriage of FDR, and who had lived all over the world with her late diplomat-husband, gave many helpful suggestions.

Finally, Ambassador Griffis, fascinated by Mrs. Robbins' charm, Jokingly remarked:

"Why, you're just the person I'm looking for. How about marrying me and going to Poland to run my Embassy?"

Facetiously, Mrs. Robbins accepted.

Sitting near them at the table was Camile Gutt of Belgium, Managing Director of the International Monetary Fund. As the dinner broke up, he remarked to Mrs. Robbins:

"I hope you have a lovely trip to Poland, and my congratulations on your impending marriage."

Gentleman From Kentucky

This column ordinarily does not comment on the private lives or habits of Congressmen. What they do in their own homes or in private does not necessarily concern the public.

However, what a Congressman does on an official trip, taken at the taxpayers' expense, and when he represents not only his constituents but the Government of the United States, is a matter for public scrutiny and comment. Should a U. S. Ambasador make a spectacle of himself publicly while on a foreign mission, the public has a right to know about it. Likewise with a Congressman.

Such an unfortunate incident occurred with Democratic Congressman Virgil Chapman during a recent Congressional inspection trip through Alaska. The gentleman from Kentucky fell so lamentably below Kentucky standards when it came to holding his liquor that once he failed to show up at an official Nome luncheon and was taken off to the hospital.

Finally, embarrassed colleagues decided to try to keep liquor away from Chapman. This required tact and intrigue.

Once, in a public lounge, when Chapman shouted for a drink, thoughtful Rep. Leonard Hall, New York Republican, hastily offered to buy it. Then, after whispering to the understanding barkeeper, Hall pounded on the bar and, with mock anger, snorted:

"Let's go back to our hotel room. The service here is terrible."

Chapman agreed to retire to his own room, much to the relief of colleagues.

Note—Asked by this column if he had any comment or explanation to make of his Alaskan trip, Congressman Chapman almost burned up the telephone wire. "It's a pack of lies," he shouted. "If the story is printed, I am holding you personally responsible."

State Department Military

One question raised regarding General Marshall when he was appointed Secretary of State was whether the State Department might become militarized. While Marshall has leaned over backward to accept the civilian viewpoint, it's also a fact that more and more colonels and generals have entered his department.

Many are able, conscientious public servants. However, it's proper that the public know how many military men have moved into the State Department. Here is the lineup:

Gen. Charles Saltzman—Assistant Secretary in Charge of Occupied Countries. He replaces Gen. John Hilldring.

Gen. J. K. Crane—In Office of Occupied Countries.

Gen. Conrad E. Snow—Office of Legal Adviser.

Gen. Marshal Carter—Part of Marshall's secretariat. Sits outside Secretary of State's office to handle appointments.

Col. Ernest Gross—Office of Legal Adviser.

Col. Carl Hummelsine—Marshall's secretariat.

Col. W. W. Chapman, Jr.—Office of Administration.

Col. Stanley R. O'Rear—Office of Department of Administration.

Maj. Floyd W. McCoy—Chief of Division of Dept. of Personnel.

Col. Dean Rusk—Director of Office of United Nations Affairs.

Col. William A. Eddy—Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence.

GOP Nomination Lies Among Dewey, Taft And Vandenberg

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—There's one event the public-opinion polls are not likely to forecast by asking the voters and that's the probable selection of a Republican candidate for the presidency.

This is because the rank and file of the voters do not do the choosing. The process of picking a nominee is primarily the task of delegates—usually those picked by existing political organizations.

Senator Taft and Governor Dewey know this all too well. That's wry they have been swinging around the country talking to local political leaders. For the pre-convention contest is on in earnest and there are only remote contingencies which could bring about the nomination of a newcomer to the ranks of politics, such as General Eisenhower or General MacArthur.

The Republican nomination lies today between Governor Dewey, Senator Taft and Senator Vandenberg. One of these three will be the G.O.P. nominee unless Republican prospects have sunk to such a low point by June 1948 that, in sheer desperation, the Republicans grasp for a well-known name and popular personality like General Eisenhower as a measure of last resort.

Public-Opinion Polls

Public-opinion polls can, however, play an important part in influencing a substantial minority of the prospective delegates to the convention. Thus Senator Taft's chances today are reflected by the Roper Poll to be less than those of either Governor Dewey or Senator Vandenberg when the poll-takers ask how the voter would cast his ballot for any one of these three as against President Truman.

The basic desire of the delegates is for a candidate who can win. If they make up their minds that a certain man cannot win they may go to the convention pledged to him but they are then ready to switch almost immediately to someone else who they think can win.

Thus the special election in Pennsylvania this week which showed such an unprecedented margin for the Republican party gives great hope to the Taft supporters. If a party is stronger than any prospective nominee, it means that almost anyone satisfactory to the local political leaders of the country can be chosen.

Senator Taft has more real strength among the party leaders and organizations than has Governor Dewey. This is because Mr. Taft is looked upon as closer to the conservative side while Governor Dewey is regarded as opportunistically liberal. The latter characteristic is perhaps more of a vote-getting factor after a convention than it is a delegate gatherer before the convention is held.

The Republican Party leaders by and large, have, moreover, a stronger attachment for Senator Vandenberg than for Governor Dewey. If the election looks like a walkaway, Senator Taft will be nominated. If he can't be, the Taft strength will go to Senator Vandenberg and if the need is for the standard-bearers of the so-called "liberal" variety then a Dewey-Stassen ticket would seem to be indicated.

Where Does It Leave Dark Horse

Where does this leave a dark horse like General Eisenhower or General MacArthur? Only if President Truman's popularity curve in the polls shows that he is way out in front as against Taft, Dewey or Vandenberg will a "draft Eisenhower" movement get real momentum. General MacArthur is the great hero of World War II, but he isn't known to the rank and file politicians. General Eisenhower has friends in every state and undoubtedly would be given as powerful support as Willkie got in 1940 if the feeling became widespread that neither Taft nor Vandenberg nor Dewey could possibly win.

The Pennsylvania special election doesn't give much encouragement to the idea that a draft of an outsider will be needed. Most Republican leaders will take that election to mean they can proceed as usual to name the man the local party chiefs really want—someone who has been in politics and knows the ropes.

Much can happen between now and June 1948 to alter the situation. If in the next nine months the Republicans do not succeed in disintegrating the political strength and potentiality of President Truman, they may be in the market for a well-known name after all, even though the name carries no political background.

Keystone State Election One In Series Toward National Trend

By MARK SULLIVAN

As an event standing alone, the Republican victory in the 8th Pennsylvania District, so extraordinary as to be almost sensational, justifies the immediate attention paid to it. Likewise, this election has a high and special importance of its own because of its internal effect on the national Democratic Party, due to the part played in it by the Party's left wing, as symbolized by the fact that the Democratic candidate was a member of CIO.

Nevertheless interpretation of this special election in Pennsylvania, as bearing on the Presidential election next year, must look upon it as one in a series. It is the sum of the series which composes a trend.

After the regular Congressional elections last November there had been several special elections to fill vacancies. Those in the South and one in a Maryland district could not be regarded as having a bearing on the nation-wide trend between the parties. But there had been three that could, in Michigan, Wisconsin and Washington. All had been won by the Republicans. But there were conditions that made the results negative. In the Michigan district the Republican vote was the highest percentage of the total they ever cast. But inference from this was marred by extreme smallness of the total vote. Persons experienced in examining election figures and percentages and precedent in order to find national trends, felt that the special elections so far held had "not been enough to show a clear trend." The quoted words are ones in which this column described the condition on the eve of the Pennsylvania election last Tuesday.

Shows Republican Trend

The Pennsylvania special election, as an addition to the ones already held, may be said to show Republican trend, rather convincingly. But all have been held during ten months following the Congressional elections last November — and there remain fourteen months until the Presidential election next year. There will be other special elections, one is already assured by a recent vacancy in an Indiana district. It is possible for future special elections to change the present indication of a Republican trend. Special Congressional elections, as indexes to a future Presidential election, are convincing in proportion to their nearness to the Presidential election they are supposed to be auguries of.

All this is search for a trend in a short-term period, the two years between the Congressional election last November and the Presidential one next year. It will be more fruitful to make the search on a long-range basis, in terms of the cycle of alternations of Democratic and Republican ascendancy.

The Democrats were in power in Congress and in the Presidency for 13 years beginning in 1933. Then, in the election last year, they lost control of Congress. That was looked upon as a turning point in the political cycle. It was assumed that the Republican success in the Congressional elections of 1936 was a augury of similar success in the Presidential election next year, and that the Republicans would take their turn in the cycle.

Strong Basis In Precedent

For this assumption there is extremely strong basis in precedent. The history of American politic for more than half a century past has been a record of alternating tides, first a Democratic one, then a Republican one, and so on. The length of the tides has been from two Presidential terms to four. The fact that the Democrats, after the Presidential election next year, will have had four terms in the Presidency, is in itself a sign of the tide turning.

Within this indicaton of trend is another, which may be stated thus: When, in the middle of a Presidential term, the party out of power wins control of Congress, it follows that the same party wins the ensuing Presidential dection. By this precedent, often repeated, the victory of the Republicans in the Congressional elections last November pointed toward victory in the Presidential election next year.

To contradict the portent of the Congressional electons last year would be to assume that that was only a riffle in the tide, not a turn of it and that the Democratic tide will resume next year. For that assumption there is literally no precedent in modern American political history. The contrary asumption, that the Republicans will next year complete their control of the government, is supported by every precedent.

There is a saying that all signs fail in stormy weather, and truly this is stormy weather in America and the world. But what has been proved during the period of storm already past is the vitality of the American two-party system, its traditions and usages. It has survived 18 years of turmoil, both political and economic, since the economic collapse in 1929.

And it is worthy of record that citizens rather than officials selected the quota of soldiers from each community.

There is dispute as to who inspired "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." According to this book, Chaplain Howell Forgy, a Muskingum man, spoke the line and inspired the one vital song that came out of this last war. And it was a happy inspiration in a war that somehow produced few songs, no great poems, no overwhelming monuments.

And finally there is the long list of boys and girls, their names, their services, their ratings, the theaters in which they did their fighting. When 20 years later, the son asks, "Dad, what did you do in the war?" father will give him the book to read. It will mean a lot to father and son. It will mean infinitely more should we have the misfortune to go to war again.

I cite this book, "Muskingum County Men and Women in World War II" because it is one sound way to make a permanent record of the services of the American people for their country. It is a grand way to do it. It is contemporary history. It keeps memory green. And it must mean more to the parents who lost their sons than anything in granite or marble could.

In this war, too little was done to stir the imagination of the American people. There were few parades; little band music; hardly any patriotic speeches; almost no indoctrination of the troops to realize that they were serving their own country—the best on Earth. Somehow the Army got itself snafued in cosmic doctrines, philosophies of world changes and world orders, and how much better our allies were than this country is—particularly how much better Soviet Russia is.

So the soldiers came back wondering what it was all about. They were frightfully disillusioned. The Army, more than the Navy, was particularly unpopular, Army public relations having been inadequate for its purpose. Our heroes were played down until war became a boresome chore rather than an act of service to their country. Of course, in time, most veterans forget their grips and spoke more appreciatively of their generals. Perspective helped them realize the importance of what they did. They now know they served their country.

Such a book as the one from Zanesville will keep that knowledge fresh for these boys and girls. They will speak of their services and go back to the volume for verification of little details. They will remember that they are not veterans; they are Americans—at service for their country in peace as in war.

Fifth Avenue Vs. Weskawenaak

Soon I shall leave the rockbound coast of by beautiful Nova Scotia island retreat, and already I have begun to contrast it with what I shall find upon my return to Fifth Avenue, and environs. I shall miss the clear, crystal-like air and its smell of pine and mossy earth. No little bouncing bodies with fury tails will be at 444 Madison Avenue to beg their peanuts!

There will be no carpet of Whitergreen, or mossy tread for Fifth Avenue, and not even Tiffany's will have more exquisite designs in their elaborate cases than what I have gathered all these summer weeks along the shores of Grand Lake—delicate Wood Aster, Ladies' Tresses, Pogonia (Snake-Mouth), Pearly Everlasting, and a total of nearly thirty varieties familiar to me as my flowered friends.

Thoreau called these creations of Nature the children of an ecstay, finished with the artist's utmost skill."

Here at Weskawenaak, Nature has all its arms outstretched with some gift or surprise. Berries for bird, beast and [illegible] berries—lavish with the latter this year. If you [illegible] Avenue—which you would not—they would have to be imported! You just have to separate them from the bushes here.

There is a fragrance to the burning logs in the open fire of my Lodge that no Fifth Avenue perfumery shop could equal. And memories leap from the flames and slumber consolingly with the last bright embers as they finally die away into the night. Nothing interrupts the sylvan silence here. What would Fifth Avenue give to own such silence just for five minutes!

Nature keeps coming back. You can't down her. Injure her tree and she will repair it herself. Cut it down in its youth, and many a new shoot will spring from its roots to start all over again. Let an accident happen in the city and you will have a hurry-up call immediately for the plumber or carpenter.

The stones and mantel to my open fireplace came from the shore of the island itself, which has a body of solid and broken rock thousands of years old, and I didn't have to send to the furniture shop for my writing table. I made it myself from a tree and some efter-ocer hardwood flooring. Nothing is wasted here—not even a minute of the day or night. Everything is used to some purpose.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Boy Friend Should Make Advances If He Wants To Make Up

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl 17 years old and love a boy of 19. We were going steady for about nine months and just broke up a few days ago.

I know he still loves me because his boy friend told me so. This boy friend told me that he just wanted to find out if he liked not going steady, but now he is sorry he broke up with me.

I want him back very much. Please tell me how to do it.

"LONELY."

Dear "Lonely:"

If your boy friend wants to make up and come back with you again, it seems to me he is the one to make the advances, not you. You don't tell me how you happened to break up, but simply that you found out afterward from his friend that your young man did it as an experiment to find out how he felt about you. If he has now discovered that he wants to keep on going with you, let him tell you so himself.

Dance Etiquette

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I would like to know whether you think it correct for a girl to ask a boy to dance with her just for the enjoyment of dancing, if she doesn't know who he is?

Also, what would you suggest doing if the person asked persists in wanting to dance with you the rest of the evening?

"A WOEFUL GIRL."

Dear "Woeful Girl":

Your questions are a little hard to answer, since you give me no clue as to whether the dancing you speak of was in a public place or a private affair, and this would make a great deal of difference in determining whether or not your procedure was "correct."

If you were both guests at a friend's house and it just happened that you had not been introduced to this boy, it certainly would not be too unconventional for you to suggest, in a nice way, that the two of you dance together. On the other hand, if he just happened to be someone you saw at a public dancing place and liked the looks of, it would certainly be out of order for you to approach him and ask him to dance. It is very poor business for any girl to approach a strange young man, except under properly sponsored circumstances.

As for the man who received your invitation wanting to dance with you the rest of the evening, there would be very little you could do about it other than simply to say that you were tired of dancing, or else to say that you have to go home.

This is simply another proof that it is very foolish to make advances to a stranger when, even under the best of circumstances, you don't wnow whether you will enjoy his company or not.

Lady Susan Sundaes For Small Fry

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's a wonderful and easy idea for the dessert at a buffet party, an afternoon surprise for children—or a between-meals treat for grown-ups, for that matter!

It's a Lazy Susan sundae. You just use the best ice cream from the local corner store. A quart or two of vanilla is probably the best because it "goes with anything." Heap this into a frosty bowl and surround it with smaller bowls containing things to put on top. Let the children make what are to you "wild" combinations. They like them even if you don't—and in all likelihood there's no harm in the mixtures they concoct.

Sundae Sauces

Raspberry jam thinned with a little hot water
Honey
Molasses, thinned with corn syrup
Maple syrup blended with crushed corn flakes
Chocolate syrup
Defrosted quick-frozen strawberries (or loganberries, boysenberries, peaches)
Crushed canned pineapple

Sundae Toppings

Maraschino cherries
Nuts, ground or chopped
Prepared marshmallow sauce
Chocolate chips
Whole strawberry jam
Grape-nuts
Brown sugar

You wouldn't serve all of these at once, of course—much less use all! They're merely suggestions and should lead you on to bigger and better ideas. I just had another one myself. How about crushed nut brittle? It's wonderful on ice cream.

Here are some easy ice-cream sauces you can prepare in advance if this isn't a completely ad lib party.

Butterscotch Sauce

1 egg yolk
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup water
⅔ cup brown sugar
½ cup corn syrup

Beat egg yolk. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cook over hot water stirring frequently, until it forms a thick syrup. Beat thoroughly before using.

Serve hot or cold. This sauce may be kept covered in the refrigerator and reheated in top of double boiler just before serving, if desired. This makes about 1 cup sauce.

Honey-Peanut Sauce

1 cup honey
½ cup peanut butter

Combine and stir over heat until blended.

Chocolate Sauce

⅔ cup corn syrup
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup boiling water

Heat corn syrup, add chocolate and stir until melted. Add boiling water and cook until sauce is quite syrup. Serve hot or cold. Since sauce thickens somewhat on cooling, cook to form a light syrup if it is to be served cold. The sauce may be kept in a covered jar and reheated in top of double boiler before serving, if desired. This makes about 1¼ cups sauce. (If a bitter sauce is desired use 3 to 4 squares of unsweetened chocolate instead of 2.)

Philippines Market Seen For Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Philippines Government purchasing agent, F. M. Zelezny, has urged Australians to take advantage of "a 50-million-dollars-a-year" market in the Philippines for Australian goods.

City Will Obtain Gas Tax Revenue

A survey by the State Roads Commission indicates that Cumberland will receive $45,213.32 in the fiscal year starting July 1 as its share of gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue, Mayor Thomas S. Post was informed yesterday by William C. Codd, chief auditor for the state group.

It is possible that the entire amount will not be received in the city fiscal year ending March 31, but it is expected that the major part will be on hand by that time.

Codd wrote the mayor that the city has 122,381 miles of locally maintained streets. He stated this represents 17.07 per cent of the county total and it is on that basis that the allocation is being made.

The state allocation announcement came as City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was considering asking all departments to curtail expenditures because of shortages in some anticipated revenues.

Gibson said license revenue will be about $20,000 short of expectations and that racing income will be about $27,000 under anticipation, making a total drop of $47,000.

On the bright side has been $13,000 in excess receipts from state income tax sources. The remaining shortage of $34,000 under anticipated income will be balanced by the expected state allocation if most of the $45,213.32 is received before March 31.

Gibson explained the reason that revenue from some sources is short is that the state operates on a fiscal year starting July 1 and the city's term begins April 1.

Built 2,000 years ago across northern England, fragments of Hadrian's wall still attract tourists. It was built to defend the country against attacks by the Picts.

More than 77 million board feet of lumber and timber are used annually by the Canadian nickel industry. It requires approximately 4,000 freight cars to transport this material.

Is this lighthouse built on sand? Seemingly so! All you can see at its base is sand.

Actually this towering structure is built on rock. Underneath these dunes of sand is a rocky ledge, firm and enduring. The sand may be carried away by sea or wind, but this lighthouse will stand secure. There's a rock, a firm foundation, underneath!

Some people look at the Church and see only sand. They see the shifting sands—of custom—and fashion—and passing personalities pile up and wash away around the Church. "Why is it still standing?" they ask—for they see only sand.

The Church would have fallen long ago were it built on anything so fickle as fashion, as casual as custom, so impermanent as mere people. The Church is built on rock, firm and enduring. It will stand secure for all ages, shedding light and imparting strength to all who are guided by it. It stands on the "Rock of Ages," the divine personality of Jesus Christ and His message of hope for all mankind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

Is this lighthouse built on sand? Seemingly so! All you can see at its base is sand.

Actually this towering structure is built on rock. Underneath these dunes of sand is a rocky ledge, firm and enduring. The sand may be carried away by sea or wind, but this lighthouse will stand secure. There's a rock, a firm foundation, underneath!

Some people look at the Church and see only sand. They see the shifting sands—of custom—and fashion—and passing personalities pile up and wash away around the Church. "Why is it still standing?" they ask—for they see only sand.

The Church would have fallen long ago were it built on anything so fickle as fashion, as casual as custom, so impermanent as mere people. The Church is built on rock, firm and enduring. It will stand secure for all ages, shedding light and imparting strength to all who are guided by it. It stands on the "Rock of Ages," the divine personality of Jesus Christ and His message of hope for all mankind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

Cards Nose Out Dodgers In 9th By Score Of 8-7

Slaughter's Two-Run Double Wins Game

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Enos Slaughter's two-run double in the last half of the ninth inning today gave the St. Louis Cardinals a theatrical 8 to 7 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers after Brooklyn had scored four runs in the top of the ninth to go ahead 7 to 6.

The result once again brought the Cards to a point four and a half games back of the league-leading Dodgers in the National League flag race.

A crowd of 31,957 cheered wildly as Slaughter slashed his long hit to left, driving in Erv Dusak and Stan Musial with the runs that brought the Dodgers' National League lead over the Cards back to four and a half games.

The Dodgers, trailing 6 to 3, roared from behind in their portion of the ninth with a rousing four run rally in which rookie Don Lund, in the role of pinch hitter, slapped a home run with a man aboard. Box:

Aristocrats Beat Century A.C., 6-1

Meet In 2nd Game Sunday At 3 P. M.

FROSTBURG, Sept. 12 — Belting the offerings of Roger Day for six runs in the first three innings, the Aristocrats, defending champions, won the first game of the Frostburg Softball League's championship series by defeating the Century Athletic Club today by the score of 6 to 1 before a large crowd at Frostburg State Teachers' College Field.

In the third frame the Aristocrats' attack featured a homer by Waites and triples by Biggs and Junior Cole and before Jack Wilhelm relieved Day on the mound the Aristocrats had scored four runs. Wilhelm yielded only one hit in 4⅓ innings.

The second game of the series is scheduled for Sunday at 5 p. m. at Frostburg State Teachers' College Field. The starting time has been changed from 3 o'clock. Score:

JOCKEY WITMER, 29, DIES OF INJURIES

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—George Witmer, 29-year-old jockey, died tonight at the Maryland General Hospital where he had been a patient since being thrown and trampled at the Timonium track Wednesday.

Witmer was brought to the hospital after the saddle on Night Colleen slipped and threw him on the back stretch. Night Colleen was in the lead at the time and the closely bunched field ran over the jockey.

The jockey from Funkstown, Md., had been in an oxygen tent at the hospital which reported him suffering from a punctured lung, fractured ribs and other internal injuries.

Witmer was married and the father of two children.

Moorefield To Play Victors Here Today

A brilliant relief performance by Pat "Lefty" Creegan was the salient factor as Fort Cumberland Post No. 1 American Legion, defeated the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles yesterday at Community Park by the score of 9 to 7 and gained the right to play the Moorefield (W. Va.) American Legion in a best-of-three-games series for the championship of the Interstate Baseball League.

The Fort Cumberland-Moorefield series will get under way today at 4 p. m. at Community Park. The second game is scheduled for Sunday at 3 o'clock (EST) in Moorefield.

Relieving Jack Kauffman in the second inning of yesterday's game with the score 5-5, Creegan yielded only 3 hits and one run in 7⅓ innings, whiffed nine and got credit for the victory when Manager Art Garbark's outfit scored twice in the third and once each in the 4th and 7th frames. Russ Miller, Eagles' starting pitcher, was belted out in the second frame during a five-run bombardment, and Lefty Lou Stitcher, who twirled 7⅓ innings in a relief role was charged with the defeat.

It was the fourth game of the playoff series between the two bitter local rivals. The Legion won the opener, 16-7, and the second game ended 3-1 in favor of the Eagles. The third game went 10 innings to a 3-3 deadlock, halted by darkness. Moorefield eliminated Centerville's Reds by scoring two straight victories.

The Eagles lost no time going to work on Kauffman by scoring two runs in the first inning. Sterne singled and went to third on George's hit, the latter advancing to second on an error in right. Penner singled home Sterne but was put out at second. After Durbin's hit sent George home, Harbaugh flied out.

Williams Wallops Homer

Not to be outdone the Legion came back in its half of the first inning with a five-run splurge. Lou Baker singled and galloped home on Garbark's two-base wallop. After Diehl grounded out, Bobby Williams hit a two-run homer to centerfield. Bill Cumiskey hoisted to the catcher. Singles by Johnny Diamond, "Red" Ingram and a pass to Charley Cumiskey, filled the hassocks. Stitcher replaced Russ Miller on the mound. Then Jack Kauffman came through with a timely hit, which netted two runs. Batting the second time in the inning, Lou Baker flied out.

The Eagles came back with four runs in the second to take a 6-5 lead. After one away, Earl Sellers hit safely. Stitcher fanned. Shelly singled and then Adam Sterne knocked in two runs with a rousing triple. "Nebs" George's single sent Sterne home and knocked Kauffman out of the box, Creegan replacing him. Penner's hit moved George to third and Ted Durbin's hit scored George. Harbaugh ended the rally by flying out.

Garbark's men scored twice in the third. Ingram walked and scored the run which knotted the count at 6-6 on Charley Cumiskey's hit. Creegan rapped out a base hit which sent Cumiskey home and gave Fort Cumberland a 7-6 lead.

What proved to be the winning run was scored in the fourth when Eddie Diehl walked, pilfered second and romped home on Bill Cumiskey's single.

Umpire Banishes Player

The Eagles got a marker in the sixth when Shelly walked, advanced to third on two passed balls and registered at home on Durbin's hit. George attempted to pilfer home but was called out by Umpire Jim Angellatta. George was banished from the game by the arbiter when he rammed his head into the latter's stomach after being called out.

Shelly and Charley Cumiskey came near tangling in the eighth inning when the former fanned and was tagged by the catcher after the latter had recovered a dropped third strike but trouble was averted when other players intervened.

The Legion chased over its final marker in the 7th when Williams singled and advanced to third on an overthrow and trotted home on Bill Cumiskey's hit.

Delbrugge made several nice catches in centerfield for the Eagles and in the 7th he snared Ingram's drive on his shoetops and lined the ball to second to cut down Bill Cumiskey in a double play.

In the 9th with two aboard and none out Cumiskey turned in a nifty catch of Durbin's liner to stop the Eagles in their tracks. Boxscore:

Win Over Yankees 7-2; Tribe Trips Red Sox

It was the eighth loss for the Yankees in 13 starts this month but despite that record any combination of three New York victories or Detroit defeats will clinch the pennant for the erstwhile Bronx Bombers. The same goes for the Red Sox. Box:

INDIANS TOP BOSOX

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians dumped the Boston Red Sox into third place by teeing off against Denny Galehouse and Tommy Fine for 17 hits and an 11-6 victory today before a slim 4,855 crowd that included Babe Ruth.

The win moved the Indians to a game behind the third-place Sockers and Lou Boudreau has called upon Bob Feller to wipe out that margin tomorrow. Box:

MARLBORO TO OPEN RACE MEET TODAY

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 12—(AP)—The Maryland half-mile racing season will end as planned with a 10-day meeting starting at Marlboro tomorrow. The fall season opens October 1 at Laurel.

The Maryland Racing Commission twice refused to approve the 10 days of racing at the track because it considered the facilities inadequate. The commission finally sanctioned the dates after some improvements were made.

Among these improvements are new stable roofs, modern water system and announcer's booth. However, the grandstand which holds only a couple of hundred spectators remains the same.

A new receiving barn, a necessity to conduct racing in Maryland, also was erected.

Drobny, Kramer, Parker, Bromwich Win In Tourney

Brown, Falkenburg, Segura, Malloy Lose

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12 — (AP) — Strictly according to the script, two Americans and a pair of sharp-shooting foreign stars came safely through today's strife in the sun-baked stadium and will square off in tomorrow's semi-finals of the national tennis championships.

Leading the blister brigade into the round before the big pay-off was Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, the defending champion and acknowledged king of the amateurs. With him were Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, a two-time former champion; Jaroslav Drobny, a left handed slicker from Czechslovakia, and Jack Bromwich, veteran Australian Davis Cupper.

Tomorrow's line-up puts Kramer against Drobny in what might turn out to be a terrific match, and Parker against Bromwich in a baseline spree that could go on forever. The thing has come out exactly as the officials figured it.

None of today's four matches required an extra set. Kramer blasted young Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1; Drobny outserved and out-slicked Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4; Parker out-steadied Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4, and Bromwich levelled Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

Mulloy's failure to give Bromwich more of a battle was one of the day's disappointments. The American Davis Cupper admitted when it was over that he had been playing with a painfully dislocated knuckle on the little finger of his racket hand, but refused to advance it as an alibi. He hurt the finger when he fell during his match against Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles three days ago.

The women continued to run true to form in their own little sweepstakes, and all four of the designated stars will be on hand for tomorrow's semi-finals.

Margaret Osborne, the Wimbledon champion and heiress—apparent to Pauline Betz as American champion, subdued little Mrs. Magda Rurac of Romania, 6-4, 6-4, in the first of today's two quarter-finals. A few minutes later, tall Doris Hart of Miami, the third-seeded American gave Barbara Krase of San Francisco her walking papers, 8-6, 6-2.

Beat Selby, Torza In Amateur Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 12 —(INS)—It will be an All-California final tomorrow in the National Amateur Golf Championship at Pebble Beach.

Johnny Dawson, of Hollywood, and Skee Riegel, of Monterey Park, Calif., gained the right to meet each other in the 36-hole crown match by defeating their semi-final opponents today.

The veteran Dawson had a comparatively easy time of it, eliminating the "Giant Killer," John Selby, of Rye, N. Y., 5 and 4 in 36 holes. Selby, previously a minor leaguer, was the boy who upset former titleholder Marvin "Bud" Ward, of Spokane, Wash., yesterday.

Riegel had a tougher go, but beat Felice Torza, of Wetherfield, Conn., 2 and 1.

Priest Whips Sullivan In Brawl At Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 12—(INS)—Al "Red" Priest, 159, gave Tommy Sullivan, 172, a boxing and slugging lesson tonight in a wild bout before 7,695 fans at Boston Garden.

The Cambridge redhead ignored a 17-pound weight advantage and 2 to 1 betting odds in favor of the South Boston strong boy and lathered Sullivan's midriff from the second through the sixth rounds.

In the seventh, Sully turned the affair into a dock brawl and threw Priest out of the ring. But Red came back to win the next two rounds by out-slugging his heavier opponent to gain his second victory over the uncrowned heavyweight champion of New England.

Gross receipts were $23,135.

Johns Hopkins Gridder To Wear Protector Mask

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12. (AP)—The protector mask devised for use by Frankie Sinkwich when he suffered a broken jaw while playing at the University of Georgia is coming north for use by a Johns Hopkins player.

George Mullinix, Johns Hopkins best back, recently suffered a broken jaw. Fitz Lutz, trainer of the Baltimore Colts who was at Georgia when Sinkwich was hurt, heard about Mullinix's injury and arranged loan of the msak for this season.

Hyndman And Westvaco Clash In Westernport

Amvets Invade 'Coney For Sunday Contest

Westernport and Lonaconing will be the scene of Bi-State Baseball League action tomorrow afternoon.

At Memorial Park, Westernport, the Hyndman Firemen will cross bats with the Westvaco Club in the second game of their series at 2:30 p. m. Hyndman copped the opener last Sunday on its home field by the score of 3-2, sewing up the game with a two-run rally in the last of the ninth.

In an effort to win the series in two straight games, Hyndman will likely come back with Paul Clapper in tomorrow's game while Westvaco, out to square up matters, will send Bill See to the firing line. See won 18 and lost one during the regular season. Clapper defeated Joe Inskeep in the first game of the series. This game is expected to attract a capacity crowd.

Lonaconing Republican Club will be seeking revenge for an 8-3 setback suffered here last Sunday when it lost the initial game of the series to the Amvets. "Boots" Poffenberger gained the verdict over young Bob Grove at Taylor Field in the first contest.

Claude Steele is expected to start on the hillock for 'Coney tomorrow while Poffenberger may try to make it two straight for the Amvets.

Stymie Will Race Gallorette Today

Four Starters Named For Aqueduct Event

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Stymie goes after the three-quarter-of-a-million dollar bankroll at Aqueduct tomorrow, and he'll probably make it, too, in spite of a loaded beer truck on his back and the scampering of the three fast fillies who chased him home the last time he ran.

The cinderella sizzler from Texas is hauling a man-sized 134 pounds in the mile-and-an-eighth Edgemere handicap around the Brooklyn racing rink with the charp turns. This is two more than he ever carried before in his life, but even with this backbreaker, he's favored.

Running with him will be the three ladies who escorted him home in the Aqueduct Handicap two weeks ago—the mighty Maryland mare, Gallorette; the New Orleans stepper, Elpis, and Bridal Flower.

Gallorette is the one he has to beat The grandson of Equipose had to go all out to catch her only yards from the wire and beat her by half a length the last time. Tomorrow, he'll be carrying two extra pounds, while Gallorette will have the same 122 aboard.

She has beaten Stymie in six of the 14 times they've met, and could conceivably do it again.

Hyndman Vets Win At Corriganville

The third and deciding game is set for Monday at 6:15 p. m. in Corriganville.

Slaughter's Two-Run Double Wins Game

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Enos Slaughter's two-run double in the last half of the ninth inning today gave the St. Louis Cardinals a theatrical 8 to 7 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers after Brooklyn had scored four runs in the top of the ninth to go ahead 7 to 6.

The result once again brought the Cards to a point four and a half games back of the league-leading Dodgers in the National League flag race.

A crowd of 31,957 cheered wildly as Slaughter slashed his long hit to left, driving in Erv Dusak and Stan Musial with the runs that brought the Dodgers' National League lead over the Cards back to four and a half games.

The Dodgers, trailing 6 to 3, roared from behind in their portion of the ninth with a rousing four run rally in which rookie Don Lund, in the role of pinch hitter, slapped a home run with a man aboard.

FROSTBURG, Sept. 12 — Belting the offerings of Roger Day for six runs in the first three innings, the Aristocrats, defending champions, won the first game of the Frostburg Softball League's championship series by defeating the Century Athletic Club today by the score of 6 to 1 before a large crowd at Frostburg State Teachers' College Field.

In the third frame the Aristocrats' attack featured a homer by Waites and triples by Biggs and Junior Cole and before Jack Wilhelm relieved Day on the mound the Aristocrats had scored four runs. Wilhelm yielded only one hit in 4⅓ innings.

The second game of the series is scheduled for Sunday at 5 p. m. at Frostburg State Teachers' College Field. The starting time has been changed from 3 o'clock. Score:

JOCKEY WITMER, 29, DIES OF INJURIES

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—George Witmer, 29-year-old jockey, died tonight at the Maryland General Hospital where he had been a patient since being thrown and trampled at the Timonium track Wednesday.

Witmer was brought to the hospital after the saddle on Night Colleen slipped and threw him on the back stretch. Night Colleen was in the lead at the time and the closely bunched field ran over the jockey.

The jockey from Funkstown, Md., had been in an oxygen tent at the hospital which reported him suffering from a punctured lung, fractured ribs and other internal injuries.

Witmer was married and the father of two children.

Moorefield To Play Victors Here Today

A brilliant relief performance by Pat "Lefty" Creegan was the salient factor as Fort Cumberland Post No. 1 American Legion, defeated the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles yesterday at Community Park by the score of 9 to 7 and gained the right to play the Moorefield (W. Va.) American Legion in a best-of-three-games series for the championship of the Interstate Baseball League.

The Fort Cumberland-Moorefield series will get under way today at 4 p. m. at Community Park. The second game is scheduled for Sunday at 3 o'clock (EST) in Moorefield.

Relieving Jack Kauffman in the second inning of yesterday's game with the score 5-5, Creegan yielded only 3 hits and one run in 7⅓ innings, whiffed nine and got credit for the victory when Manager Art Garbark's outfit scored twice in the third and once each in the 4th and 7th frames. Russ Miller, Eagles' starting pitcher, was belted out in the second frame during a five-run bombardment, and Lefty Lou Stitcher, who twirled 7⅓ innings in a relief role was charged with the defeat.

It was the fourth game of the playoff series between the two bitter local rivals. The Legion won the opener, 16-7, and the second game ended 3-1 in favor of the Eagles. The third game went 10 innings to a 3-3 deadlock, halted by darkness. Moorefield eliminated Centerville's Reds by scoring two straight victories.

The Eagles lost no time going to work on Kauffman by scoring two runs in the first inning. Sterne singled and went to third on George's hit, the latter advancing to second on an error in right. Penner singled home Sterne but was put out at second. After Durbin's hit sent George home, Harbaugh flied out.

Williams Wallops Homer

Not to be outdone the Legion came back in its half of the first inning with a five-run splurge. Lou Baker singled and galloped home on Garbark's two-base wallop. After Diehl grounded out, Bobby Williams hit a two-run homer to centerfield. Bill Cumiskey hoisted to the catcher. Singles by Johnny Diamond, "Red" Ingram and a pass to Charley Cumiskey, filled the hassocks. Stitcher replaced Russ Miller on the mound. Then Jack Kauffman came through with a timely hit, which netted two runs. Batting the second time in the inning, Lou Baker flied out.

The Eagles came back with four runs in the second to take a 6-5 lead. After one away, Earl Sellers hit safely. Stitcher fanned. Shelly singled and then Adam Sterne knocked in two runs with a rousing triple. "Nebs" George's single sent Sterne home and knocked Kauffman out of the box, Creegan replacing him. Penner's hit moved George to third and Ted Durbin's hit scored George. Harbaugh ended the rally by flying out.

Garbark's men scored twice in the third. Ingram walked and scored the run which knotted the count at 6-6 on Charley Cumiskey's hit. Creegan rapped out a base hit which sent Cumiskey home and gave Fort Cumberland a 7-6 lead.

What proved to be the winning run was scored in the fourth when Eddie Diehl walked, pilfered second and romped home on Bill Cumiskey's single.

Umpire Banishes Player

The Eagles got a marker in the sixth when Shelly walked, advanced to third on two passed balls and registered at home on Durbin's hit. George attempted to pilfer home but was called out by Umpire Jim Angellatta. George was banished from the game by the arbiter when he rammed his head into the latter's stomach after being called out.

Shelly and Charley Cumiskey came near tangling in the eighth inning when the former fanned and was tagged by the catcher after the latter had recovered a dropped third strike but trouble was averted when other players intervened.

The Legion chased over its final marker in the 7th when Williams singled and advanced to third on an overthrow and trotted home on Bill Cumiskey's hit.

Delbrugge made several nice catches in centerfield for the Eagles and in the 7th he snared Ingram's drive on his shoetops and lined the ball to second to cut down Bill Cumiskey in a double play.

In the 9th with two aboard and none out Cumiskey turned in a nifty catch of Durbin's liner to stop the Eagles in their tracks. Boxscore:

Detroit Tigers Take Runner-Up Spot From Bosox

Win Over Yankees 7-2; Tribe Trips Red Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—The New York Yankees, heirs apparent to the 1947 American League pennant, lost today's game to the Detroit Tigers by a 7 to 2 score. Detroit moved into second place as Cleveland trounced the Red Sox.

It was the eighth loss for the Yankees in 13 starts this month but despite that record any combination of three New York victories or Detroit defeats will clinch the pennant for the erstwhile Bronx Bombers. The same goes for the Red Sox. Box:

INDIANS TOP BOSOX

BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians dumped the Boston Red Sox into third place by teeing off against Denny Galehouse and Tommy Fine for 17 hits and an 11-6 victory today before a slim 4,855 crowd that included Babe Ruth.

The win moved the Indians to a game behind the third-place Sockers and Lou Boudreau has called upon Bob Feller to wipe out that margin tomorrow. Box:

MARLBORO TO OPEN RACE MEET TODAY

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 12—(AP)—The Maryland half-mile racing season will end as planned with a 10-day meeting starting at Marlboro tomorrow. The fall season opens October 1 at Laurel.

The Maryland Racing Commission twice refused to approve the 10 days of racing at the track because it considered the facilities inadequate. The commission finally sanctioned the dates after some improvements were made.

Among these improvements are new stable roofs, modern water system and announcer's booth. However, the grandstand which holds only a couple of hundred spectators remains the same.

A new receiving barn, a necessity to conduct racing in Maryland, also was erected.

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 12 — (AP) — Strictly according to the script, two Americans and a pair of sharp-shooting foreign stars came safely through today's strife in the sun-baked stadium and will square off in tomorrow's semi-finals of the national tennis championships.

Leading the blister brigade into the round before the big pay-off was Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, the defending champion and acknowledged king of the amateurs. With him were Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, a two-time former champion; Jaroslav Drobny, a left handed slicker from Czechslovakia and Jack Bromwich, veteran Australian Davis Cupper.

Tomorrow's line-up puts Kramer against Drobny in what might turn out to be a terrific match, and Parker against Bromwich in a baseline spree that could go on forever. The thing has come out exactly as the officials figured it.

None of today's four matches required an extra set. Kramer blasted young Bob Falkenburg of Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5, 6-1; Drobny outserved and out-slicked Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4; Parker out-steadied Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-3, 11-9, 6-4, and Bromwich levelled Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

Mulloy's failure to give Bromwich more of a battle was one of the day's disappointments. The American Davis Cupper admitted when it was over that he had been playing with a painfully dislocated knuckle on the little finger of his racket hand, but refused to advance it as an alibi. He hurt the finger when he fell during his match against Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles three days ago.

The women continued to run true to form in their own little sweepstakes, and all four of the designated stars will be on hand for tomorrow's semi-finals.

Margaret Osborne, the Wimbledon champion and heiress—apparent to Pauline Betz as American champion, subdued little Mrs. Magda Rurac of Romania, 6-4, 6-4, in the first of today's two quarter-finals. A few minutes later, tall Doris Hart of Miami, the third-seeded American gave Barbara Krase of San Francisco her walking papers, 8-6, 6-2.

Dawson And Riegel To Play For Title

Beat Selby, Torza In Amateur Golf

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Sept. 12 —(INS)—It will be an All-California final tomorrow in the National Amateur Golf Championship at Pebble Beach.

Johnny Dawson, of Hollywood, and Skee Riegel, of Monterey Park, Calif., gained the right to meet each other in the 36-hole crown match by defeating their semi-final opponents today.

The veteran Dawson had a comparatively easy time of it, eliminating the "Giant Killer," John Selby, of Rye, N. Y., 5 and 4 in 36 holes. Selby, previously a minor leaguer, was the boy who upset former titleholder Marvin "Bud" Ward, of Spokane, Wash., yesterday.

Riegel had a tougher go, but beat Felice Torza, of Wetherfield, Conn., 2 and 1.

Priest Whips Sullivan In Brawl At Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 12—(INS)—Al "Red" Priest, 159, gave Tommy Sullivan, 172, a boxing and slugging lesson tonight in a wild bout before 7,695 fans at Boston Garden.

The Cambridge redhead ignored a 17-pound weight advantage and 2 to 1 betting odds in favor of the South Boston strong boy and lathered Sullivan's midriff from the second through the sixth rounds.

In the seventh, Sully turned the affair into a dock brawl and threw Priest out of the ring. But Red came back to win the next two rounds by out-slugging his heavier opponent to gain his second victory over the uncrowned heavyweight champion of New England.

Gross receipts were $23,135.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12. (AP)—The protector mask devised for use by Frankie Sinkwich when he suffered a broken jaw while playing at the University of Georgia is coming north for use by a Johns Hopkins player.

George Mullinix, Johns Hopkins best back, recently suffered a broken jaw. Fitz Lutz, trainer of the Baltimore Colts who was at Georgia when Sinkwich was hurt, heard about Mullinix's injury and arranged loan of the msak for this season.

Amvets Invade 'Coney For Sunday Contest

Westernport and Lonaconing will be the scene of Bi-State Baseball League action tomorrow afternoon.

At Memorial Park, Westernport, the Hyndman Firemen will cross bats with the Westvaco Club in the second game of their series at 2:30 p. m. Hyndman copped the opener last Sunday on its home field by the score of 3-2, sewing up the game with a two-run rally in the last of the ninth.

In an effort to win the series in two straight games, Hyndman will likely come back with Paul Clapper in tomorrow's game while Westvaco, out to square up matters, will send Bill See to the firing line. See won 18 and lost one during the regular season. Clapper defeated Joe Inskeep in the first game of the series. This game is expected to attract a capacity crowd.

Lonaconing Republican Club will be seeking revenge for an 8-3 setback suffered here last Sunday when it lost the initial game of the series to the Amvets. "Boots" Poffenberger gained the verdict over young Bob Grove at Taylor Field in the first contest.

Claude Steele is expected to start on the hillock for 'Coney tomorrow while Poffenberger may try to make it two straight for the Amvets.

Four Starters Named For Aqueduct Event

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Stymie goes after the three-quarter-of-a-million dollar bankroll at Aqueduct tomorrow, and he'll probably make it, too, in spite of a loaded beer truck on his back and the scampering of the three fast fillies who chased him home the last time he ran.

The cinderella sizzler from Texas is hauling a man-sized 134 pounds in the mile-and-an-eighth Edgemere handicap around the Brooklyn racing rink with the charp turns. This is two more than he ever carried before in his life, but even with this backbreaker, he's favored.

Running with him will be the three ladies who escorted him home in the Aqueduct Handicap two weeks ago—the mighty Marvland mare, Gallorette; the New Orleans stepper, Elpis, and Bridal Flower.

Gallorette is the one he has to beat The grandson of Equipose had to go all out to catch her only yards from the wire and beat her by half a length the last time. Tomorrow, he'll be carrying two extra pounds, while Gallorette will have the same 122 aboard.

She has beaten Stymie in six of the 14 times they've met, and could conceivably do it again.

Judge Huster Urges Couples To Avoid Divorce

Judge William A. Huster in Circuit Court yesterday declared that too many young couples take their trouble to divorce courts without consideration for their children, and "that more effort should be made to settle differences at home."

"When a couple separates the husband is required to pay for the care of his children and his wife, and also to maintain his own living quarters," Judge Huster said. "This is difficult and expensive."

Judge Huster made his statement on the divorce situation here during a hearing in a petition for reduction of alimony payments of Irvin Wesley Mason, B. and O. Railroad mechanic, to his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Marie Mason. Judge Huster postponed final disposition in the case so the couple and their attorneys could try and work out a reconciliation if possible.

Huster said, "The main factor overlooked by many couples is that the children deserve a good home and security."

The wife testified that her husband was a good worker but that he began dinking, was cruel and threatened her. Mason denied ever striking his wife.

Judge Huster gave Mason a pamphlet from the recently formed Alcoholics Anonymous and told him to read it and heed its message.

"A man can't drink and expect to maintain a happy home," Huster declared. He also admonished Mrs. Mason "not to nag," and told the couple, "You look intelligent enough to sit down and talk this thing over and work out a solution. You should take the welfare of the children into consideration before breaking up your home."

The Court signed a divorce decree granting divorce to Irvin A. Robinette from Mary D. Robinette, of Roberts Street. The couple married June 18, 1942, and the plaintiff spent several years in the Armed Forces. He was discharged January 24, 1947, and told the Court he and his wife separated in June.

Local Couple Appear On Radio Broadcast

A local couple who were married last week received numerous gifts when they appeared on the "Honeymoon in New York" progra... of the National Broadcasting Company Tuesday morning.

They are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Rosenmerkel, who were married September 4 in Centre Street Methodist Church. Mrs. Rosenmerkel is the former Nancy Lee Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Randall, 519 Avirett Avenue. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, 708 Shriver Avenue.

Arrangements for the newlyweds to appear on the nationwide broadcast were made by Charles Babst, a friend of the Randall family, who was formerly employed here on the staff of the Celanese plant and who is now associated with the Celanese Corporation in New York.

Gifts presented to the couple included a camera, six pairs of nylon hose, a coffee pot and hot plate combination, a six-piece set of club aluminum cooking utensils, an electric toaster, a hand vacuum cleaner, a gold bracelet and a cocktail gown of crepe trimmed with sequins.

New Working

"For the convenience of the Union and its members, the Company will continue to deduct the monthly dues for Union members and remit same to the Union treasurer.

List Other Benefits

"Additional benefits to employees under the terms of the new contract include holiday pay, severance pay, improvement in minimum guaranteed rate, call-in pay, and a revision of the furlough procedure.

"The new contract provides that employes not scheduled for work on a holiday falling on a regular work day shall be paid straight time, provided they work the scheduled shifts prior to and after the holiday.

"Severance pay will be paid to employes with the proper service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of sixty-five, or who can no longer meet the requirements of their job, and cannot qualify for a transfer to another job.

"Both parties are agreed that, because of the keen competitive conditions in the rubber industry, such additional benefits to employees can accrue only from a high level of productivity and continued improvements in production processes and equipment."

Wins Paid Holidays

The chief monetary gain in the contract is the provision for six paid holidays each year. Similar concessions have been won by Goodyear and Goodrich employes, union officials said.

Other issues included severance pay of one month's wages for each five years of service for employes having necessary service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of 65 or who are unable to qualify for work, an increase from 75 to 80 per cent in the guaranteed rate, and automatic wage increases in the mechanical department.

Production must be reduced to below 40 hours for four weeks before furloughs may begin. This was in line with the "share the work" plan advocated by the union.

The pact made no changes in the union security clauses. The union will have maintenance of membership and the check-off of union dues, but in the latter point must comply with the new Labor law which calls for authorization each year. The local has never had a union shop.

Other clauses include an increase in call in pay from three to four hours and a revision of rules relating to filling of vacancie to allow bidding on a job at the same base rate once a year.

The bulk of the agreement, is, of course, the same as the agreement which has been in force for many years and is modified each year to incorporate changes desired by both the company and the union.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

There have been two headlines standing in the newspaper forms for the last 60 years. One is Brooklyn bridge falls down. The other is trouble in the Balkans.

The old bridge is as steady as a five-legged table. But the Balkans are fermenting like boiling grapes.

The first world scuffle started in the Balkans when some Serbian skeet-shooters were fooled by an Archduke's expression. The second world war found the Bulgarians again trying to steal the big lumps in the goulash.

And they buss me the third world war is just a question of the Balkans candling the right egg. It will have a double yolk.

Judge Huster Urges Couples To Avoid Divorce

Judge William A. Huster in Circuit Court yesterday declared that too many young couples take their trouble to divorce courts without consideration for their children, and "that more effort should be made to settle differences at home."

"When a couple separates the husband is required to pay for the care of his children and his wife, and also to maintain his own living quarters," Judge Huster said. "This is difficult and expensive."

Judge Huster made his statement on the divorce situation here during a hearing in a petition for reduction of alimony payments of Irvin Wesley Mason, B. and O. Railroad mechanic, to his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Marie Mason. Judge Huster postponed final disposition in the case so the couple and their attorneys could try and work out a reconciliation if possible.

Huster said, "The main factor overlooked by many couples is that the children deserve a good home and security."

The wife testified that her husband was a good worker but that he began dinking, was cruel and threatened her. Mason denied ever striking his wife.

Judge Huster gave Mason a pamphlet from the recently formed Alcoholics Anonymous and told him to read it and heed its message.

"A man can't drink and expect to maintain a happy home," Huster declared. He also admonished Mrs Mason "not to nag," and told the couple, "You look intelligent enough to sit down and talk this thing over and work out a solution. You should take the welfare of the children into consideration before breaking up your home."

The Court signed a divorce decree granting divorce to Irvin A. Robinette from Mary D. Robinette, of Roberts Street. The couple married June 18, 1942, and the plaintiff spent several years in the Armed Forces. He was discharged January 24, 1947, and told the Court he and his wife separated in June.

Suit for divorce was filed by Anna Emerick against Charles Emerick.

Local Couple Appear On Radio Broadcast

A local couple who were married last week received numerous gifts when they appeared on the "Honeymoon in New York" program of the National Broadcasting Company Tuesday morning.

They are Mr. and Mrs. William P. Rosenmerkel, who were married September 4 in Centre Street Methodist Church. Mrs. Rosenmerkel is the former Nancy Lee Randall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Randall, 519 Avirett Avenue. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rosenmerkel, 708 Shriver Avenue.

Arrangements for the newlyweds to appear on the nationwide broadcast were made by Charles Babst, a friend of the Randall family, who was formerly employed here on the staff of the Celanese plant and who is now associated with the Celanese Corporation in New York.

Gifts presented to the couple included a camera, six pairs of nylon hose, a coffee pot and hot plate combination, a six-piece set of club aluminum cooking utensils, an electric toaster, a hand vacuum cleaner, a gold bracelet and a cocktail gown of crepe trimmed with sequins.

New Working

the two parties may find it difficult to see eye to eye.

"For the convenience of the Union and its members, the Company will continue to deduct the monthly dues for Union members and remit same to the Union treasurer.

List Other Benefits

"Additional benefits to employees under the terms of the new contract include holiday pay, severance pay, improvement in minimum guaranteed rate, call-in pay, and a revision of the furlough procedure.

"The new contract provides that employes not scheduled for work on a holiday falling on a regular work day shall be paid straight time, provided they work the scheduled shifts prior to and after the holiday.

"Severance pay will be paid to employes with the proper service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of sixty-five, or who can no longer meet the requirements of their job, and cannot qualify for a transfer to another job.

"Both parties are agreed that, because of the keen competitive conditions in the rubber industry, such additional benefits to employees can accrue only from a high level of productivity and continued improvements in production processes and equipment."

Wins Paid Holidays

The chief monetary gain in the contract is the provision for six paid holidays each year. Similar concessions have been won by Goodyear and Goodrich employes, union officials said.

Other issues included severance pay of one month's wages for each five years of service for employes having necessary service requirements who wish to retire after reaching the age of 65 or who are unable to qualify for work, an increase from 75 to 80 per cent in the guaranteed rate, and automatic wage increases in the mechanical department.

Production must be reduced to low 40 hours for four weeks before furloughs may begin. This was in line with the "share the work" plan advocated by the union.

The pact made no changes in the union security clauses. The union will have maintenance of membership and the check-off of union dues, but in the latter point must comply with the new Labor law which calls for authorization each year. The local has never had a union shop.

Other clauses include an increase in call in pay from three to four hours and a revision of rules relating to filling of vacancie to allow bidding on a job at the same base rate once a year.

The bulk of the agreement, is, of course, the same as the agreement which has been in force for many years and is modified each year to incorporate changes desired by both the company and the union.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

There have been two headlines standing in the newspaper forms for the last 60 years. One is Brooklyn bridge falls down. The other is trouble in the Balkans.

The old bridge is as steady as a five-legged table. But the Balkans are fermenting like boiling grapes.

The first world scuffle started in the Balkans when some Serbian skeet-shooters were fooled by an Archduke's expression. The second world war found the Bulgarians again trying to steal the big lumps in the goulash.

And they buss me the third world war is just a question of the Balkans candling the right egg. It will have a double yolk.

Fire Companies Will Mark Fire Prevention Week

Units To Inspect Public Buildings

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Sept. 13—At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association at the LaVale Fire Hall, a committee of five was appointed for the two counties for Fire Prevention Week, October 5 to 11.

The committee is comprised of John Pritchard, Grantsville, Rev. W. D. Mehrling, Frostburg, Felix Foote, Lonaconing, Harry Wilson, Baltimore Pike, and Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown.

Each of the 28 companies in the two counties will be asked to name a committee of five to co-operate in their respective areas.

Rev. Mehrling was named by Homer Ambrose, representing the Fire Prevention Committee of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, to contact Frostburg, Shaft, Clarysville and the Mt. Savage companies.

The are committees will take care of publicity, teaching and inspection. The group states that churches, schools and other public buildings will be inspected for fire hazards during this week.

The association requests that each building have a two and one-half gallon soda-acid fire extinguisher and it was recommended at the meeting that the teachers in public schools be instructed in the use of the equipment.

The group also suggested that the owners of private properties invite the committees representing the fire companies in their respective areas to make a check of their premises for fire hazards.

The meeting stressed the importance of instruction of fire prevention to children, teachers and persons of all ages.

The Fire Prevention Week Committee for the area assigned to the Frostburg Fire Department includes County Executive Committeeman Florian Nickel, Roy Sleeman, Fire Chief Woodrow Layman, Jesse Jacobs and Harry Michaels.

Polio Committees Are Appointed For Garrett County Communities

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Sept. 13 — A step towards increasing efficiency of the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was taken at a meeting of local citizens here this week. Up to the present the March of Dimes funds and care of infantile paralysis patients from the county have been directed by a branch chapter of the Maryland state headquarters in Baltimore.

T. Sterling Evans, representing the National Headquarters, spent two days with branch chapter officers and outlined the necessary steps by which the Garrett County Chapter of the National Foundation was organized.

Officers include Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, chairman, Oakland; B. O. Aiken, Accident, vice chairman; Mrs. Helen T. Baumgartner, Oakland, secretary; George Littman, Oakland, treasurer; G. I. Gonder, executive committee member; Dr. Baumgartner, chairman of medical advisory committee, and F. E. Rathbun, educational committee.

Community representatives will be W. J. Glenn, Friendsville; Marshall Brown, Grantsville; I. C. Hutson, Kitzmiller; C. Pattison, Bloomington; Miss Josie Iden, Crellin; Mrs. Edgar Smith, Loch Lynn; Mrs. E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park; Mrs. Peter Scripp, Kempton; B. O. Aiken, Accident; Arthur Humbertson, Mt. Lake Park; Miss Mary Jane Harvey, Swanton, and Charles Briner, Oakland.

A county-wide meeting of officers and representatives is to be held soon when Mr. Evans will return to present the charter to the local chapter at a dinner meeting at the William-James Hotel on September 25 at 6 o'clock.

Oakland High Paper Appears

The initial issue of The Acorn, official monthly Oakland High School publication, appeared this week and was distributed to more than 550 students and faculty members. This will be the 21st year of publication and the staff is headed by Vivian Paugh, editor, with Patricia Filsinger, assisting.

Farm Forester Named

Jack E. Paulhamus has been assigned to work in Garrett County with the State Forestry Department as a farm forester, it was announced by William A. Parr, district forester. The appointment was effective Monday.

Mr. Paulhamus is a graduate of the Penn State Forestry School in 1942 and spent two years with the Navy Seabees. He has been working for four months in the Laurel and Belair sections. He expects to reside in Oakland.

Small School, Large Enrollment

The little red school house isn't red any longer, but it's just as small in some parts of the county. Fifty-six students are registered at the one-room, 16 by 24 feet Mt. Zion School, and they are being taught by a man and his wife who are living in a trailer on the playground. There is a housing shortage there too.

After an SOS from the school board the county commissioners decided to relieve the situation.

Seven grades are represented in the room and seven different classes convene simultaneously, as in all one-teacher schools. In some cases two young scholars sit at a single desk. There is no room for shelves so what books are available are stacked on a bench. An essential coal stove in the rear center will force some of its sitters-by to move and crowd even more when it is fired this winter.

Given the task of putting the fundamentals across are Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Garrett who apparently foresaw a housing shortage at Mt. Zion and brought their trailer. They parked it under a few oaks in the school yard not far from the pump and their daily offices. Garrett is a native of Gilmer County, W. Va., and a graduate of Glenville State Teachers College. He has taught in West Virginia for nine years. His wife, Geraldine, is teaching for her first year. Their only son, Danny, 9, is one of the pupils.

Another room will be built to the school according to Commissioners J. Edward Helbig, Jonas Sines and Stewart Stahl, who have promised immediate action. They made a trip to the area and saw for themselves the desperate need.

Mt. Zion sits on Backbone Ridge, about 15 miles east of Oakland.

Driver Has His Troubles

Deep Creek Bridge became an insurmountable obstacle to a Baltimore truck driver this week when it was discovered there was not enough clearance to allow his load of six large gasoline storage tanks to pass.

When it was discovered that the needed 14-feet six-inch clearance just wasn't there, the driver learned there is more than one way to Oakland. He returned to McHenry and made the trip by way of the power house at Sines, and thence over one of the Swallow Falls dirt roads to Oakland. Because of a peculiar gearing he was unable to make the hill coming from the power house and had to call on a wrecker as a "helper engine."

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Sept. 13 — A step towards increasing efficiency of the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was taken at a meeting of local citizens here this week. Up to the present the March of Dimes funds and care of infantile paralysis patients from the county have been directed by a branch chapter of the Maryland state headquarters in Baltimore.

T. Sterling Evans, representing the National Headquarters, spent two days with branch chapter officers and outlined the necessary steps by which the Garrett County Chapter of the National Foundation was organized.

Officers include Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, chairman, Oakland; B. O. Aiken, Accident, vice chairman; Mrs. Helen T. Baumgartner, Oakland, secretary; George Littman, Oakland, treasurer; G. I. Gonder, executive committee member; Dr. Baumgartner, chairman of medical advisory committee, and F. E. Rathbun, educational committee.

Community representatives will be W. J. Glenn, Friendsville; Marshall Brown, Grantsville; I. C. Hutson, Kitzmiller; C. Pattison, Bloomington; Miss Josie Iden, Crellin; Mrs. Edgar Smith, Loch Lynn; Mrs. E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park; Mrs. Peter Scripp, Kempton; B. O. Aiken, Accident; Arthur Humbertson, Mt. Lake Park; Miss Mary Jane Harvey, Swanton, and Charles Briner, Oakland.

A county-wide meeting of officers and representatives is to be held soon when Mr. Evans will return to present the charter to the local chapter at a dinner meeting at the William-James Hotel on September 25 at 6 o'clock.

Oakland High Paper Appears

The initial issue of The Acorn, official monthly Oakland High School publication, appeared this week and was distributed to more than 550 students and faculty members. This will be the 21st year of publication and the staff is headed by Vivian Paugh, editor, with Patricia Filsinger, assisting.

Farm Forester Named

Jack E. Paulhamus has been assigned to work in Garrett County with the State Forestry Department as a farm forester, it was announced by William A. Parr, district forester. The appointment was effective Monday.

Mr. Paulhamus is a graduate of the Penn State Forestry School in 1942 and spent two years with the Navy Seabees. He has been working for four months in the Laurel and Belair sections. He expects to reside in Oakland.

Small School, Large Enrollment

The little red school house isn't red any longer, but it's just as small in some parts of the county. Fifty-six students are registered at the one-room, 16 by 24 feet Mt. Zion School, and they are being taught by a man and his wife who are living in a trailer on the playground. There is a housing shortage there too.

After an SOS from the school board the county commissioners decided to relieve the situation.

Seven grades are represented in the room and seven different classes convene simultaneously, as in all one-teacher schools. In some cases two young scholars sit at a single desk. There is no room for shelves so what books are available are stacked on a bench. An essential coal stove in the rear center will force some of its sitters-by to move and crowd even more when it is fired this winter.

Given the task of putting the fundamentals across are Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Garrett who apparently foresaw a housing shortage at Mt. Zion and brought their trailer. They parked it under a few oaks in the school yard not far from the pump and their daily offices. Garrett is a native of Gilmer County, W. Va., and a graduate of Glenville State Teachers College. He has taught in West Virginia for nine years. His wife, Geraldine, is teaching for her first year. Their only son, Danny, 9, is one of the pupils.

Another room will be built to the school according to Commissioners J. Edward Helbig, Jonas Sines and Stewart Stahl, who have promised immediate action. They made a trip to the area and saw for themselves the desperate need.

Mt. Zion sits on Backbone Ridge, about 15 miles east of Oakland.

Driver Has His Troubles

Deep Creek Bridge became an insurmountable obstacle to a Baltimore truck driver this week when it was discovered, there was not enough clearance to allow his load of six large gasoline storage tanks to pass.

When it was discovered that the needed 14-feet six-inch clearance just wasn't there, the driver learned there is more than one way to Oakland. He returned to McHenry and made the trip by way of the power house at Sines, and thence over one of the Swallow Falls dirt roads to Oakland. Because of a peculiar gearing he was unable to make the hill coming from the power house and had to call on a wrecker as a "helper engine."

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Louella Parsons

Yes, I mean starring. "Kiss of Death" did it for Vic.

Billie Burke starts a series of two-reel comedies for Columbia in September. She will portray a dizzy woman, a typical Burke addlepated femme. And how Billie can play these giddy gals.

You knew Orry Kelly would have something original to say about the battle of the hemlines?

"What do we gals do when it comes to getting our new clothes?" I asked him.

Orry replied, "You women ought to look in the mirror and face the truth about yourselves. Don't wear the war time short skirts, but if you have good legs, show the attractive part — if you haven't, cover them up.

"Most women," went on Orry, "act like sheep, and follow the dictates of fashion whether they are becoming or not. If you wear the padding and stuffing Paris is advocating, you will look like Toby Mugs on a mantel."

Chatter in Hollywood: The personable young man who went around from fashionable Hollywood cafe to cafe posing as the son and heir of Harry Cohn, head of Columbia, and thereby getting away with a lot of worthless checks, is in jail.

Harry's real sons, John, age 2, and Harrison, 5 months, are hardly old enough to be buying dinners for beautiful ladies and tapping papa's bank account for same.

I'd stake anything I own that the communist ideologies attributed to John are as repugnant to him as they are to you and me. He has given wonderful help to underprivileged children.

He's my guest on the air Sunday, and on September 28 I have an amazing interview with John in the Pictorial Review.

Ever wonder about the real inside story of the sport of kings? Well, soon you'll know all the secrets because Richard K. Polimer is telling them in a picture called "The Winner's Circle" which starts in two weeks.

The device Polimer is using to tell the back-paddock tale of horse-racing in America is to trace everything that happens to a thoroughbred from the time it is born until it runs its first race.

A completely unknown girl, Jean Willis of Seattle, will play the romantic lead. Howard J. Green wrote "The Winner's Circle" and it will be directed by Felix Feist.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The self-styled genius, Orson Welles, has been buying dinner at the Seacomber for Marie Johnson. She's the girl who once ate her dinners with Jesse Lasky Jr.

Mrs. Pat Knowler arrives in Hollywood Saturday with her two children. She's been in England all summer.

That knitted evening dress which attracted so much attention when Ruth Warrick walked into L'Aiglon, cost exactly $30. She made it herself.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—No matter what listener-poll executives may tell you, generally speaking New Yorkers never listen to the radio. As far as entertainment goes, this is a medium that seems to have missed the boat, and in a town where amusements and attractions are engaged in a quarrel to the death for patronage, it comes off poorly indeed.

Movies, plays, nightclubs, gin mills and the thousand and one natural and man-made wonders of Manhattan—all of these rank far ahead of the wireless in popularity. Gothamites listen only to music or the ball game, and I have no doubt that even acquaintances of Fred Allen occasionally ask him what he is doing for a living these days, when he drifts into an eatery for lunch.

It is startling, thus, for a New Yorker to stumble across the bulging audiences that jam the radio studios in town for broadcasts. You see them in the CBS building on Madison avenue, or down at Mutual on Broadway, or most of all streaming through Radio City every night.

They stand patiently in line by the hour, until a trim young usher or usherette herds them into one of the gray, rubber-stamped, soundproofed studios. This is apparently the promised land, for they rush into the studios, commandeer the best chairs they can and then sit quietly on their hands for an hour or so while waiting for the fairyland to unfold.

New Yorkers cannot understand it, for they are apt to forget that in the long winter nights across the Ohio flatlands or the Kansas prairies, a farmer's best friend is not his mother but his radio. The hoop-la and razz-me-tazz that is Broadway has not found its way into these hinterlands, and so the small-town resident turns to the high-pressure comedy shows or the tear-jerking dramas that filter through the air.

Jack Benny is a ritual and Bing Crosby is a must. In Manhattan they may say once in a while, "Hey—is Crosby still on the air? Did he ever put over that recording deal he wanted to make with the radio people?" However, in the outlands, they know every note of every song Crosby has sung for the past two months.

So it is only natural when they make the long-awaited trip to New York, the small-towners want to see just how the radio show originates. They are the ideal audiences, too, for they are most happy to applaud madly when the announcer makes with the gesture that commands it, and they eagerly shout "Joe Glotz!" when the announcer asks them to announce for the listening millions just who their favorite comedian is.

I do not list these items derisively, for in my youth—New York children, if not their elders, do attend broadcasts—I was the same happy little foil for the radio people. It is just that it is overwhelming, all of a sudden, to see the hold that broadcasting has on people.

There are nearly eight million of us here in New York who meditatively look on radio as a childish, monotonous pastime, but we are only a speck in the cookie jar by comparison with the rest of the country, and radio is the proving-ground for that statement.

Generally, studio audiences here in New York are composeod of two elements—the visitor, from Peoria or Dubuque, and the professional quiz-show attendant. There is a certain small clique of wise guys, mental giants and, frequently, struggling young radio artists that haunts the quiz show for the purposes of: 1—being heard by radio producers, 2—making off with some of the gigantic loot.

If you get the sneaky suspicion some evening that you have heard a quiz-show participant before, in some other world, it is probable that you have — on some other broadcast. They go from one to another, from Broadway to Madison Avenue to Radio City, winning cash, refrigerators, cigarets and baby dolls that say "Get your hands off me, you big thug" when you tilt them.

When I see the crowds lined up outside the radio theaters — for some of the legitimate showhouses have been taken over for radio purposes—it makes me scratch my head thoughtfully before I buy the Racing Form and head for a quiet corner in Lindy's.

Maybe there is something to this radio dodge after all. I will turn it on tonight—but if Portia is still going down the road of life, and if Abbott is still asking Costello who's on first, somebody will pay dearly.

Generally, studio audiences here in New York are composeod of two elements—the visitor, from Peoria or Dubuque, and the professional quiz-show attendant. There is a certain small clique of wise guys, mental giants and, frequently, struggling young radio artists that haunts the quiz show for the purposes of: 1—being heard by radio producers, 2—making off with some of the gigantic loot.

If you get the sneaky suspicion some evening that you have heard a quiz-show participant before, in some other world, it is probable that you have — on some other broadcast. They go from one to another, from Broadway to Madison Avenue to Radio City, winning cash, refrigerators, cigarets and baby dolls that say "Get your hands off me, you big thug" when you tilt them.

When I see the crowds lined up outside the radio theaters — for some of the legitimate showhouses have been taken over for radio purposes—it makes me scratch my head thoughtfully before I buy the Racing Form and head for a quiet corner in Lindy's.

Maybe there is something to this radio dodge after all. I will turn it on tonight—but if Portia is still going down the road of life, and if Abbott is still asking Costello who's on first, somebody will pay dearly.

Recessions Predominate In Market As Dealings Revert To Sluggishness

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—(AP)—Irregularly lower tendencies prevailed in today's stock market although assorted leaders managed to hold modest plus signs and dealings reverted to sluggishness.

The ticker tape loafed throughout. Prices improved here and there approaching the final hour but there was a bit more selling at the last and closing recessions of fractions to a point or so predominated. Transfers of 600,000 shares compared with 800,000 Thursday and were the smallest since August 29.

On the losing end were Santa Fe, down 2½ at 80, Hershey Chocolate four at 104, United States Steel 1⅛ at 68⅝, American Smelting one at 58¼, Montgomery Ward one at 57¼ and Caterpillar Tractor one at 53½.

Lesser casualties included General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Boeing, Republic Aviation, Western Union, Anaconda, Air Reduction, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, Philip Morris, Ne wYork Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Woolen and Paramount Pictures.

Fractional improvement was shown by Household Finance, Bethlehem Steel, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Owens-Illinois, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Company, Phillips Petroleum and Baltimore and Ohio.

Among forward movers in the Curb were Consolidated Steel, Creole Petroleum, National Pressure Cooker, Atlas Plywood and Logansport Distilling. Laggards were Elliott Company and Fansteel. Turnover here was 160,000 shares versus 170,000 yesterday.

Railroad and oil company obligations were prominent losers in a generally lower corporate bond market. Total sales of $3,300,000 compared with $4,541,000 the day before.

United States government issues held close to previous levels in quiet dealings, with the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 unchanged in over-the-counter trading at 102 25-32 bid.

Game Violation Curb Noted

The need for co-operation among farmers and sportsmen of the county and the need for more co-operation from sportsmen in reporting game violations, were two points stressed by George B. Shields, deputy state game warden, in his address before a meeting of the Youghiogheny Rod and Gun Club at the Golf Club House.

Shields officially announced at the beginning of the meeting that the State Game Department had decided to open the large acreage of Mt. Nebo to sportsmen during the coming season. This tract of about 1,700 acres was closed by the State a year ago for a game preserve, which brought many protests from sportsmen.

Emory W. Adams, president, turned the meeting over to Sen. Lawrence M. Fraley. William R. Browning suggested one season for hunting small game, one for deer, to conserve resources of the county. Fulcher P. Smith, member of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, indicated what the commission did had to be considered on a state-wide basis and said it would be much better if the State could be divided and policies established for both the Western and Eastern Shores. He said the commission was planning to put additional deer here this season.

Jesse Bloch, speaking briefly, said something should be done by the County Commissioners to reimburse farmers for destruction of crops by deer and that it might be a good thing for the game commission to open the season on does.

Photographic Exhibit Placed On Display

Recessions Predominate In Market As Dealings Revert To Sluggishness

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—(AP)—Irregularly lower tendencies prevailed in today's stock market although assorted leaders managed to hold modest plus signs and dealings reverted to sluggishness.

The ticker tape loafed throughout. Prices improved here and there approaching the final hour but there was a bit more selling at the last and closing recessions of fractions to a point or so predominated. Transfers of 600,000 shares compared with 800,000 Thursday and were the smallest since August 29.

On the losing end were Santa Fe, down 2½ at 80, Hershey Chocolate four at 104, United States Steel 1⅛ at 68⅝, American Smelting one at 58¼, Montgomery Ward one at 57¼ and Caterpillar Tractor one at 53½.

Lesser casualties included General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Boeing, Republic Aviation, Western Union, Anaconda, Air Reduction, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, Philip Morris, New wYork Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, American Woolen and Paramount Pictures.

Fractional improvement was shown by Household Finance, Bethlehem Steel, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Owens-Illinois, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Company, Phillips Petroleum and Baltimore and Ohio.

Among forward movers in the Curb were Consolidated Steel, Creole Petroleum, National Pressure Cooker, Atlas Plywood and Logansport Distilling. Laggards were Elliott Company and Fansteel. Turnover here was 160,000 shares versus 170,000 yesterday.

Railroad and oil company obligations were prominent losers in a generally lower corporate bond market. Total sales of $3,300,000 compared with $4,541,000 the day before.

United States government issues held close to previous levels in quiet dealings, with the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 unchanged in over-the-counter trading at 102 25-32 bid.

Game Violation Curb Noted

The need for co-operation among farmers and sportsmen of the county and the need for more co-operation from sportsmen in reporting game violations, were two points stressed by George B. Shields, deputy state game warden, in his address before a meeting of the Youghiogheny Rod and Gun Club at the Golf Club House.

Shields officially announced at the beginning of the meeting that the State Game Department had decided to open the large acreage of Mt. Nebo to sportsmen during the coming season. This tract of about 1,700 acres was closed by the State a year ago for a game preserve, which brought many protests from sportsmen.

Emory W. Adams, president, turned the meeting over to Sen. Lawrence M. Fraley. William R. Browning suggested one season for hunting small game, one for deer, to conserve resources of the county. Fulcher P. Smith, member of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, indicated what the commission did had to be considered on a state-wide basis and said it would be much better if the State could be divided and policies established for both the Western and Eastern Shores. He said the commission was planning to put additional deer here this season.

Jesse Bloch, speaking briefly, said something should be done by the County Commissioners to reimburse farmers for destruction of crops by deer and that it might be a good thing for the game commission to open the season on does.

$300 Penalty Imposed On Flyer In CAA Case

Pilot Cleared On Three Other Counts

A $300 civil penalty was imposed on a 38-year-old local flyer yesterday in Federal Court in Baltimore on a charge of flying a plane for the purpose of having it inspected without first obtaining a ferry permit required by Civil Aeronautics authority regulations.

A $200 penalty was imposed upon Miltenberger last October for another violation of CAA rules and Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut said yesterday's penalty would have been heavier if the act charged had not occurred before the assessment of the earlier fine.

Four charges, two on each count, were presented in the case against Miltenberger, with a maximum penalty of $1,000 for each charge. The complaint against the local man was brought by John A. Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Airport, and Virgil Parker, mechanic at the field, who were subpoenaed to appear at the trial, according to Earl Edmund Manges, Miltenberger's attorney.

Throughout the testimony, Miltenberger declared through his attorney that the complaint against him stemmed largely from a rivalry between officials of the Cumberland Municipal Airport and Mexico Farms Airport. Testimony showed that the prosecution was instituted on the complaint of Chapman.

Two of the counts against Miltenberger involved flying his aircraft when it had been judged unairworthy by a CAA inspector. Government Attorney James B. Murphy urged imposition of a $1,000 penalty for each case and presented evidence to show that Miltenberger's plane had not passed inspection on August 9, 1946, which the defendant did not deny.

Manges asserted that Miltenberger had made the repairs ordered and was told by the inspector that he could fly the ship for the purpose of having it reinspected. Judge Chesnut ruled that the oral word of the inspector was not binding and that under CAA regulations a ferry permit was needed.

The government attorney said Chapman testified that he had seen the defendant taxiing across the field at the local airport on September 17 and on September 22, and stated that he saw him take off in the plane. Parker attested to these statements.

Miltenberger denied on the stand that he was in the ship on either of the two dates, saying that Ernest Taschenberger, another local pilot, had flown the craft to the Municipal Airport to be inspected September 17, and that on the latter date, the ship had not left the ground because it was torn down for repairs.

Taschenberger admitted when questioned that he was the pilot of the plane on the first date. Judge Chesnut ruled that Miltenberger violated the regulation by allowing another person to fly his unairworthy craft and ruled a $300 penalty on that count. The other count was disallowed.

Under grueling cross-examination, Chapman admitted that he had purposely kept a record of the alleged flights, writing down the license number of the ship on those dates and reporting it to CAA authorities, Manges said.

He further admitted, Manges said, that he had not recorded unairworthiness tests on this date or any other date of any other planes that have been inspected at the airport and that Miltenberger's violation was the only one he has reported since taking the position as manager of the airport.

The defense asserted that the move made by Chapman was a deliberate attempt to try to close Mexico Farms. Manges also said that Parker testified that he had not made any other record of unairworthy planes, and that Miltenberger was the only one he, too, had checked.

Attorney Murphy contended that Miltenberger had been issued a license on October 9, 1940, for one year. On Dec. 7, 1941, was was declared and all pilot certificates were suspended. Two weeks later all who proved their loyalty were reinstated. At this time, Miltenberger's license was marked by a CAA inspector as reinstated.

Murphy asserted that since his license was not valid at the time of reinstatement, his certificate was not in keeping with the law. Defense Attorney Manges proved the legality of the inspector to validate the defendant's certificate. Judge Chesnut ruled that this evidence was reasonable and dropped the counts.

Wolford Funeral Home Here May Reopen Soon

Reactivation Set For Next Month

Plans are underway for the reopening of the Wolford Funeral Home, South Liberty Street, it was learned from a reliable source last night, with Kenneth Henry White, Washington, Iowa, coming here to be associated with John A. Wolford.

It was learned, however, that White has resigned his position in Iowa and will be here later this month to complete details of opening and activating the business. It was also learned that the building is being renovated and motor vehicles and other needed equipment have been ordered. The business will probably be activated between October 1 and 15.

White is a veteran of four and a half years' service in the Navy Medical Corps and served in the South Pacific. He has been associated with the Louis A. Jones Funeral Home, Washington, Iowa, since his discharge and was employed there prior to entering the service. He is a son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 654 Washington Street, here, and married their daughter, Fanny Roberts Wilson, January 2.

The Wolford Funeral Home was operated by Charles L. George from October, 1937, until February, 1945, when George moved to his present establishment on Greene Street, which was founded by the late Virgil Lempereur. Since that time, the Wolford Funeral Home has been virtually inactive. The association of Wolford and White will reactivate one of the oldest and most successful establishments of its kind in the city.

Man Cleared Of Connection With Death Of Infant

Child's Mother Held For Court Action

CLEAR SPRING, Sept. 12 (AP)—Magistrate J. Ross Fite tonight dismissed murder charges against 25-year-old Gerald T. Mentzer of Warfordsburg, Pa., accused in connection with the death of a one-day old infant whose body was found August 2 in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal near Hancock, Md.

The defendant had been arrested September 1, when he visited Dorothy McCarty, 24, while she was being held in jail for Grand Jury action on charges of murdering the infant.

At Mentzer's preliminary hearing tonight, Miss McCarty told the court she gave birth to the child at her home in Hancock on July 30, placed it in a shoe box, deposited the box in a cupboard and prepared dinner for her father.

Mentzer visited the McCarty home that evening, she said, and on at least one occasion entered the room where the infant lay.

The next day, she testified, without determining whether the baby was still alive, she carried the shoe box to the abandoned canal and disposed of it.

The state contended that Mentzer caused the child's death on the night he visited the McCarty home, but Magistrate Fite expressed the opinion that evidence failed to substantiate the charges and dismissed him.

Miss McCarty was returned to the Washington County Jail to await action of the November Grand Jury.

Three Persons Are Injured In Accident

Three persons with New York addresses, were treated in Timmons Hospital, Bedford, Pa., yesterday following an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, two miles east of Midway.

Police identified the driver as James E. Jones, 22, Queensvillage, N. Y., and said he was treated for severe lacerations on both knees and the face. Two other victims, Edward G. Snyder, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Samuel Ritchie, Long Island, N. Y., were treated for lacerations and shock. Both men were passengers in the car driven by Jones.

Police said Jones lost control of the car and struck the medial strip on the highway and his car turned over. No charges were preferred.

County Receives No Bids On Beds For County Home

Painting And Coal Contracts Awarded

Bids were to be opened yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners on 28 beds to be used at the County Home, but no bids were received. The county plans to check the possibility of obtaining the needed furnishings and may readvertise.

Bids were received on painting the men's quarters at the County Home, and a contract to do the work, which includes painting the entire second floor, was let to George V. Steele, 152 Thomas Street, for $684.

Unsuccessful bidders included Thomas M. Wilson, Lonaconing, $725; and Raymond G. Messmer, 1036 Myrtle Street, $1,200.

The county awarded a contract to furnish 400 tons of coal for county buildings to LeRoy Wilson, Corriganville, at $7.17 per ton. Wilson bid $6.17 a ton when bids were opened a couple of months ago, with the provision that any increase in the price of coal at the mines would be reflected in his bid.

Yesterday, when commissioners decided to order coal for the winter, they checked the price at the mines and confirmed Wilson's statement that the price was $1 more since the United Mine Workers of America received their pay increase and other benefits last July.

Edgar A. Kendall, LaVale, presented a petition asking that LaVale Terrace and LaVale Street be surfaced with blacktop. The petition was signed by 20 residents, and stated about 500 feet of blacktop will be required. Winter Fike also asked that Braddock Street in LaVale be surfaced. Both requests were referred to the county engineer.

Mrs. Alvey Wilson, Corriganville, asked for repairs to the Ellerslie Road near Corriganville. She was referred to the State Highway Commission, since this is a state road.

Man Seeks $1,000 For Vacation Pay

A suit by titling was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Arthur R. Partleton, through his attorney, Harold E. Naughton, against the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

No details were given, but Naughton said Partleton will seek about $1,000 from the company, allegedly due him in accumulated vacation pay, over a period of years while he was local branch manager.

In a second suit by titling filed yesterday by Milton Stein through his father and next friend, Henry Stein, against the Queen City Brewing Company, damages of $2,000 will be sought, according to Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the plantiff.

Ryan said the boy suffered injuries, including a broken leg, when he was struck by a truck owned by the firm and operated by Robert J. Snyder. The boy is six years old and was admitted to Allegany Hospital after the mishap. Snyder was acquitted of a charge of careless driving in Police Court following the mishap.

Contract Is Let For Construction Of Modern Fire House In Barton

Design Publicized In Trade Journal

Plans have been completed and a contract let for the construction of a new and modern fire house for Barton Hose Company No. 1, Barton, it was disclosed here yesterday.

The building, designed by S. Russ Minter, and publicized recently in a Detroit, Mich., trade journal as one of the most perfectly designed structures of its kind, is to be built by the George F. Hazelwood Company at a bid cost of $54,880.

Members of the company met last night and put final approval on a myriad of details and signed a contract to start construction within the next 15 days. The only other bidder on the project was John I. Vandegrift and Company at $56,110.

The structure, to be located on Broadway and Water Streets, will be a two-story brick, tile and steel structure, completely fire-proof.

On the first floor, space is provided for the storage of three pieces of apparatus, a lounge and locker room, several storage compartments, a hose dryer, a storage-bedroom, furnace room, chief's office and quarters to be used by the town council for meetings.

On the second floor, a large auditorium, large kitchen complete with cooking area, service counter and dish washing area are included for holding of public functions. Toilet facilities are provided on both floors, and a spacious winding stairway joins the two stories. Overall dimensions are 44 by 60 feet.

Members of the company, numbering about 60, have been enthusiastic about the prospects of a new fire hall for sometime and for several years the unit has owned the site, where the Junior Order Hall once stood. The hall was destroyed years ago by fire.

Officers of the company include Henry Howell, president; Leon Kirk, vice president; Roy Snyder, secretary; Joseph Shuhart, treasurer; William Kyles, fire chief; William Chappell, assistant chief; James Chappell, Leon Kirk, Giffen McCormick, Gilbert Warnick, and Morris Lambertson, executive committeemen.

Coal Miners Hurt In Fall Of Rock

Two coal miners who were admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a fall of rock at the Wolf Den Coal Company mine at Shallmar were both reported resting comfortably late last night. They were:

Kenneth Strachan, 25, Blaine, W. Va., who was admitted for treatment of a right hip and leg injury, and Homer Iser, 25, Elk Garden, W. Va., who suffered a left shoulder injury. Both were reported in a good condition. The men told hospital attaches they were hurt when the mine caved in.

Jonathan Kennell, 40, Hyndman, Pa., a B. and O. Bolt and Forge worker, was admitted to Memorial yesterday afternoon for treatment of a right hand injury after a machine fell on his hand while at work. Attaches said X-rays were taken to determine possible injury to the bones of his hand.

Arnold VanMeter, 18, 117 Bellevue Street, was treated at Allegany for a laceration on the right thumb, suffered when he slammed a car door on his thumb.

Hearing Held On Forest Regulations

Members of the Allegany County Forestry Board, with Arthur P. Hoffa, president, presiding, held a public hearing on a proposed timber cutting regulation last night at the Board of Education office.

William A. Parr, district forester, explained the purpose of the regulation to a dozen timbermen and lumbermen present, and various phases of forestry work were outlined and discussed.

It appeared, Parr said, that a program of education is needed, and that the board and forestry department has much to do toward making the program workable.

Lumbermen present indicated a desire to co-operate with the state in its efforts to conserve forest lands and said they are willing to comply with any regulations which will not put them out of business and will be equitable to all persons in the business.

Squirrel Hunters Buy Nearly 3,700 Permits In County

License Clerks Are Kept Busy

As local sportsmen prepared for the opening of squirrel season in Maryland, Monday, September 15, Robert Jackson, clerk of court, said yesterday that more licenses are being sold early this year than last.

Yesterday, with several nimrods awaiting the opening of the Court House, a total of 385 county licenses and 213 state-wide permits were sold. This is in addition to those being sold in Westernport, Frostburg and other points in the county. Jackson said the total for this year is about 2,500 county licenses and 1,200 state-wide licenses.

Squirrel season opens at daybreak Monday and will continue until sundown September 30. The bag limit per day, according to state regulations is six, and no hunter shall have in his possession at any time, more than two days' bag limit.

The open season on imported pheasants, males only, quail, ruffed grouse, rabbits and turkey, will be from November 15 to December 31, except during deer season, when it is unlawful to shoot small game in Garrett and Allegany counties. There is no open season on turkey in Garrett County, this year.

Male deer only may be taken in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Cecil and Worcester counties for six days beginning the first Monday in December, except at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club where it is permitted December 15 to December 24. The limit on deer is one per season.

Raccoon and oppossum may be taken from November 1 to January 31. Muskrat, otter and mink may be taken from January 1 to March 15, while there is no open season in the state on beaver.

The bag limits on rabbits is four per day; the limit on turkey is one per season; the limit on pheasant is two per day and six per season and the same on ruffed grouse. The limit on quail is six per day.

Hunters are cautioned to display their license at all times while hunting, and to refrain from trespassing on posted or private lands, game wardens said.

Darling Shop Dispute Will Be Arbitrated

A brief strike of employes of the Darling Shop, 101 Baltimore Street, ended yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock with the announcement that the wage question in the contract dispute will be submitted to arbitration.

John L. Saum, Jr., Baltimore, representative of the Retail Clerks Union, who announced the settlement, said the company had offered a $3 wage increase but asserted the boost would have been nullified by the upping of quotas on which commissions are based.

Mr. Feinberg, manager of the store, said the stoppage ended when the home office advised they were willing to submit the issue to arbitration.

Nine employes of the store, members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, began picketing the store yesterday morning. Saum said the arbitration hearing will be held within 15 days.

Rubber Workers Will Attend Convention

Traffic Changes To Be Tried Out Starting Monday

Mechanic Street Test To Be First

The acid test of a proposed ordinance to regulate traffic on North Mechanic Street will be applied Monday when the street will be cleared of parking between Bedford and Baltimore Streets and three lane traffic initiated, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said yesterday.

Work of painting the traffic lanes from Baltimore to Bedford Streets was begun last night and is expected to be completed this morning, according to Flynn, who explained that beginning Monday parking meters in the designated area will be covered over and the new measure will be tried for several days before it is offered to the Mayor and City Council for passage.

Parking Prohibited

If the new regulation proves successful and aids in relieving traffic congestion in the downtown section, Flynn declared, the tryout will be continued and the ordinance submitted. If passed, the meters indicating parking space will be removed and the only parking permitted in the area will be for loading and unloading between the hours of 6 a. m. and 12 noon.

This period of time, Flynn explained, should permit the merchants located in the area to receive shipments and make deliveries. It will also prevent trucks from being blocked out from the stores they are trying to serve.

The change in traffic lanes to speed up traffic has already proved successful on South Centre Street, the chief asserted, adding that two lanes of traffic are now in operation instead of the three that formerly entered Baltimore Street from the south side.

Conditions Improved

A check before and after the recent change, according to Flynn, proves that 12 more vehicles are moved from the congested area during the normal period of the "go" light with the two lane traffic than was possible with the three lanes.

The check showed that eight vehicles moved from South Centre Street, when the three lanes were enforced, but with the two-lane ruling 20 cars are now moved during the normal period of the light.

Flynn explained that under the new regulation on South Centre Street, motorists intending to make right turns on Baltimore Street or continue up North Centre Street, should use the east lane while drivers intending to make a left hand turn on Baltimore Street should use the west lane.

Flynn, who recently outlined plans for changes in traffic conditions on North Liberty Street, said the plans will be put into effect there just as soon as the North Mechanic Street work is completed.

20 Persons Examined At Chest Clinic

Twenty persons were X-rayed at yesterday's chest clinic, including 18 new cases, Health Department officials reported.

Dr. R. W. Ballin, a member of the staff of the State Sanitarium at Sabillasville, conducted the clinic in the absence of Dr. I. W. Lyon, acting superintendent of the sanitarium.

Dr. Lyon was married August 31 to Miss Elly Koerner, a student nurse of Philadelphia, in that city. He will return here to conduct the next chest clinic September 25 and 26.

Kelly Indicates Smoke Ordinance To Be Obeyed

Officials Say Plans Will Be Submitted

Cumberland's smoke control ordinance is being kept in mind while plans for a $1,000,000 power plant improvement program at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company are being completed, officials of the company said last night.

While dismantling work on three of the present seven low pressure boilers has begun at the plant to clear the way for construction, this does not mean that the company intends to ignore the city's new smoke control ordinance, which became effective May 19, this year, one official said.

Plans Not Complete

He explained that while the company has announced its program for installation of two new high pressure steam boilers which will cost approximately $1,000,000, the completed plans have not yet been received, and therefore could not be submitted to city officials for approval at this time.

However, an engineering official said the completed plans will be submitted for approval of the city's smoke abatement engineer well in advance of the start of actual construction work.

Mayor Thomas S. Post declared yesterday that while he has heard of the Kelly-Springfield improvement program, he has not become alarmed over the fact that plans have not been submitted for approval. "I am sure they will comply with the new ordinance and submit proposed plans before any construction work is begun," the Mayor asserted.

Inasmuch as the city still has not named an official smoke abatement engineer, the Mayor said, plans for improvement programs that are submitted under the smoke ordinance will be referred to a competent smoke control engineer at the expense of the city and the approval or disapproval of the plans will be based on the suggestions of the engineer.

The mayor pointed out that many of the citizens of the city have entertained incorrect beliefs about the effectiveness of the present ordinance, since they believe the ordinance will not become effective until January 1, 1948.

"The ordinance became effective May 19, 1947, the day the Council approved it," according to Mayor Post.

"Probably the reason for the misunderstanding," he said, "is a section of the ordinance referring to the operation of steam locomotives fired by bituminous coal which prohibits their use unless overhead fire jets or some other smoke consuming device conforming in efficiency to the overhead fire jets is used."

Misunderstanding Explained

That section, known as Section 5, does not go into effect until January, 1948, the Mayor said, "but is the only section of Cumberland's Smoke Control Ordinance No. 1815 which is not now in effect."

Kelly officials said that they are now working on plans to install smoke abatement equipment in connection with the new program, but explained engineers are still making adjustments and they have not yet reached the point where they can submit the plan for approval or make public statements concerning it.

Section 6 of the ordinance would prohibit any industry in the city from installing a new fuel burning plant, reconstructing or remodeling any existing fuel burning plant for production of power and heat, without first having the plans approved by the City's smoke abatement engineer.

Mayor Post said that several hundred copies of the new ordinance were mailed yesterday to local companies, corporations and individuals who will be affected by the new measure. The Mayor explained that a copy was mailed to The Kelly-Springfield Company, and said he feels sure the ordinance will be complied with.

While speaking of the city's smoke control ordinance which authorizes the appointment of a smoke abatement engineer, the Mayor indicated that such an appointment may be announced shortly. He declared, "We have several feelers out trying to locate the right person for the job, we feel that we have been justified in waiting and checking those persons being considered."

City Swelters In 94-Degree Heat

The calendar indicates that summer is almost over, but Cumberlanders who sweltered yesterday in near-record 94-degree heat are inclined to scrap their calendars and go by the weather.

The high reading topped Thursday's maximum of 89 degrees, although the overnight reading dropped to a cool 66. Late last night the mercury was down to 74, and continued humid weather is forecast today, with thundershowers in the afternoon.

Yesterday's 94 brought the hottest weather in a month, since the 97-degree reading on August 15. But last September was even hotter, with 99 degrees September 10 and 94 on September 2, 1946.

Officials at the Cubmerland Country Club reported that humid weather in recent weeks caused patches of mold to form on the greens, but added the condition is clearing up gradually.

New Freeway To Be Opened Today, Chaires Reports

Highway Work Cost About $1,400,000

The Hagerstown-Frederick Freeway, to be known as Alternate Route 40, will be opened to the public late this afternoon if bad weather does not prevent contractors from completing their work, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, said last night.

Work on the road surface, shoulders, concrete gutters, concrete burm ditches and guardrails is expected to be completed today under the last of two contracts for the job at a cost of about $1,400,000.

One of these contractors started in May, 1946, and the second in July of that year. Grading was completed in 1937 under a separate contract.

The freeway, 17¼ miles long, is 24 feet wide with eight-foot limestone screening shoulders on either side. While surfacing of these shoulders was not covered under contract, State Roads Commission forces next week will begin surfacing them with a bituminous material.

When this work is finished, the shoulders can be used to some extent by slow-moving traffic and will provide a usable surface 40 feet in width.

The freeway, exclusive of the shoulders, is 17 inches thick and of new design, and Chaires said it is one of the thickest slabs ever built by the State Road Commission. It is expected to handle heavy traffic. Road pavements generally are nine or 10 inches in thickness.

Chaires also announced yesterday that the new 13-span bridge over the Potomac River between Sandy Hook and Virginia is expected to be completed early in October except for painting.

Approximately 2,000 feet in length, the bridge replaces the Maryland-Harpers Ferry, W. Va., bridge that was washed out in the March 17, 1936 flood.

Police Probe Theft Of $100

The theft of a $100 bill from beneath the pillow of a sleeping man at a Clement Street boarding house yesterday between 2:30 and 7:30 a. m. is being investigated by the Cumberland Police Department.

Lt. James E. Van in a report stated that James Brown, a boarder at the home of Lee Davis, 14 Clement Street, described counting his money before retiring and placing it in his wallet which was put under the pillow.

Davis, according to the report, found the wallet lying on the floor and $65 of the money lying on the dining room table yesterday morning when he arose at 7:30 o'clock.

Davis returned the money and wallet to Brown who was still sleeping, according to police, but Brown immediately reported that a $100 bill was missing.

Police said three other persons reside in the house besides Brown, but they were members of the Davis family.

A man identified as Carl Jackson, 915 Rolling Mill Street, this city, was being held last night in City Jail "for investigation." Police said he was arrested at 6 p. m. by Sgt. Frank A. Shober.

Benjamin Frederick, Wilson, W. Va., arrested on charges o drunk and disorderly conduct, was being held in City Jail for a hearing this morning in Police Court.

Local Man Returns From China After Nine Years Of Foreign Mission Work

Wempe, who took the religious name of Brother Francis when he joined the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of the Maryknoll Fathers in 1928, was stationed at missions in Hoochow, Wuchow and Pingnam.

On one occasion during the recent war, he and other missionaries were forced to flee 400 miles northward to escape a Japanese advance. During another campaign the Japanese looted the Hoochow mission after the missionaries were bombed out of the building.

Prior to joining the foreign mission service, he was employed for several years as a telegraph operator with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

Brother Francis returned home by freighter, leaving Hongkong July 10 and arriving in San Francisco August 26. He has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Mackert, who resides near Fort Ashby, W. Va.

Pilot Cleared On Three Other Counts

A $300 civil penalty was imposed on a 38-year-old local flyer yesterday in Federal Court in Baltimore on a charge of flying a plane for the purpose of having it inspected without first obtaining a ferry permit required by Civil Aeronautics authority regulations.

The aviator, George Bernard Miltenberger, was acquitted of a charge of flying his plane without a proper pilot's license.

A $300 penalty was imposed upon Miltenberger last October for another violation of CAA rules and Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut said yesterday's penalty would have been heavier if the act charged had not occurred before the assessment of the earlier fine.

Four charges, two on each count, were presented in the case against Miltenberger, with a maximum penalty of $1,000 for each charge. The complaint against the local man was brought by John A. Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Airport, and Virgil Parker, mechanic at the field, who were subpoenaed to appear at the trial, according to Earl Edmund Manges, Miltenberger's attorney.

Throughout the testimony, Miltenberger declared through his attorney that the complaint against him stemmed largely from a rivalry between officials of the Cumberland Municipal Airport and Mexico Farms Airport. Testimony showed that the prosecution was instituted on the complaint of Chapman.

Two of the counts against Miltenberger involved flying his aircraft when it had been judged unairworthy by a CAA inspector. Government Attorney James B. Murphy urged imposition of a $1,000 penalty for each case and presented evidence to show that Miltenberger's plane had not passed inspection on August 9, 1946, which the defendant did not deny.

Manges asserted that Miltenberger had made the repairs ordered and was told by the inspector that he could fly the ship for the purpose of having it reinspected. Judge Chesnut ruled that the oral word of the inspector was not binding and that under CAA regulations a ferry permit was needed.

The government attorney said Chapman testified that he had seen the defendant taxiing across the field at the local airport on September 17 and on September 22, and stated that he saw him take off in the plane. Parker attested to these statements.

Miltenberger denied on the stand that he was in the ship on either of the two dates, saying that Ernest Taschenberger, another local pilot, had flown the craft to the Municipal Airport to be inspected September 17, and that on the latter date, the ship had not left the ground because it was torn down for repairs.

Taschenberger admitted when questioned that he was the pilot of the plane on the first date. Judge Chesnut ruled that Miltenberger violated the regulation by allowing another person to fly his unairworthy craft and ruled a $300 penalty on that count. The other count was disallowed.

Under grueling cross-examination, Chapman admitted that he had purposely kept a record of the alleged flights, writing down the license number of the ship on those dates and reporting it to CAA authorities, Manges said.

He further admitted, Manges said, that he had not recorded unairworthiness tests on this date or any other date of any other planes that have been inspected at the airport and that Miltenberger's violation was the only one he has reported since taking the position as manager of the airport.

The defense asserted that the move made by Chapman was a deliberate attempt to try to close Mexico Farms. Manges also said that Parker testified that he had not made any other record of unairworthy planes, and that Miltenberger was the only one he, too, had checked.

Judge Chesnut cleared the defendant of two counts of operating a plane on September 17 and September 22, 1946, without a valid pilot's license.

Attorney Murphy contended that Miltenberger had been issued a license on October 9, 1940, for one year. On Dec. 7, 1941, was was declared and all pilot certificates were suspended. Two weeks later all who proved their loyalty were reinstated. At this time, Miltenberger's license was marked by a CAA inspector as reinstated.

Murphy asserted that since his license was not valid at the time of reinstatement, his certificate was not in keeping with the law. Defense Attorney Manges proved the legality of the inspector to validate the defendant's certificate. Judge Chesnut ruled that this evidence was reasonable and dropped the counts.

Wolford Funeral Home Here May Reopen Soon

Reactivation Set For Next Month

Plans are underway for the reopening of the Wolford Funeral Home, South Liberty Street, it was learned from a reliable source last night, with Kenneth Henry White, Washington, Iowa, coming here to be associated with John A. Wolford.

Wolford, who has been identified with the undertaking business here for a half century, declined to discuss the matter.

It was learned, however, that White has resigned his position in Iowa and will be here later this month to complete details of opening and activating the business. It was also learned that the building is being renovated and motor vehicles and other needed equipment have been ordered. The business will probably be activated between October 1 and 15.

White is a veteran of four and a half years' service in the Navy Medical Corps and served in the South Pacific. He has been associated with the Louis A. Jones Funeral Home, Washington, Iowa, since his discharge and was employed there prior to entering the service. He is a son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 654 Washington Street, here, and married their daughter, Fanny Roberts Wilson, January 2.

The Wolford Funeral Home was operated by Charles L. George from October, 1937, until February, 1945, when George moved to his present establishment on Greene Street, which was founded by the late Virgil Lempereur. Since that time, the Wolford Funeral Home has been virtually inactive. The association of Wolford and White will reactivate one of the oldest and most successful establishments of its kind in the city.

Man Cleared Of Connection With Death Of Infant

Child's Mother Held For Court Action

CLEAR SPRING, Sept. 12 (AP)—Magistrate J. Ross Fite tonight dismissed murder charges against 25-year-old Gerald T. Mentzer of Warfordsburg, Pa., accused in connection with the death of a one-day old infant whose body was found August 2 in the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal near Hancock, Md.

The defendant had been arrested September 1, when he visited Dorothy McCarty, 24, while she was being held in jail for Grand Jury action on charges of murdering the infant.

At Mentzer's preliminary hearing tonight, Miss McCarty told the court she gave birth to the child at her home in Hancock on July 20, placed it in a shoe box, deposited the box in a cupboard and prepared dinner for her father.

Mentzer visited the McCarty home that evening, she said, and on at least one occasion entered the room where the infant lay.

The next day, she testified, without determining whether the baby was still alive, she carried the shoe box to the abandoned canal and disposed of it.

The state contended that Mentzer caused the child's death on the night he visited the McCarty home, but Magistrate Fite expressed the opinion that evidence failed to substantiate the charges and dismissed him.

Miss McCarty was returned to the Washington County Jail to await action of the November Grand Jury.

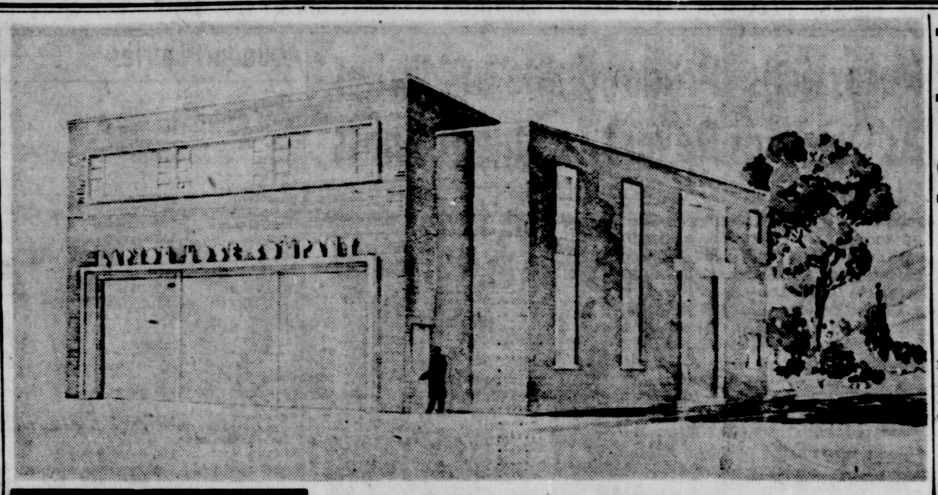
Police said Jones lost control of the car and struck the medial strip on the highway and his car turned over. No charges were preferred.



BARTON FIRE HOUSE—Barton Hose Company No. 1, a volunteer fire-fighting organization, has approved plans and let a contract for the construction of a new fire house as shown in the above sketch. The new fire hall, rated as extremely modern in detail, was designed by S. Russ Minter (left), local architect. The building will be erected by the George F. Hazelwood Company at a cost of $54,880.

Contract Is Let For Construction Of Modern Fire House In Barton

Design Publicized In Trade Journal

Plans have been completed and a contract let for the construction of a new and modern fire house for Barton Hose Company No. 1, Barton, it was disclosed here yesterday.

The building, designed by S. Russ Minter, and publicized recently in a Detroit, Mich., trade journal as one of the most perfectly designed structures of its kind, is to be built by the George F. Hazelwood Company at a bid cost of $54,880.

Members of the company met last night and put final approval on a myriad of details and signed a contract to start construction within the next 15 days. The only other bidder on the project was John I. Vandegrift and Company at $56,-110.

The structure, to be located on Broadway and Water Streets, will be a two-story brick, tile and steel structure, completely fire-proof.

County Receives No Bids On Beds For County Home

Painting And Coal Contracts Awarded

Bids were to be opened yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners on 28 beds to be used at the County Home, but no bids were received. The county plans to check the possibility of obtaining the needed furnishings and may readvertise.

Bids were received on painting the men's quarters at the County Home, and a contract to do the work, which includes painting the entire second floor, was let to George V. Steele, 152 Thomas Street, for $684.

Unsuccessful bidders included Thomas M. Wilson, Lonaconing, $725; and Raymond G. Messmer, 1036 Myrtle Street, $1,200.

The county awarded a contract to furnish 400 tons of coal for county buildings to LeRoy Wilson, Corriganville, at $7.17 per ton. Wilson bid $6.17 a ton when bids were opened a couple of months ago, with the provision that any increase in the price of coal at the mines would be reflected in his bid.

Yesterday, when commissioners decided to order coal for the winter, they checked the price at the mines and confirmed Wilson's statement that the price was $1 more since the United Mine Workers of America received their pay increase and other benefits last July.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, appeared before the board and outlined phases of a financial report of the Board of Education being prepared for publication.

Edgar A. Kendall, LaVale, presented a petition asking that LaVale Terrace and LaVale Street be surfaced with blacktop. The petition was signed by 20 residents, and stated about 500 feet of blacktop will be required. Winter Fike also asked that Braddock Street in LaVale be surfaced. Both requests were referred to the county engineer.

Mrs. Alvey Wilson, Corriganville, asked for repairs to the Ellerslie Road near Corriganville. She was referred to the State Highway Commission, since this is a state road.

Man Seeks $1,000 For Vacation Pay

A suit by titling was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Arthur R. Partleton, through his attorney, Harold E. Naughton, against the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

No details were given, but Naughton said Partleton will seek about $1,000 from the company, allegedly due him in accumulated vacation pay, over a period of years while he was local branch manager.

In a second suit by titling filed yesterday by Milton Stein through his father and next friend, Henry Stein, against the Queen City Brewing Company, damages of $2,000 will be sought, according to Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the plantiff.

Ryan said the boy suffered injuries, including a broken leg, when he was struck by a truck owned by the firm and operated by Robert J. Snyder. The boy is six years old and was admitted to Allegany Hospital after the mishap. Snyder was acquitted of a charge of careless driving in Police Court following the mishap.

Coal Miners Hurt In Fall Of Rock

Two coal miners who were admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a fall of rock at the Wolf Den Coal Company mine at Shallmar were both reported resting comfortably late last night. They were:

Jonathan Kennell, 40, Hyndman, Pa., a B. and O. Bolt and Forge worker, was admitted to Memorial yesterday afternoon for treatment of a right hand injury after a machine fell on his hand while at work. Attaches said X-rays were taken to determine possible injury to the bones of his hand.

William Britten, 38, 116 Wineow Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital yesterday for a laceration of the head suffered when a piece of pipe fell upon him while at work at the Feldstein Iron and Metal Company. X-rays were taken.

Hearing Held On Forest Regulations

Members of the Allegany County Forestry Board, with Arthur P. Hofa, president, presiding, held a public hearing on a proposed timber cutting regulation last night at the Board of Education office.

William A. Parr, district forester, explained the purpose of the regulation to a dozen timbermen and lumbermen present, and various phases of forestry work were outlined and discussed.

It appeared, Parr said, that a program of education is needed, and that the board and forestry department has much to do toward making the program workable.

Lumbermen present indicated a desire to co-operate with the state in its efforts to conserve forest lands and said they are willing to comply with any regulations which will not put them out of business and will be equitable to all persons in the business.

Darling Shop Dispute Will Be Arbitrated

A brief strike of employes of the Darling Shop, 101 Baltimore Street, ended yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock with the announcement that the wage question in the contract dispute will be submitted to arbitration.

John L. Saum, Jr., Baltimore, representative of the Retail Clerks Union, who announced the settlement, said the company had offered a $3 wage increase but asserted the boost would have been nullified by the upping of quotas on which commissions are based.

Mr. Feinberg, manager of the store, said the stoppage ended when the home office advised they were willing to submit the issue to arbitration.

Nine employes of the store, members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, began picketing the store yesterday morning. Saum said the arbitration hearing will be held within 15 days.

Traffic Changes To Be Tried Out Starting Monday

Mechanic Street Test To Be First

The acid test of a proposed ordinance to regulate traffic on North Mechanic Street will be applied Monday when the street will be cleared of parking between Bedford and Baltimore Streets and three lane traffic initiated, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said yesterday.

Work of painting the traffic lanes from Baltimore to Bedford Streets was begun last night and is expected to be completed this morning, according to Flynn, who explained that beginning Monday parking meters in the designated area will be covered over and the new measure will be tried for several days before it is offered to the Mayor and City Council for passage.

Parking Prohibited

If the new regulation proves successful and aids in relieving traffic congestion in the downtown section, Flynn declared, the tryout will be continued and the ordinance submitted. If passed, the meters indicating parking space will be removed and the only parking permitted in the area will be for loading and unloading between the hours of 6 a. m. and 12 noon.

This period of time, Flynn explained, should permit the merchants located in the area to receive shipments and make deliveries. It will also prevent trucks from being blocked out from the stores they are trying to serve.

The change in traffic lanes to speed up traffic has already proved successful on South Centre Street, the chief asserted, adding that two lanes of traffic are now in operation instead of the three that formerly entered Baltimore Street from the south side.

Conditions Improved

A check before and after the recent change, according to Flynn, proves that 12 more vehicles are moved from the congested area during the normal period of the "go" light with the two lane traffic than was possible with the three lanes.

The check showed that eight vehicles moved from South Centre Street, when the three lanes were enforced, but with the two-lane ruling 20 cars are now moved during the normal period of the light.

Flynn explained that under the new regulation on South Centre Street, motorists intending to make right turns on Baltimore Street or continue up North Centre Street, should use the east lane while drivers intending to make a left hand turn on Baltimore Street should use the west lane.

Flynn, who recently outlined plans for changes in traffic conditions on North Liberty Street, said the plans will be put into effect there just as soon as the North Mechanic Street work is completed.

Kelly Indicates Smoke Ordinance To Be Obeyed

City Swelters In 94-Degree Heat

The calendar indicates that summer is almost over, but Cumberlanders who sweltered yesterday in near-record 94-degree heat are inclined to scrap their calendars and go by the weather.

The high reading topped Thursday's maximum of 89 degrees, although the overnight reading dropped to a cool 66. Late last night the mercury was down to 74, and continued humid weather is forecast today, with thundershowers in the afternoon.

Yesterday's 94 brought the hottest weather in a month, since the 97-degree reading on August 15. But last September was even hotter, with 99 degrees September 10 and 94 on September 2, 1946.

Officials at the Cubmerland Country Club reported that humid weather in recent weeks caused patches of mold to form on the greens, but added the condition is clearing up gradually.

New Freeway To Be Opened Today, Chaires Reports

Highway Work Cost About $1,400,000

The Hagerstown-Frederick Freeway, to be known as Alternate Route 40, will be opened to the public late this afternoon if bad weather does not prevent contractors from completing their work, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, said last night.

Work on the road surface, shoulders, concrete gutters, concrete burm ditches and guardrails is expected to be completed today under the last of two contracts for the job at a cost of about $1,400,000.

One of these contractors started in May, 1946, and the second in July of that year. Grading was completed in 1937 under a separate contract.

The freeway, 17¼ miles long, is 24 feet wide with eight-foot limestone screening shoulders on either side. While surfacing of these shoulders was not covered under contract, State Roads Commission forces next week will begin surfacing them with a bituminous material.

When this work is finished, the shoulders can be used to some extent by slow-moving traffic and will provide a usable surface 40 feet in width.

The freeway, exclusive of the shoulders, is 17 inches thick and of new design, and Chaires said it is one of the thickest slabs ever built by the State Road Commission. It is expected to handle heavy traffic. Road pavements generally are nine or 10 inches in thickness.

Chaires also announced yesterday that the new 13-span bridge over the Potomac River between Sandy Hook and Virginia is expected to be completed early in October except for painting.

Approximately 2,000 feet in length, the bridge replaces the Maryland-Harpers Ferry, W. Va., bridge that was washed out in the March 17, 1936 flood.

A bowling league will be established at a special meeting Wednesday night at the same time with John R. Neff in charge. Roland Showers is chairman of the squadron committee.

Woman Reported Missing

Police were notified last night by Mrs. Wesley Hillery, 323 Bedford Street, that her mother, identified only as "Mrs. Metz," 67, was missing from home after leaving yesterday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

Police said Mrs. Metz was wearing a bluish green silk dress and was carrying a light spring coat.

Officials Say Plans Will Be Submitted

Cumberland's smoke control ordinance is being kept in mind while plans for a $1,000,000 power plant improvement program at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company are being completed, officials of the company said last night.

While dismantling work on three of the present seven low pressure boilers has begun at the plant to clear the way for construction, this does not mean that the company intends to ignore the city's new smoke control ordinance, which became effective May 19, this year, one official said.

Plans Not Complete

He explained that while the company has announced its program for installation of two new high pressure steam boilers which will cost approximately $1,000,000, the completed plans have not yet been received, and therefore could not be submitted to city officials for approval at this time.

However, an engineering official said the completed plans will be submitted for approval of the city's smoke abatement engineer well in advance of the start of actual construction work.

Mayor Thomas S. Post declared yesterday that while he has heard of the Kelly-Springfield improvement program, he has not become alarmed over the fact that plans have not been submitted for approval. "I am sure they will comply with the new ordinance and submit proposed plans before any construction work is begun," the Mayor asserted.

Inasmuch as the city still has not named an official smoke abatement engineer, the Mayor said, plans for improvement programs that are submitted under the smoke ordinance will be referred to a competent smoke control engineer at the expense of the city and the approval or disapproval of the plans will be based on the suggestions of the engineer.

The mayor pointed out that many of the citizens of the city have entertained incorrect beliefs about the effectiveness of the present ordinance, since they believe the ordinance will not become effective until January 1, 1948.

"The ordinance became effective May 19, 1947, the day the Council approved it," according to Mayor Post.

"Probably the reason for the misunderstanding," he said, "is a section of the ordinance referring to the operation of steam locomotives fired by bituminous coal which prohibits their use unless overhead fire jets or some other smoke consuming device conforming in efficiency to the overhead fire jets is used."

Misunderstanding Explained

That section, known as Section 8, does not go into effect until January, 1948, the Mayor said, "but it is the only section of Cumberland's Smoke Control Ordinance No. 1818 which is not now in effect."

Kelly officials said that they are now working on plans to install smoke abatement equipment in connection with the new program, but explained engineers are still making adjustments and they have not yet reached the point where they can submit the plan for approval or make public statements concerning it.

Section 6 of the ordinance would prohibit any industry in the city from installing a new fuel burning plant, reconstructing or remodeling any existing fuel burning plant for production of power and heat, without first having the plans approved by the City's smoke abatement engineer.

Mayor Post said that several hundred copies of the new ordinance were mailed yesterday to local companies, corporations and individuals who will be affected by the new measure. The Mayor explained that a copy was mailed to The Kelly-Springfield Company, and said he feels sure the ordinance will be complied with.

While speaking of the city's smoke control ordinance which authorizes the appointment of a smoke abatement engineer, the Mayor indicated that such an appointment may be announced shortly. He declared, "We have several feelers out trying to locate the right person for the job, we feel that we have been justified in waiting and checking those persons being considered."

Police Probe Theft Of $100

The theft of a $100 bill from beneath the pillow of a sleeping man at a Clement Street boarding house yesterday between 2:30 and 7:30 a. m. is being investigated by the Cumberland Police Department.

Lt. James E. Van in a report stated that James Brown, a boarder at the home of Lee Davis, 14 Clement Street, described counting his money before retiring and placing it in his wallet which was put under the pillow.

Davis, according to the report, found the wallet lying on the floor and $65 of the money lying on the dining room table yesterday morning when he arose at 7:30 o'clock.

Davis returned the money and wallet to Brown who was still sleeping, according to police, but Brown immediately reported that a $100 bill was missing.

Police said three other persons reside in the house besides Brown, but they were members of the Davis family.

A man identified as Carl Jackson, 915 Rolling Mill Street, this city, was being held last night in City Jail "for investigation." Police said he was arrested at 6 p. m. by Sgt. Frank A. Shober.

Benjamin Frederick, Wilson, W. Va., arrested on charges o drunk and disorderly conduct, was being held in City Jail for a hearing this morning in Police Court.

Girl Scouts Omitted

In listing the agencies supported by the Cumberland Community Chest the Cumberland Girl Scouts organization was omitted in the News Friday morning. The Girl Scouts have been associated with the Chest for a number of years.

Local Man Returns From China After Nine Years Of Foreign Mission Work

Theodore Wempe, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wempe, 523 Oldtown Road, returned recently to spend a year's leave in this country after serving since November, 1938, with a foreign mission society in Kwangsi Province, China.

Wempe, who took the religious name of Brother Francis when he joined the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of the Maryknoll Fathers in 1928, was stationed at missions in Hoochow, Wuchow and Pingnam.

On one occasion during the recent war, he and other missionaries were forced to flee 400 miles northward to escape a Japanese advance. During another campaign the Japanese looted the Hoochow mission after the missionaries were bombed out of the building.

Brother Francis made his first trip to China in 1928, and came home in 1937 for a visit with his parents. He plans to return overseas at the end of his year's leave.

Prior to joining the foreign mission service, he was employed for several years as a telegraph operator with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

Brother Francis returned home by freighter, leaving Hongkong July 10 and arriving in San Francisco August 26. He has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Mackert, who resides near Fort Ashby, W. Va.

His father is employed by the Times and Alleganian Company.
